THE NEW-YORK HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Index to Record and Guide Vol. LIII.

For New York Conveyances, Projected Buildings and Advertisers.

NOS. 1347 TO 1372. JANUARY—JUNE, INCLUSIVE. 1894.

The following semi-annual Index of the Conveyances and Projected Buildings in New York City, as published in THE RECORD AND GUIDE during the first half of 1894, will be found of great value to those of our subscribers who have preserved all the issues of this paper during that period. Care has been taken to keep the Index up to the same standard which has characterized it in the past. The pages are given on which all the transfers of realty published in Volume LIII. can be found, and the streets and avenues are so subdivided that few references are required. For instance, transfers of property on the Bowery appear in eleven issues during the six months. Bowery in the Index is subdivided into seven parts, so that the least possible trouble need be incurred, provided it is known between what streets the property is located. In this volume we have continued to arrange the transfers in such a manner that almost every street affected (below the Harlem.) can be seen at a glance by turning to the pages which the Index calls for. Take for instance page 12 and find thereon:

Central Park West } begins Central Park
92d st } West, w s, extends
93d st } from 92d st to 93d st.
201.5x175, vacant.

The above applies when a piece of property is on the corner of any street or avenue below the Harlem River and runs in depth upon both streets more than 100 feet, or when a plot has buildings fronting on both streets, and also when the property begins on one street and runs to another. Although many of our subscribers have used the Index for years, some of them do not fully understand the completeness of the work. We are frequently told of errors that our readers think they have discovered, which, upon investigation, prove to be errors of the searcher—not of the Index. For instance, in the current number appears the following: 135th and 136th sts (23d and 24th Wards), e of Willow av, 15, the latter being the page on which a transfer on said streets may be found. Now, turning to page 15, the average searcher would fail to find the item referred to, because it does not appear in the alphabetical order of streets. A close search shows the item under the head of Willow av, e s, extends from 135th st to 136th st, 200x125.

The Index is, therefore, in some cases condemned for a supposed error which is really the strongest evidence of the thoroughness with which it has been compiled. Where such an omission should occasionally seem apparent to the subscriber, he should search the whole page, and he will then find the item which is referred to. The Projected Buildings are indexed in a similar manner, so that it can readily be ascertained on what streets improvements have been made. Those wishing to keep a file for permanent reference should see that all the numbers are complete and have them bound. Cost of binding, $2.00 per volume. A suitable temporary binder, holding one volume, can be obtained at the office of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, 14 and 16 Vesey street; price, one dollar.

Annexed will be found a table showing the boundary lines, also the number of blocks contained in each of the thirteen Sections, and under which all property is now indexed in the Register's office by locality on new land maps of New York City, according to law, which went into effect Jan. 1, 1891. The tax maps are now being arranged in a corresponding manner.

CONVEYANCES.

NOTE.—The figures in parenthesis—for instance, page (849) under the head of Barclay street—denote that the transaction on the page given is Leasehold, an assignment of lease or a lease running for a long term of years. This explanation is made so that subscribers searching for transfers in fee can at once distinguish between the former and the latter without referring to the pages mentioned.

Banks and Trust Companies do not incur LOSSES in the ordinary course of business, and the law relating to such companies does not require any report of losses.

Insurance companies are organized because of the possibilities of loss, and the law requires their losses to be reported.

It is an anomaly in insurance for an insurance company not to report its losses.

No insurer or stockholder of such a company can judge intelligently of its management and standing without this information.

It is more important in title insurance than in any other branch of insurance, because it indicates the character of the examination of title.

The more careful the examination, the fewer the losses.

This company reports its losses annually and publishes them. The total amount since it began business is $3,144.

ANTINONNIN
offers a complete protection against
DRY ROT, FUNGI, MILDEW, MOLD AND CRYPTOGAMS, and is available for both Wood-work and Masonry.
This new substance is a product of the FARBENFABRIKEN vorm. FRIEDR. BAYER & CO., Elberfeld, Germany. It has been thoroughly examined and tested by Professors V. MILLER and HARZ, who have stated that

"ANTINONNIN IS A PEERLESS PREVENTATIVE OF MILDEW."

The Chief Inspector of Buildings at Munich, Herr STETTNER, and many architects and builders, have endorsed this view.
ANTINONNIN is odorless, non-volatile, soluble in water, and makes eligible mixtures with Lime and other distemper applications.
ANTINONNIN penetrates wood and remains in it, forming a perfect protection against fungi, mildew, and continuous dampness.
ANTINONNIN is far superior to Tar Oils, Carbolineum and similar preparations on account of its freedom from odor, its ease of application, its lasting properties, and its EXTRAORDINARY POWER AS A DESTROYER of all fungoid growths and all organisms which favor dampness and mildew.

is the best application now known for the MASONRY and WOOD-WORK of CELLARS, STORE-HOUSES, WINE-CLOSETS, LAUNDRIES, STABLES, WATER-CLOSETS, all OUT-HOUSES, and all structures exposed to the influences of damp.
ANTINONNIN may by mixed with pure water, lime water or whitewash, and applied with a brush or sponge.
A FULL DESCRIPTION of this new substance will be forwarded on application to LUMBER.

Appended quotations are based almost wholly upon prices obtained for goods from first hands. Yard rates necessarily range much higher owing to the expenses attending sorting out and grading cargo and even car lots, besides which must be added the cost of handling and carrying until consumers are ready to invest. Terms of sale also prove important factors, and altogether it is impossible to give a line of retail quotations thoroughly reliable in character.

THERE is undoubtedly a better feeling in Wall Street, not brought about simply by the moderate rise in quotations of the last few days, but because the year has opened with many of the worst anticipations and predictions unfulfilled. The failures for the first week of the year have been many, but they have not included the institutions and large houses that it was feared they would. The evident disinclination of a large section of the Democratic members of the House to take up the Wilson Tariff Bill has raised the hope that the measure is doomed to fall a victim to the obstructive tactics of the minority. There is no doubt that could this be made a certainty it would have a very beneficial influence on trade in general as well as on trading in securities. It would indeed look as if the Democratic party had resolved on hari kari if they pressed this measure in the face of a distressed community that is longing for some sort of respite from financial worry and trade disturbance, in order that it may set to work to repair the damage it has suffered in the past year. How foreigners are affected by the reckless treatment of trade and finance in national and state legislature, is shown by the figure put out by the Bureau of Statistics, relating to the movement of securities between this country and Europe, from which it appears that the net return movement has been in the neighborhood of a hundred millions of dollars in the course of one year. Some railroad men are talking encouragingly on the prospects for business in the near future and here and there may be found cheerier manifestations in trade than were to be found a week ago. But the result on actual operations is yet very slight and in Wall street the change of feeling has not brought many customers to the commission brokers. The continued falling off in the earnings and the other unfortunate conditions of Missouri Pacific will subject the stock of that property most probably to bear attacks until it finds refuge in the hands of receivers as Atchison did, and this will not be without its influence on the market, if the management cannot defeat the object of bear operators. Taking one thing with another all that can be said is that there is a more cheerful feeling for the moment, but there have not been sufficient developments to make it safe to say how long this condition will last.

IN England the financial condition appears to be clearing up somewhat. The opening year has proved that many fears are unfounded, and while there is considerable prostration as a result of strikes, lockouts, foreign competition in various lines of trade (wherein the United States figures prominently in screws, carpets and shoes), and the retarding influence of the financial condition of India, resulting from the continued uncertainty of the value of silver, there is a better feeling and prospect for 1894. The (London) Times expresses the opinion: That the cycle of depression which followed the Baring collapse of 1890 is now showing signs of exhaustion. In France the present is taken to be a fitting time to agitate the question of the conversion of the debt paying $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, and it is now under the consideration of the Minister of Finance, who is expected to announce a plan for that purpose shortly. On the Bourse the mid-winter settlement passed off satisfactorily. A bill has been introduced into the Chamber of Deputies for the purpose, by a sliding scale of import duties, of fixing a minimum price for home grown wheat. Its proposer and the author of the anti-option bill ought not to be kept asunder by so many miles of ocean. Business in Germany is dull on every hand, with corresponding results in the financial centre, Berlin. The losses consequent on the failure of Greece to meet its debt and interest engagements pressed heavily on Berlin, where some of the later Grecian loans were placed. There is talk of a movement to induce the great powers to take united action against Greece as they did against Turkey in 1881, and previous to that against Egypt, in both of which instances the results were beneficial to the holders of the bonds. The Austrian Minister of Finance, in introducing his budget recently, made a statement that will be of interest to this country in view of our nervousness in regard to gold exports. While admitting that the reform of the currency of the country necessitated the acquisition of more gold, and that a reserve must be created for the hard cash payments of the Government, he said gold would not be purchased all at once as it was required, but slowly by installments, according to the opportunities presented by the market. Both in Austria and Hungary the use of one-florin notes is to be stopped and silver coins substituted in their place. Spain's unfortunate financial and commercial condition is likely to be aggravated by tariff changes, as a result of the mixed condition of its commercial treaties with other nations. Favorable treaties have been given to Holland, Sweden and Norway, Switzerland and Denmark, which became operative on the first instant, and now, as the larger powers will be at a disadvantage, reprisals are feared, while the treatment to be accorded to them presents at the moment an unsolvable difficulty. The condition of affairs in Argentine and Brazil is a source of anxiety in the foreign markets where their securities have been placed. In the case of Argentine it is feared that she is unable to carry out the Rothschild-Romero agreement for the settlement of her debt abroad, and the uncertainty of the outcome of the conflict now raging in Brazil gives room for all manner of conjecture.

IF the newspapers are right, so many queer things are done in the name of "Public Opinion" that one would be forced to conclude that the people of New York are a very unbalanced crowd were it not that we know the real name of Public Opinion is Mr. Brown, Mr. Jones, or whatever other cognomen the newspaper writer, masquerading as "Public Opinion," is known by. These individuals tell the public that it has said so and so, that it believes so and so, that it desires so and so, and in obedience to editorial presumption and assumption the Public acquiesce. This sort of "Public Opinion" produces at times very queer results. Take, for instance, the recent events in the District Attorney's office. The announcement was made that Mr. Pentecost was to be appointed Assistant District Attorney. "Public Opinion" in two or three newspaper offices awoke, and because Mr. Pentecost had uttered in the past some extravagant words upon subjects which cannot be quite satisfactorily treated even by the strongest and sanest thinking, they denounced him off-hand as a person utterly unfit to fill the post to which he had been called. They knew Pentecost. Shake a few of his speeches together, and it is easy enough to evolve him. Of course, there was no necessity to stop to consider whether his opinions had changed, even as editors' opinions change in the course of time. It was quite unnecessary to make any allowance for the fact, which must be well within editorial experience, that men are sometimes more extravagant in speech than they ever would be in action. Neither was there any hesitation in order to inquire whether Pentecost's very outspokenness (allowing for the element of falsity which is more or less present in all articulate speech) did not betoken an earnest nature, which would perhaps be a not invaluable novelty in the District Attorney's office. No, it was a much easier matter for "Public Opinion" to shake its editorial heads and proceed to score Mr. Pentecost. Personally we have very little sympathy with that gentleman's economic ideas. He says he renounced them some time ago as erroneous. We do believe, however, that no small part of his public life has been actuated by an earnest belief in certain theories, and by a desire to improve the conditions of others. But look what "Public Opinion" does. It prefers Barabbas. Mr. Pentecost, it declares, is unfit to be Assistant District Attorney in company with Mr. Fellows, that "simple Christian gentleman," now District Attorney. What an edifying lesson to inculcate subtlety. Has Mr. Fellows been a more logical or thoughtful student of economical questions than Mr. Pentecost? Certainly he has been more politic and suave, and ever as insincere as the average politician is in dealing with any public matter. He fares better, consequently, with "Public Opinion."

THE soft-coal interests have not given up the hope of securing the profitable business in supplying the great furnaces in New York with fuel notwithstanding the setback they received in the case of the Steam Heating Company. At present they are attempting by gentle and insidious arguments to remove, what they are pleased to call, the prejudice of the citizens of New York against being befouled in a hundred or more places as they were a few weeks ago in the neighborhood of Cortlandt street. What this interest asserts, however, is not supported by facts. It is true that New York has an insular position open to the winds in all directions, and that the prevailing winds are those that blow from the land to the sea. It is also true that there are appliances that mitigate the smoke nuisance. But these have never been adequate to prevent a nuisance arising in any place where soft coal is in general use. With a brisk northwest or west wind blowing it is possible that a large part of the furnace smoke would be carried off, but how about the many days in the course of a year and in every season when there is no wind at all? And then to what would our sufferings be on when a light breeze gently drifted in a dense white fog from the sea to mix with the smoke of the chimney shafts? Just the sufferings of London in one of its deepest days of November darkness. The most enthusiastic Chicagoan does not claim for his city that it is sheltered from all the winds that blow, nor can he claim that its proverbial windiness saves it from the besmirching influences of the soft coal smoke. In fact, a commission has been sitting in Chicago some time unsuccessfully wrestling with the problem of how to retain the coal and avoid the smoke. Wherever soft coal is used the same problem arises with the same barren results. There ought not to be any objection to the use of soft coal in New York, except the unanswerable one that no one has a right to bring an intolerable nuisance and a defacing influence into the city, for any reason, personal or pecuniary. The people who want to use soft coal say it can be done without being in any way an annoyance to the senses of the citizen. If that is the case, why do they not do it? It is not the burning of soft coal that is illegal, but the sending of clouds of dense black smoke out of chimney shafts. Let the people who would profit most by it solve this problem first, but until it is demonstrated beyond a shadow of doubt, the New Yorker who loves his city and his comfort will set a face of adamant against the slightest infringement of the laws to repress the smoke nuisance in the shape of permitting so-called experiments, which would really be only insidious attempts to get a footing for the use of soft coal, in the hope that with custom the public would become indifferent and thereby sanction its permanent employment.

Use and Abuse of Competition.

IN its true sense, competition is a most admirable word. It signifies the use of a high order of personal attainments acquired for service in the battle of life. But, from the beginning, many men seem to have misconceived its meaning. In their vocabulary, compete is a synonym for beat. Naturally destructive, they seem to have accepted the idea that their chances of success depend upon the ruin of some other man's chances, and they try to climb to eminence by knocking down all other competitors and using them as stepping-stones for their own ascent. If the necessities of competition have taught them the use of any weapon it is only the bludgeon, or, to speak more properly, the knife.

Of course, we are neither philosophers nor moralists here; and if we do sometimes condescend to use a little philosophy for seemingly moral purposes, the reader will be very certain to look between the lines for ulterior objects. He will find them in this case without any doubt. We wish it to be known that what is called the ability to undersell the market is not due to ability at all, but to the lack of ability to succeed legitimately.

First, let us observe the process of competition in professional fields. The lawyers, the doctors, the artists, the architects, and the literary men are all subject to the laws of competition. They are not only subject but they are pre-eminently subject, the laws of competition operating like a tyranny in compelling them to exertion. Yet not a member of any one of these professions or pursuits ever thinks that he can increase his chances of success by offering his services more cheaply than his rivals. On the contrary, they all believe that their chances will be enhanced by their ability to charge higher than their rivals, and they are entirely correct in their calculations. The public will regard only the quality of the services rendered, and look upon the man who offers his labors cheaply as an incompetent who is only struggling for a subsistence.

Ah! but this is a different matter, says the mercantile operator. In dealing with the professions we look for men of brains and a high order of qualification; but the merchant who undertook to recommend his goods by marking up the price would soon find himself dawdling over counters to which customers never come. Competition among merchants or manufacturers means reduced prices.

But is the merchant or manufacturer quite sure of his ground in making this assumption? Is it not rather true that in the commercial and industrial field the word competition has been wrenched from its true meaning, and made to dignify practices indefensible in any field? The house of Tiffany & Co. stands pre-eminent among all the houses engaged in the production and sale of jewelry and kindred products. So pre-eminent is the firm, indeed, that ladies would be almost willing to wear its name on their necklaces or eardrops in order that their admirers might know that their decorations came from the iron citadel on Union square. Yet if the firm of Tiffany & Co. was ever a cheap firm even in its infancy we have not found it out, and do not believe that any other men have found it out.

This example, however, is not isolated. We find the most successful men in every industrial and mercantile specialty, the men, that is to say, who amass the largest fortunes and whose business rests upon the securest foundation, to be the men who have studied to excel in the quality of their merchandise without regard to price, while your Cheap Johns are only wild cats prowling around the borders of commerce. They are sometimes kept from famishing only by devouring each other, and even with this resource they often go hungry.

The reason why this is true should be easily seen. The margin between the highest priced and the lowest priced merchandise of an equal quality can never be great enough to tempt any one but the impecunious in face of both the suspicion and the certainty that a cheap dealer sells merchandise of an inferior quality; and the man who tries to get rich on the patronage of the impecunious will come to grief. For every worthless customer that he succeeds in inveigling into his shop he will see a good customer take the other side of the street to escape danger.

The true uses of competition among industrial and mercantile operators do not differ from its uses among professional men. The qualified merchant or manufacturer will not try to undersell his rivals in the market. He will try first to offer a better quality of merchandise than his rivals offer, and, after this object is attained, he will use his intelligence in the application of new ideas in the process of production and distribution. As to the danger of extortionate charges if there is no price cutting, the Almighty has set his face against that impossibility. When the operations of any industry become too profitable new competitors for the profits will always be too numerous to count.

Intelligent operators will say that this is all sound reasoning, but possibly they will say, also, that it is useless reasoning. The larger number of operators are incapable, and this majority will always keep the market on the ragged edge of destruction by their weak expedients. But the more incapable the man the broader his opportunity for learning, and he may be taught when the capable have persistently determined to keep school. The trust would make an admirable institution for the dissemination of useful knowledge if we could only have it perfected. It could not immediately become omnipotent. It would be forced to meet at the threshold these false and mischievous commercial and economic ideas that have become venerable for their antiquity. But it could subdue them in time by the general dissemination of a higher order of commercial intelligence, and then, though bankruptcies might still come, the world would have no reason to anticipate any more panics.

THE very wildness and wooliness of the West is most effectively brought out by the paper that Prof. Lindley M. Keasbey, of the University of Colorado, has contributed to the current number of Forum, entitled "The New Sectionalism—A Western Warning." This paper is a discussion of the influence the silver question may have on the relations between the East and West, and while it endeavors to place the view of the silver States in a calm and philosophic manner before the country at large, containing none of the bellicose ridiculousness that would have characterized a similar effort by Governor Waite, for instance, it does not escape the tall talk and exaggeration which come so naturally to the Westerner and which Prof. Keasbey seems to have unintentionally and unconsciously imbibed by a long residence in Colorado. These appear particularly in concluding portions of the article, in which he says: "It is time the East should in her own and the country's interests understand at least the political power of the unified West." Further, it is hinted that the Silver States, failing to convince the East of the truth of its own views on silver, contemplate a sort of commercial secession from or a trade boycott of the East and, enlisting the discontent of the South, to receive the products of the South and West at St. Louis and dispose of them by opening up a trade with the Spanish-American republics and the Silver Standard States of the far East. It is an unfortunate thing that the silver men always discuss this question from the point of view of their own wants and wishes and can never be induced to consider whether those wants and wishes are such as they can reasonably ask others to satisfy. It is assumed, most illogically, that the objection of the East to sharing the moral and taking all the financial responsibility of calling seventy cents' worth of silver a dollar is due entirely to sentiment or to jealousy or antagonism to the Silver States. Whereas a moment's consideration ought to show that the East is always willing to make money where it can see the opportunity from silver or from gold, or from anything else from which profit can be made. Commerce is naturally groveling and mercenary and this matter is largely a pecuniary one. The East is as ready as the West to accept the coinage most adapted to its own needs and the West is unreasonable when it resents the rejection by the East of one that has proved most thoroughly to be not only unfitted to them but very costly. To the mind of the East the last three or four years' experience have proved most convincingly that any large experiment in the way of coinage of silver has been a losing one and the loss would be increased in proportion as the experiment is enlarged. Therefore, from a commercial point of view alone, to say nothing of the moral involved, a return to the system just abandoned or the establishment of free coinage would be highly reprehensible. The silver-producing West itself would also see this if its vision was not directed so entirely by its direct interests. There is in Prof. Keasbey's hints and threats the naivete of the theorist which will amuse the practical. He does not seem to know that this question of profit will guide the course of general trade with the Western States just as it influences the course of silver itself, and that nothing the East could do would divert the products of the South and West from St. Louis and South America as soon as it is more profitable to the South and West to send them that way instead, for instance, of through Chicago and the lakes to the East; and, moreover, that so long as the discontented South and West find they can make more money by the present than by any other arrangements it will continue to flow as it now does. At present there is not much danger of a change. The capital requirements alone forbid. If the silver men will take a more comprehensive outlook they will find that there are other ways in which larger use can be found for silver as money, and which would be unobjectionable to the East if properly presented. The duty of presenting them lies with the silver States, but the really great obstacle to their adoption is the West itself, which stands so uncompromisingly on an open mint for its silver product, and rejects with the scorn of bigotry the suggestion of an enlarged use of silver as a subsidiary coin.

The Time Auspicious for Building.

CONSIDERATIONS WHICH SHOULD PROMPT THOSE WHO INTEND TO BUILD TO BEGIN RIGHT NOW—ALL THE CONDITIONS FAVORABLE—GOOD PROSPECTS FOR PROFIT.

The real estate market has not for many months presented to the man whose faith in the readvent of good times is strong enough to express itself in financial backing so excellent opportunities for certain and sizable profits. No one conversant with the actual state of the market doubts in the least that the present depression will reach its legitimate end by or before the 1st of February, and that prices will about that time take an upward turn. They are low enough now, if the buyer would but seek the advice of an expert broker, to let him in with not only a moral certainty of some profit, but with a fair income on his investment while he is waiting for the turn of the market. Any one can, with little investigation, buy realty of almost any description now which will stand him in a good profit within the ensuing year.

But there is a certain and particular branch of the market which affords perhaps a better prospect of profit than any other at this particular time. It is the building branch. Some of the largest financial institutions in the city have taken advantage of the unprecedentedly low prices of building materials during the last year to invest some of their surplus capital in improving New York City realty. They have purchased sites encumbered with buildings of antiquated type, and removed the buildings and constructed upon the ground business structures of the modern type and construction. This process of reconstructing the lower portion of the city began some eight years or more ago, but the methods of building have so improved in the meantime that the cost of the very best kind of fire-proof structure has declined from about two dollars per cubic foot to about forty cents per cubic foot. More progress has been made in the reconstruction process during the last year than in any two years before—undoubtedly because of the extraordinary advantages afforded in the low prices of materials.

Unless the order of history is to be reversed, New York City realty will never, after the effects of the present depression shall have passed away, be sold as low as it can be purchased just now. It is at present unmistakably under panic depression, whatever the uninitiated may say to the contrary, and any broker of responsibility and experience can put his hand on investment property that can be bought now cheaper than at any previous time within at least two years, and frequently within five years. It happens so in every panic. But one of the hitherto inevitable sequences has been that it has gone up sharply in value after every such panic, higher than it ever was before, and has never again gone down to the last panic prices.

There is no reason to doubt that this will be the course of realty values when the panic of 1893 shall have passed into history. The expectation of this course in the market is what is keeping prices as well up as they are. It is the inevitable quality which sustains realty values when the prices of all other forms of property tumble to pieces. It is a quality that is founded on the destiny of the country. There may be an occasional year of depression, when values sag a little, but as sure as the population increases and as good times come again realty will advance in value and, taking one year with another, will pay its own way and advance more rapidly than any other form of investment. The successful speculator is the man who knows when it is time to buy and when to refrain from buying. The present market is, in the opinion of all experts, an investors' market. It offers to the man who is able to buy and improve and hold for a year as good opportunity for an assured profit as it ever has, and better now than it will in all likelihood be for many years after.

Thus the considerations which govern investments in real estate are for the time all favorable to the investor. But more especially are they favorable to the investor who improves the property with modern buildings. The results of reconstruction which can safely be relied upon are larger capacity, larger relative rentals, the best class of tenants and lower proportionate running expenses. These have not failed in any instance of reconstruction within the period of the modern system of fire-proof construction. And now the same results can be obtained with a building investment of forty cents or less per cubic foot that some people paid two dollars per cubic foot to realize only about eight years ago, and for which fifty cents and more has had to be paid within the last two years. The conditions which have wrought this remarkable change in the cost of construction are principally the new methods of construction, but the reductions that have been been affected in the cost within the last two years have been attained almost entirely through the lower prices of nearly all the materials used in construction.

Iron, notably, which now enters more largely than ever before into first-class construction was never so low in price in the history of the country. From investigations which THE RECORD AND GUIDE has recently made, there appears to be no doubt of the fact that structural iron is often sold at less than its actual cost of production. This is a condition of things which cannot be much longer continued, but which while it lasts makes "a tide in the affairs of men." So too with brick, with lime, with cements and with all the forms of structural wood. In all these lines of building materials last spring's season opened with but moderate promise, and the producers were hardly prepared for the very active season which ensued. Anticipating then a continuation of the brisk building operations throughout the year, they began to turn out stock to the full capacity of their respective establishments. They had no premonitions of the panic that was soon to overtake them and the entire business community—as who had? They had been caught short of stock on a brisk market and now they were caught long of stock on a stagnant market. The consequence was that prices tumbled down below the lowest previous quotations for years, and as everyone knows who has had to buy, the quotations have seldom struck the low levels at which nearly all kinds of materials could actually be bought.

In this particular alone, therefore—the present low prices of all kinds of building materials—there is extraordinary inducement for the man who contemplates building to launch upon his undertaking just now. As to labor, there is little doubt but that this item, which constitutes about 40 per cent of the cost of a building, could also be materially reduced, although there has as yet been no break in the wage schedules of organized labor. Efforts have already been made to secure amicable concessions in wages by the unions in harmony with the decreased prices in all the other items of cost in building, but they have not yet received consideration. There are, however, thousands of building operatives out of work in this city at the present time, and on every new job that is started up there are half a dozen men to be had for every one that is needed. Even if this condition of things led to no material cut in wages, it offers this advantage, that the builder can now have the very pick and flower of the trades to choose from and will be assured of devoted service and the largest measure of accomplished work of the best character throughout any present building undertaking. A low estimate of the advantage afforded by this condition of affairs would be 5 per cent on the labor cost of the building.

A reference to the market quotations on the various kinds of building materials mentioned of a year ago compared with the present time shows the following:

Outside of these quotations, however, the market offers advantages to the skillful buyer that have never been excelled in this country.

Mr. W. O. Fayerweather, Treasurer of the Passaic Rolling Mill Company, said to THE RECORD AND GUIDE reporter: "Structural iron is in a demoralized state in the market. It is selling actually below the cost of production. The cause of the low prices is of course the stagnation that is general in business. There isn't business enough to go around; and every man who runs a rolling mill knows that his salvation consists in keeping his mill a-going. Yes, it is cheaper to keep running at a small loss than to shut down entirely. There are certain expenses that keep on—that we can't avoid when the mill is shut down, and any one who knows anything about a rolling mill will tell you that there is no property which deteriorates faster in idleness than rolling mill machinery. So, for the mere sake of keeping the mills in operation we are all taking orders at prices below the actual cost of production. No, the market quotations do not show the actual condition of the market. Iron can actually be bought below the quotations. We are trying, of course, to bring the cost of production down to the prices we are able to obtain, but it remains to be seen whether we shall be able to do it.

"If this Wilson bill goes through wages will unquestionably have to come down. There isn't the least particle of doubt about that. Throughout our mill the average of wages is about two dollars per day, and in Germany the wages of the same class of men does not exceed eighty cents per day. If the tariff rates are cut down as it is proposed to cut them in the Wilson bill we will be unable to run our mill and pay the present schedule of wages. If there is too much politics in that statement for your paper you may cut it out, but it is the incontestable truth all the same. No, I do not recall a time when the iron business was in such a condition as it is to-day. People can get iron at their own prices. I do not dare to let a man go away from my office without taking his order, no matter what he offers for it, for I am sure that if I do I will never see him again, and somebody else will get his order. Just to show you what the present state of the market is let me tell you of an occurrence of last week: I took an order for the iron for a building one forenoon, and had hardly got it under way to the mill before it was countermanded by telephone. The same day I received from another party another order for iron for the same job, but the weights had been cut down over 10 per cent, and the price about two-tenths of a cent per pound. Some one had persuaded the owner that he could get along with iron of lighter weight than had been specified by the architect originally. Yes, you can safely advise your readers, that so far as structural iron is concerned, the man who starts in to build now, and places his orders at present prices, will enjoy advantages never before offered by the market and not likely to be had again in a long time."

Secretary Joseph R. Van Valen, of the Building Material Exchange, said: "Undoubtedly, so far as the cost of materials is concerned, any one starting in to build now would do so under more favorable circumstances than ever before. Prices are down to bare cost all around. Brick men have never had a worse season than this has been. Many of them have quit with material loss from the season's operations. They tried twice during the year to discount the market and failed both times. The season opened with brick at $6 a thousand, and short stocks on hand. It went up gradually to $7, and brickmakers crowded on all possible head and made more brick than were wanted. Then the panic came, all unforeseen by them, and the prices broke rapidly to $5, and they have sold for less than that. Now that the navigation season is at an end, the prices have advanced a trifle, but we don't expect to do much business at the advanced figures, for the building season is over for the year. No, the stocks in the yards are not large, but orders could be placed for large quantities still at the present rates."

It is not alone in the cost of materials that a considerable economy could be achieved in beginning now with building operations. Mr. George Hill, the civil engineer, who makes a specialty of building construction, indicated certain directions in which a material saving could be effected in building operations of a large extent, by beginning with them right now. He said: "Now would be the best possible time to begin, and for these reasons: Any large scheme would require considerable time with the architect. It usually takes several weeks before the owner and the architect are satisfied that the plans are in the shape they should be in. Then, the working drawings and specifications need to be carefully prepared, and that requires time. Simultaneously with this work, the plans for the Building Department could be prepared, saving time in that direction. But by taking all the time that is necessary to get the plans and specifications in perfect shape for actual building operations in the spring, a material saving would be effected all along the line.

"About the prices of materials? Just now the markets are in a very disturbed condition. The manufacturers of steel shapes are practially under free trade, for they are below foreign competition, and the market is dictated by the buyers. Prices are as low as they can go and contain a reasonable margin of profit. If some of the old mills with antiquated methods of production should be frozen out in the present competition the manufacture would go to the larger establishments who would, doubtless, then see their way to better prices. In the steel rail market the combination broke prices to but a little over one cent a pound; then the market stiffened up when the manufacturers made their agreement, and it is now about 1¼ cents a pound. The same thing might take place in the steel beam trade. The rolling mills are now fighting, but you can't tell when the combination will be reformed and prices will be again advanced. The market quotations for structural shapes last April were 1.95 cents per pound, and are now 1.75 cents here in New York, but I believe a large cash order could just now be placed at lower prices than the market quotations have ever revealed. In Pittsburgh the prices are 1.55, as against 1.75 in April, and in Chicago they are 1.65 to 1.75, as against 1.85 to 1.95 in April.

"But it isn't alone in iron that prices of building materials are down to bed-rock. The prices of materials generally, by reason of the general depression, are down, and while the quotations show reductions of only 10 to 12 per cent, materials can be bought still cheaper where the actual cash is in sight. Furthermore, while there is but little building going on, builders will figure closer than usual for the sake of keeping their forces together. Whether this movement would go so far as to lead builders to make an attack on the unions for lower wages remains to be seen, but I have no doubt but that a large enterprise could go through with a shaving of 25 per cent in the labor cost, which amounts to 40 per cent in the cost of the building, should a sufficiently strong man undertake it. Whether it would be advisable to make such an attack on the labor market at this time is another question, but the arbitrary action of the Walking Delegate in times past has made some contractors consider the advisability of going in for retribution at the first favorable opportunity.

"One beginning building operations now would have just comfortable time for the proper study of the plans and specifications, for the letting of contracts and the assembly of materials, the moulding of terra cotta shapes, etc., so as to have everything in shape to begin actual building operations on the first of May. That would allow nearly a year to get the building finished and ready for occupancy before the next renting season should come around. Too much importance cannot be placed on having any building completed on or before the first of April. Let me illustrate: Take for instance a building on a corner, of say 50x100 feet and fifteen stories high, the lot costing, say $400,000 and the building $300,000, making a total investment of $700,000. To this must be added interest at 6 per cent for one year, to cover cancellation of leases and other similar expenses, which would be $42,000, making a total investment of say $750,000, if the building is erected within the year. The rents of such a building at $2.00 per square foot would amount to $110,000; the cost of operation would be in the neighborhood of $10,000, the taxes about $7,500, making a total outlay of $17,500, and leaving $92,500 profit. Now, suppose that building instead of being finished on the first of April was not completed until the first of July, the cost of taxes, administration, etc., would be precisely the same; interest at 6 per cent on the cost of the building would have to be charged as well, so that there would be $62,500 to charge against the capital account for that year, to off-set against which there would only be what might be obtained from accidental tenants. It would under such circumstances be practical economy to spend $30,000 in accelerating the work of construction, so as to get the building completed a few weeks sooner.

"Many business men feel that an architect should be able to deliver completed plans for the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars within a few days, or at most within a few weeks after they have given the order. Architects, on the other hand, feel that work of so much importance should be carefully studied, and they usually take the necessary time before the working drawings are perfected with the owner's consent, or in spite of the owner all along the line—the difference being that in one case there is perfect satisfaction, and in the other perfect dissatisfaction. Even in the design of a building for office purposes where the principle is easily understood the problem cannot be hastily disposed of. There are many little details that require careful adjustment to all the other parts of the building. Take the question of heating for example. In a building of the type I have indicated there are 285 offices, thus establishing one thing to do 285 times or 285 things to do once—making a difference of several thousands of dollars in this one item—according to the manner in which you do it. When we go from the office building to the apartment house or the hotel where the problem is more complicated still more time ought to be devoted to it if the result is to be other than failure. When you take all these facts into consideration—the extremely low prices of materials, the condition of the labor market, and the time that ought to be given to getting ready, I think the desirability of proceeding now with building operations of magnitude is clearly indicated."

Wages in the Building Trades.

Some remarks recently appeared in the New York Tribune relating to the wages now paid, or which men were willing to accept and from which the political deductions expected from that source were very plentifully drawn. "A large employer of labor in this city" was quoted as remarking, and to his statements editorial prominence and significance were given, that he was employing carpenters for two dollars a day and could hire all the workmen whom he needed at that rate. "Men who have been earning three dollars or three dollars and a-half a day for twenty-five years," this "large employer of labor" was quoted as saying, "are glad to get work at two dollars." "Can the labor unions," he was asked, says the Tribune, "do nothing to keep up wages?" and he is reported by the same journal as answering: "They do not venture to interfere. In these times no labor organization can deprive a workman of his chance to earn his bread."

As these statements were very important to the building trades if true a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE was commissioned to find out what basis they rested upon in order to ascertain their value purely as a matter of trade information and irrespective of any use they could be put to from a party point of view. Not who was responsible for such a condition of affairs as was presented by the Tribune, if it existed, but whether it did exist, and if so to what extent. This investigation did not result in finding any skilled men at work, at least in New York City, for $2 a day or anything like it, but only a probability that such might be the case in isolated cases. If it had been the fact that any veritable "large employer of labor" was employing skilled hands at two dollars a day it would have been within the cognizance of the people from whom information was sought. Sifted down, the statements of the Tribune, instead of having a general application, seem to have been based only on the case of the work at the new City Asylum for the Insane at Islip, Long Island, for which carpenters were obtained at from two dollars to two dollars and a-half a day, but they were out of town men, mostly from Newark, and out of the jurisdiction of the New York Unions. So far as any reduction of wages at all was concerned it was in the future, though there is no doubt a very strong opinion amounting to a conviction in the minds of employers in this city that wages ought to come down as a result of the extreme depression in business and the consequent over supply of labor in every line. What has happened in one place may happen in another, especially considering the army of men belonging to the building trade now out of employment. There is an agreement of employers and representatives of labor organizations that the percentage is very large. A general estimate made by the Secretary of the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange of this city, is that not more than fifty per cent of the men who were employed in the building trades this time a year ago are at work now. A mason builder, quoted below, held the belief that only twenty-five per cent of the bricklayers of New York were employed. A representative of the Painters' Union said that a third of the men in that line were out of work, while a delegate for the plasterers estimated that only ten per cent of the members of that trade were employed; and, although there is a certainty of work for more within a week or two, it is nothing like in amount what it was at the beginning of last year. Are presentatlve of plasterers' and masons' leborers had a similarly doleful tale to tell. The Machine Stone-cutters Union has about 200 out of about 600 members on the unemployed list.

Mr. Stephen M. Wright, Secretary of the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange and of the Building Trades Club, was among others asked for his opinion as to the truth of the Tribune's statements. He said: "The statement is certainly wrong as to the unions. They do interfere and expect to interfere as long as they live. That is the grip they have on the men and by which they make the men sacrifice their bread to keep their power. I believe many a poor carpenter to-day would be glad to work for two dollars a day if it were not for the unions, and if things keep on in the way they are doing they will have to do it. It is my opinion that not one-half of the skilled workmen in the building trades are employed to-day, with one exception, the steam-fitters, who are always busy at this season of the year, and they will slack up very soon"

"But," he was asked, "is it a fact that workmen can be obtained for two dollars a day?"

Mr. Wright: "No, I believe that refers to a specific case. Here and there carpenters may be working for two dollars a day, but I do not think for any large employer of labor, certainly not generally, otherwise I should know it. I have not heard of any such case as that referred to."

Mr. Lewis Harding, whom the reporter met in the office of Mr. Wright and who employs a large number of carpenters, said the statement contained in the Tribune editorial was not true. He paid $3.25 per day to carpenters. No doubt there were a great many men out of employment, but that had not affected wages. He was obliged to do some work on Thanksgiving Day and the men demanded double pay or they would not work. At the same time he thought lower wages would come if business did not improve.

The Mason Builders' Association recently passed a resolution calling upon the masters and men employed in the mason building trade, in view of their depressed condition, to consider the advisability of voluntarily reducing prices and pay ten per cent. A visit was made Mr. Charles A. Cowen to learn what results had followed the passage of this resolution.

Mr. Cowen said: "The different branches of the trade have taken it up very favorably, but as far as the labor unions are concerned they have kind of boo-hoo'd it, and laughed it off as though it were a little bluff of ours to reduce wages and to influence the agreement for the coming year, both in the matter of the amount of wages to be paid and the method that now prevails in the trades of paying weekly. But there is no doubt in my mind and in the minds of many others that there is to be some reduction in the cost of production in order to invite capital to invest in the improvement of real estate, and that wages as well as materials must contribute to that reduction. It is readily seen that the supply is much larger than the demand; hence it naturally follows that in order to get work for the masses we must produce something that will be a paying investment for the capitalist."

"It is said that one half the skilled workmen in the building trades are unemployed. Do you approve that estimate?"

"I think it correct, and if anything low rather than high."

Mr. Charles Buek was shown the Tribune editorial and said: "I can only say that as far as I know there is no attempt to put wages down. I do not now employ labor directly myself, doing everything by contract, but I have inquired a good deal among contractors, as I propose to start building again, and without any exception they tell me that wages are just the same and that there would be no reduction. I am sorry to see that this is the case. I would rather have had it the other way, as that would be an inducement to people to build. Materials are lower, but wages are not, so far as I can learn. I talked with a working plasterer the other day and he told me they were getting $4 a day. I asked him whether his trade was not going to do something to meet the prevailing depression; he answered that the only thing they had done was to agree to charge only a half day on Saturday instead of a whole day for a half day's work as they had been doing. I believe there are a great many men who would like to work for lower wages, but I believe also that any employer who tried to put them to work at a reduction would have a strike on his hands in less than twenty-four hours. I think there ought to be a reduction in wages. It is out of all reason when everyone else's income is reduced that that of the mechanic should keep up. It may, too, be the ultimate result of the prevailing distress that wages will come down, but as far as I can see there are no indications of it now. I think it would be a wise step if the unions would reduce wages twenty-five or thirty per cent, they could more effectually help the members who are out of employment, by in this way increasing the amount of work to do than by direct contributions for their relief. But the unions never see this."

"That's all wind," said Mr. Henry F. Cook, after reading the Tribune statements. "No doubt," he continued, "there are many men willing to take anything if they can get work, but they do not dare. I am not employing any carpenters now, but the last I employed I paid full wages. I think there ought to be a reduction in wages."

A member of the firm of Dunn Bros. refused to read beyond the first lines. He exclaimed: "It is not true, and we do not want it to be, for the reason that the most prosperous times we all ever saw were when brick was thirteen dollars a thousand and men earned five to six dollars a day.

Mr. Isaac A. Hopper was told of the statements that had been made. He said: "There may be isolated cases where men are working for low wages, but we are paying 50 cents an hour for masons and 30 cents for laborers, according to agreement. Plasterers are receiving the same wages as masons, according to my information. There are a great many men out of employment who no doubt would be very glad to work for lower wages if they could get them. Some time ago, I introduced a resolution into the Mason Builders' Association to invite a caucus or conference of men and employes to make a change in wages and in other ways to invite capital into our line of trade, because the least little thing will sometimes influence people to act; but, so far, it has been without effect, the unions foolishly looking upon it as a desire of the employers to slaughter the men, as they express it. That was not the intention at all. The intention was as much to their advantage as ours; it was simply by making some little reductions to invite capital our way. Still I think it will eventually prevail, for the reason that the more clear headed ones will see that it is necessary to take some steps to encourage capitalists to invest, because they know that capital expects and waits to get the advantage of such deductions.

Mr. Richard Deeves was asked if he was aware of any cut in wages in the building trades and answered: "So far as the masons are concerned there has been none and I do not know that any is contemplated. I have heard of none in any other line."

"Do you believe that a reduction of wages will increase business in the building trade?"

"I do not see how it would generally. There are of course some people who have property idle to whom such a thing might be an inducement to make improvements."

"What proportion of the mechanics in the building trades do you think is now employed?"

"I would say speaking of the bricklayers alone that not more than 25 per cent now have work."

Mr. Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, said, in reply to a question: "I do not know of any reduction in wages of mechanics and I believe that if there is to be a drop from the present basis it will have to be fought for. Of course I cannot say that lower wages will not come, employers are using the Wilson Bill and other excuses for making reductions, but, as I said, they will only come as a result of a fight. I estimate the unemployed wage-workers in the United States at about three millions. No attempt has been made to classify them. The time it would take to do that had to be otherwise employed."

Mr. Charles T. Wills, referring to the question of wages in the building trades for the coming years, said: As things are now it is a question how far the employers will go to keep their organizations together. That does not indicate a condition that is likely to last long. I hope the men will see this and accept the situation gracefully. If they will join the employers in reducing the cost of work the announcement of that fact would have a tendency to immediately stimulate business and it will be to their interest to come forward and voluntarily propose a reduction in pay all round.

A meeting of the Mason Builders' Association will be held on the 11th instant, when it is expected that the question of wages for the coming year will be discussed. The probable result of this will be that a conference with representatives of the men will be invited to take up the specific question of what the men will do to relieve the present depression in the trade.

At the "big" board of delegates of the various unions in the building trades, they were unwilling to discuss the question, stating, as is no doubt the case, that it was one they were not empowered to deal with.

They left the impression, however, that any attempt to reduce wages would be met with opposition. The "little" board was more outspoken and emphatic. Its members declared that the question had already been considered by the trades unions and the decision made not to reduce wages. No move would be made to change that decision. Should any attempt be made to reduce pay it would be resisted.

Questions and Answers.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer the following: A makes a contract with B to erect a house in Westchester County at an agreed price; the contract provided that 25 per cent of the contract should not be paid until thirty days after the completion of the building; C furnished material to B, which was used in the completion of the building; C filed a mechanic's lien. The house was completed, and it is developed that A paid B all of the amount of the contract prior to the completion of the building and did not wait for thirty days after its completion; C's lien was not filed until all payments had been made, but was filed before completion of the building. Can C on a foreclosure of his lien compel A to pay again the 25 per cent of the contract which was not to be paid until thirty days after completion of building?

SUBSCRIBER.

Answer. No, C cannot compel A to pay a second time unless he can prove collusion on the part of A with B to defraud C out of his pay. The statute expressly says so. The Mechanic's Lien law is now the same for Westchester County and for all the State, and has been so since 1885.—LAW EDITOR.

Waiting on the Court of Appeals.

A DECISION OF VITAL IMPORTANCE TO REAL ESTATE CORPORATIONS EXPECTED DAILY—LANCASTER VS. AMSTERDAM IMPROVEMENT COMPANY.

A case is now pending in the Court of Appeals, on the final decision of which hangs the existence of a large number of real estate and building corporations and the stability of the titles to the lands that have passed into and through their hands. The decision in the Supreme Court, General Term, first department, from which appeal was taken to the Court of Appeals, was adverse to all such corporations as are operating in this county (or State) upon charters obtained under the laws of other States.

In recent years there have come into existence a large number of private corporations whose object it is to buy, improve, sell and exchange real estate, principally in this State. The laws of this State have been considered too exacting and illiberal by the promoters of many of these corporate enterprises and they have accordingly been organized under the laws of New Jersey. One of them is The Amsterdam Improvement Company, whose offices are in the Temple Court building. To test the legality of its existence and powers in New York a friendly action was instituted for the purpose of fixing its legal status. The agreed facts, upon which the case was submitted, show that on the 19th day of May, 1891, five persons, four of whom were residents of New York and one of whom was a resident of New Jersey, organized a corporation by filing a certificate, dated that day, in the State of New Jersey, by which the defendant was incorporated under a statute of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An act concerning Corporations," approved July 7th, 1875.

The second article of the certificate of incorporation declares that the places in New Jersey where the corporation will do business were Jersey City and Hoboken, and the places in New York were the cities of New York and Brooklyn—"and that the objects for which said company is formed are the purchase and sale of real property, both improved and unimproved, the improvement of such property as may be purchased, and which, when purchased, is unimproved, the exchange of property for other property, the lending of moneys upon first and second mortgages, secured by bonds, and the purchase and sale, by assignment or otherwise, of such mortgages and bonds. The portion of the business of said company which is to be carried on out of this State in the said cities of New York and Brooklyn will be such as will come under the head of the objects for which this company is formed. The principal office or place of business of said company, out of this State, is the City of New York, in the County and State of New York."

The Secretary of State of New York issued a certificate to this corporation on December 21, 1892, in which, among other things, it is stated that the said company "has complied with all the requirements of law to authorize it to do business in this State, and that the business of such corporation to be carried on in this State is such as may be lawfully carried on by a corporation incorporated under the laws of this State for such or similar business."

It is provided by section 124 of the New Jersey statute before referred to that: "It shall be lawful for three or more persons to associate themselves into a company to carry on any kind of manufacturing, mining, chemical, trading or agricultural business, agricultural fairs and exhibitions for the encouragement of competition in agriculture, horticulture, breed of stock and development of speed in horses, the transportation of goods, merchandise or passengers upon land or water, inland navigation, the building of houses, vessels, wharves, or docks, or other mechanical business; the reclamation and improvement of submerged lands, the improvement and sale of lands," etc.

The statute provides also that such corporations may transact part of their business outside of the State.

May 23d, 1891, Arthur P Smith was the owner of a lot of vacant and unimproved land in the City of New York, which, by a deed dated that day and duly recorded May 25th, 1891, he assumed to convey to the defendant. On the 15th day of January, 1893, the plaintiff and the defendant entered into a written contract whereby they agreed to exchange said lot of land for another lot of land owned by the plaintiff. The land of the plaintiff was valued at $72,000, and the land of the defendant at $49,500, and the difference, $18,500, the defendant agreed to pay to the plaintiff at the times and in the manner specified in the contract. It was agreed that the deeds should be exchanged at a place named on or before February 15, 1893. Pursuant to said contract the defendant executed a deed in due form, by which it assumed to convey the premises to the plaintiff, and, in addition, procured a deed to be executed by all of the stockholders and directors of the defendant, in which deed said Arthur P. Smith, the grantor of the defendant, joined, by which the grantors therein assumed to convey all of their interest in said premises to the plaintiff.

Lancaster, the plaintiff, thereupon consented to take the company's property and to convey his lots to it, upon the condition, however, that the company would deposit the sum of about $2,600 with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company as collateral security for judgments standing against one of the incorporators of the company, Lancaster contending that in case the company had not good title the incorporators were practically seized as partners of the real estate, and therefore any judgment against any of them would be a lien upon such realty.

At the time of the deposit of this sum it was agreed that two questions should be submitted to the General Term of the Supreme Court of this Department, the practical question being, whether upon these facts this incorporator, against whom judgments were found, had any right or interest in the property of the company upon which the judgments of record against him constituted a lien.

It was conceded that the defendant had done no business in the State of New Jersey, and that the only business or transaction in which it had been engaged since its organization had been carried on in the City and County of New York.

It appeared by the certificate of incorporation that all of the shareholders were residents of the State of New York, except Frederick Frambach, who resided in Jersey City, New Jersey, and subscribed for one share.

Judge Follett rendered the opinion of the court, which was concurred in by Justices Van Brunt and Parker. In it he said:

"The primary question in this case, which is open for discussion, is whether a foreign corporation may engage in the business of purchasing and selling lands in this State and convey an indefeasible title to lands acquired for the purposes of speculation. Every State has the right to prescribe what persons and corporations may or may not hold or convey lands within its borders, to what extent, and for what purpose they may be held and conveyed. Who may acquire lands, for what purposes, in what quantities and the tenure by which they may be held, is not regulated by the rules of comity existing between States, but by the local law of the State in which the lands are situated."

The Court of Appeals of this State had held that, "The constitutional difference between the rights of non-resident individuals and foreign corporations is fundamental and apparent. The citizen of another State has a constitutional right to come within our jurisdiction. The charter of our nation has secured him that right, and we cannot exclude him nor clog his right with conditions, unless in exceptional cases under the police power. But foreign corporations, artificial beings, the product of a law not our own, have no constitutional right to pass their own borders and come into ours. The Federal Constitution has neither granted nor secured any such right. We may exclude absolutely, and in that power is involved the right to admit upon such conditions as we please. Until they are within our jurisdiction, the final clause of article 14, by its own terms does not apply."

"The first general statute passed in this State in respect to the right of foreign corporations to acquire and convey lands, to which our attention has been called, or which we have been able to find, is chapter 158, Laws of 1877, which provided: 'Any foreign corporation may purchase at a sale upon the foreclosure of a mortgage held by it, or upon any judgment or decree for debts due it, or upon any settlement to secure such debts, any real property within this State covered by or subject to such mortgage, judgment, decree or settlement, and hold the same for not exceeding five years from the date of such purchase, and convey it by deed or otherwise in the same manner as a domestic corporation.'

"The provisions of this act are re-enacted in section 18, of chapter 687 of the Laws of 1892, known as 'The General Corporation Laws.' Section one of chapter 450 of the Laws of 1887, which is re-enacted in section 17 of 'The General Incorporation Act,' provided: 'Any foreign corporation created under the laws of the United States, or of any State or Territory thereof, and doing business in this State, may acquire such real property in this State as may be necessary for its corporate purposes in the transaction of its business in this State, and convey the same by deed or otherwise in the same manner as a domestic corporation.'

"The foregoing are the only general statutes of this State authorizing foreign corporations to acquire, hold and convey land within this State, or which recognize their right so to do. It is urged that the statute last quoted is broad enough to authorize a foreign corporation to take, hold and convey real estate within this State as a business and for the purposes of speculation. This we do not think was the intent or purpose of the act, but are of the opinion that the lawmaking power simply intended to authorize a foreign corporation to take, hold and convey such land within this State as should be incidentally necessary or convenient for the transaction of such business as the corporation is authorized to carry on within this State. The statute first cited (now section 18 of the General Corporation act) limits the time to five years in which foreign corporations may retain lands which they have acquired in the payment of debts due it. This seems to negative the idea that a foreign corporation has the unlimited right to take, hold, and, for an indefinite period, convey any lands within the State except such as are necessary for and incidental to its business.

"The policy of this State, from the time of its organization to the present, has been firmly opposed to the right of corporations, created under its own laws, to take, hold and convey an unlimited amount of land, the amount that may be acquired, held and conveyed being limited by general laws, or by the acts under which the corporations were created. Under chapter 40 of the Laws of 1848, as amended, corporations may be formed for purchasing, holding, improving and conveying real estate, but the amount which they may hold is limited to one million dollars unless the corporation is organized for the purpose of erecting in a city a building to be rented for offices and stores.

"If the defendant may legally acquire, hold and convey land in this State at pleasure there is no limitation upon the amount which foreign corporations may acquire and convey except their ability to purchase and pay for lands. We think it is contrary to the policy of this State to give to foreign corporations the unlimited right to take and hold lands in this State, and that the title of the defendant is not indefeasible, but it is subject to be forfeited by the State. Until it is, the defendant holds a defeasible title. If the defendant conveys its grantee takes the same title, a defeasible one, at the will of State.

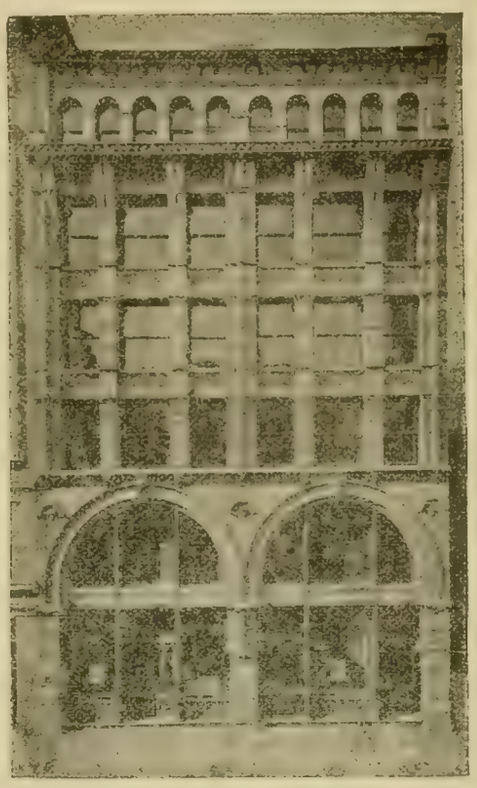
"The title, subject to the right of the State to defeat it, being in the corporation, it is plain that its shareholders have no legal estate in the land, and the judgments recovered against William H. Crawford are not a lien upon it."



This decision was received with great alarm among all the New Jersey real estate corporations doing business in this city. If it stands, as many authorities hold to be extremely likely, it will put a good many people to a deal of trouble to straighten out their land titles, and a good many others who have guaranteed such titles and who have made loans on properties so affected, will feel uncertain and troubled about their investments and indorsements. The case was argued before the Court of Appeals, on the 12th inst., by Louis Marshall, Esq., of Syracuse. A decision by the Court of Appeals is expected within the ensuing month.

Up-to-Date Buildings for Mercantile Purposes.

The growth of the wholesale and manufacturing quarters of the city is giving an increased value to much property on either side of Broadway. This is particularly the case with much lying on the West Side of that great dividing thoroughfare. A few years have enabled the business district to overgrow, possess and change the character of that extensive strip of property between Canal street and Washington Square, and extending several blocks west of Broadway. To one who has not visited this region for ten years the change he would find to-day would be perfectly marvelous, so entire has it been. Instead of the miserable squalid-looking houses, given over to the most direputable uses, he would find a centre of business activity, filled with substantial and capacious work-shops, store-rooms and show-rooms; and, moreover, the work of transformation is still going on, and promises, if kept up at the rate it has gone on in the past decade, to turn the entire district, from Broadway to Hudson street, over to commercial purposes in a reasonably short space of time. It was natural that this westward movement should begin with the streets nearest parallel to Broadway, creating a demand for business sites in Greene and other streets, and advancing values correspondingly. The movement has gone so far now that the opportunities for good investments are in the streets a few blocks west. Some good specimens of the class of buildings that are changing the aspect of this district are those recently put up by Herter Bros., architects and builders, of 191 Broadway, which they are offering to the attention of business men requiring new locations, and to investors. One of these is a six-story brick and stone store, 50x100, occupying the sites Nos. 137 and 139 Wooster street. A tenant has already been secured for the spacious upper lofts for a term of years, who pays a rental of $6,250 per annum, while the store and basement are available to responsible parties at $3,500 per annum. On this basis the total income of the building will amount to $9,750, and at the same time the tenants pay for steam. Another of these new buildings is that on the southwest corner of Wooster and West 3d streets, a seven-story brick and stone structure, 71.5x75, furnished with steam and containing passenger and freight elevators of the most recent style. In this building lofts can be obtained at from $1,500 to $1,900 per annum, and the store floors at about $6,500, though if desired portions of this store space can be had by those desiring them, as the owners are willing to divide off the space as wanted and let at corresponding rentals. This property deserves the examination of intending investors, because being newly built it is up to time in point of fitness for wholesale and retail trade purposes, and because, for the reasons heretofore stated, it is not held so high as similar property nearer Broadway, while the few blocks difference in distance from that thoroughfare can make no material difference to the occupants. The question of the probable enhancement of value as a result of the increased business movement west from Broadway is also one that should not be overlooked. —(Communicated).

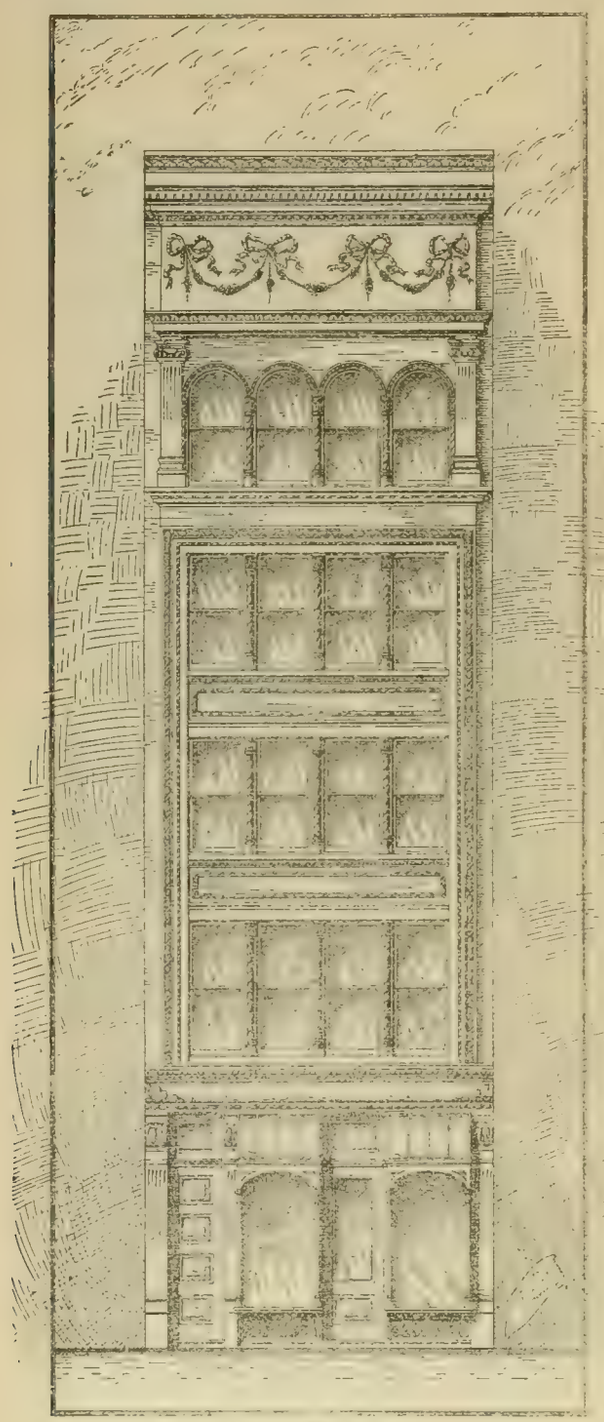
Obituary.

Death has been deplorably active of late in removing from scenes of earthly life many men who have held important relations to the real estate and building interests.

ORLANDO B. POTTER.

Mr. Potter was one of the most extensive owners of real estate in the city and a man of pronounced civic sentiments. He died suddenly of heart disease on 5th avenue, near 50th street, on Tuesday evening, while on his way to the Democratic Club, of which he was a member. A native of Charlemont, Mass., born March 10, 1823, he grew up on a farm, worked his way through school and to college, was admitted to the bar in Boston in 1848, and about five years later came to New York, with whose interests he had ever since been identified. He was a shrewd and intelligent judge of real estate values and invested his accumulations in this class of property as fast as they were made. His holdings at the time of his demise are estimated at from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. Mr. Potter took a prominent part in all large schemes of public improvement and in matters affecting the national finances. He is credited with the authorship of the national banking system, and about eleven years ago served one term in Congress. His was a familiar figure at the meetings of the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade and Transportation; in such meetings and in the counsels of the Democratic party his counsels carried great weight. He was a member of the first Rapid Transit Commission appointed by Mayor Grant; his leanings on that important civic question being always strongly in favor of the elevated railroad system. He advocated their construction in Broadway and the Boulevard from the Battery to the northern end of the island, and the extension of the 6th avenue line through Central Park and Lenox avenue to the Harlem River. Notwithstanding his sometimes extreme views, he was universally held in general respect for his sturdy uprightness and his unostentatious life. He left a wife and three children—two daughters and a son, who has long been his principal reliance in business, surviving him.



COL. FLOYD CLARKSON.

Col. Clarkson died suddenly on Tuesday afternoon at his residence, No. 48 East 66th street. He came of revolutionary stock. His grandfather, William Floyd, was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. He was born in this city in 1831. When the rebellion broke out he entered the army as a private in the Seventh Regiment. After the expiration of his first term of enlistment he went again to the front as Major of the Sixth Cavalry, and in April, 1863, was commissioned Major of the Twelfth Cavalry, a command which he retained to the close of the war. "For faithful and meritorious services" he was brevetted Lieutenant-Colonel on April 22, 1865. After the war was over he entered the real estate business, and continued in it as a broker during the remainder of his life. For a few years before his death he was president of the Riverside Bank, and of the Anglo-American Loan Company. He was a member also of several clubs and military organizations. His family consisted of a wife, five sons and two daughters.

GEORGE H. BABCOCK AND STEPHEN WILCOX.

These gentlemen were the founders of the extensive steam-boiler business which bears their names, that of the Babcock & Wilcox Co. They were schoolmates in boyhood, and when they reached manhood became associated in business and remained together through varying business conditions, through long and useful careers, and died within three weeks of each other—Mr. Wilcox on Nov 27th, and Mr. Babcock on Dec .16th. Mr. Wilcox's home was at Westerly, R. I., where he leaves an enduring monument, in the form of a public library and gymnasium. Mr. Babcock resided for some years before his death at Plainfield, N. J. By his will he endowed a Babcock Scientific Library, and left a fund of $200,000 for educational purposes to the Seventh Day Baptist Church Society. He left the bulk of his fortune to trustees for his eight-year-old son.

No. 45 Maiden Lane.
BOEHM & COON, owners.

More Improvements in the Jewelry District.

THE BOEHM & COON BUILDING ESPECIALLY DESIGNED FOR THE JEWELRY TRADE, AT NO. 45 MAIDEN LANE.

Maiden lane has been distinguished above all other trade centres this year by the number and extent of its building improvements. People who have not visited this centre of the jewelry trade within the year would hardly recognize it as the same street. True there are many old, gloomy "landmarks" remaining that are but poorly fitted for a trade which requires solar light more than any other, but the number of new buildings on both sides of the unique old thoroughfare that are specially designed and constructed to meet the utmost requirements of this art-trade, have almost transformed it.

The latest of these new buildings, now rapidly approaching completion, is at No. 45, a short distance below Nassau street. It will afford splendid accommodation for from twelve to eighteen separate establishments. Messrs. Boehm & Coon, of No. 173 Broadway, who have had a successful experience in business building, are the builders and owners. The building is of extra strong construction, five full stories high, of white brick and terra cotta, with extra large window lights, and with all the conveniences of a first-class office building.

In the middle of the building is a light court, 10x18 feet in dimension, roofed over with glass. It extends from the roof to the main floor, and a glazed floor here lets the light through to the cellar. The main hall is handsomely wainscoted and floored with marble and tiling. The building is equipped with an electric elevator, electric lights, steam heat, open sanitary plumbing, toilet-rooms on every floor and marble lavatories in every office. The plan shows a store floor extending the full depth of the building, 129 feet, with light from the front windows, the central court, and through a glazed roof over the rear extension. It is conveniently arranged for one firm or can be divided into two stores—front and rear, with a main entrance to the rear office from the main hall. Each of the other floors has four offices, two front and two rear, each of which can be rented separately or in suites of two with communicating doorways. The smaller offices have their light and ventilation from the central court and hall windows, the larger ones through four large windows, front and rear. The exterior design, which is pleasing and attractive, is shown in the accompanying illustration.

This site has become still more desirable since the Lawyers' Title Co. secured a location opposite on Maiden lane and extending through to Liberty street, where they are erecting a thirteen-story building. This will, of course, bring to Maiden lane the large circle of customers of the Title Co. and others in associated lines.—(Communicated.)

The New State Legislature.

AN ACCOUNT OF THE PARTY LEADERS AND THE MEN WHO CONSTITUTE THE TWO BRANCHES.

ALBANY, Jan. 5.—The new Legislature, which met on Tuesday, unexpectedly Republican in both branches, and containing many Senators and Assemblymen who have never before had experience in legislative life, and with whose characters and ability the public generally is unacquainted, promises to furnish the voters of the State, as they read their newspapers the coming year, with many surprises.

The State Senate has eighteen Republicans, one Independent Democrat, Daniel Bradley, of Brooklyn, and thirteen "Regular" Democrats. Upon the matter of organizing the Senate—that is, the election of its presiding officer for the periods when the Lieutenant Governor is absent, Mr. Bradley acted with the Republicans. In dealing with political questions, however, Mr. Bradley will act with the Democrats. The Republican majority in the Senate, therefore, is four. Moreover, the Republican Party, commanding as it does at least seventeen votes, can pass any bill it desires, while the Democratic minority is helpless in that respect. It is probable also that the Republican majority in the Senate will be increased by one vote by the ejection of John McCarty, elected a Democratic Senator from the 6th Senate District. It is in this District that Gravesend is situated—where the lieutenants of John Y. McKane committed so many election frauds. McCarty's majority is only fifty-six, and the Republicans feel justified in depriving him of his seat in view of the election frauds in Gravesend and also in another part of the District in Richmond County. But the Republicans profess to come to Albany this year in no revengeful spirit, and therefore say they will not "purge" the Senate beyond ridding it of McCarty; and will not turn out of the Assembly more than two or three Democratic Assemblymen-elect. These latter they believe they can show to the satisfaction of the public were elected by election frauds in New York and in Brooklyn.

The Assembly will have seventy-four Republicans and fifty-four Democrats, which are precisely the figures reversed of the Democratic and the Republican vote a year ago. The Republican majority therefore is twenty votes. It takes sixty-five votes, however, to pass bills, so that on political measures the Republicans have only nine votes to spare in the Assembly. In the Senate they have only one vote to spare when political measures are to be passed upon finally.

The Republicans come to Albany most decidedly upon their good behavior. They did not expect to have a majority in the Legislature, since the apportionment of the legislative districts was so much against them as a party that they could not dream of carrying it. Nor did they hope to elect their State ticket; not one of their candidates for State office expected to be elected. A week before the election one of these candidates said to the writer: "The most that we shall do will be to defeat Maynard, and even he may be counted in down in New York and Brooklyn. Possibly also we may carry the Assembly, but it is an impossibility to elect a majority of Republican Senators." But the political revolution in Brooklyn and in Buffalo swept away all Democratic barriers, and the Republicans in amazement found that they had captured "everything in sight."

Having the Legislature as a base for manufacturing political capital the Republican leaders now begin to make plans to elect a Republican as Governor the coming year. They perceive that they can win the favor of voters only by most conservative and patriotic action in dealing with legislative proposals. The presence of a Democratic Governor in the Executive Chamber possibly warns them that any legislation solely in the interest of the Republican voters would be so much wasted time, but there is certain political legislation to which Governor Flower would agree probably that the Republican Legislature could not afford to pass if it wishes to retain popular favor. It is this latter kind of legislation, "combines" with a Democratic Governor somewhat against the public interest that the Republicans feel that they must be on their guard against. Such legislation was common in the days when David B. Hill was Governor and a certain distinguished Republican was Speaker of the Assembly, and the Republican leaders now perceive that their party lost votes by such a policy.

The selection of Charles T. Saxton as President pro tem. of the Senate, and of George R. Malby as Speaker of the Assembly, are significant of the desire of the leaders of the Republican party to make a good impression upon the voters of the State. Mr. Saxton has had a most honorable career as a member of the Legislature. He is now forty-seven years of age. In 1886 he was elected a member of the Assembly from Wayne County. If any one had visited him at that period at his modest home at Clyde they would have found his house well stocked with the most recent literature and they would have learned that he had a good practice as a lawyer in the same quiet little town. He came to Albany with an excellent reputation and maintained it as Assemblyman for three years and as Senator for four years. As the author of the ballot reform law of this State he has had an odd experience. A year ago among Republican "practical politicians" there was no man so unpopular as Charles T. Saxton. The severe defeats of the Republican party in this State in the year succeeding the passage of the ballot law were attributed to its operation. The Democratic voter, spoken of in orthodox Republican journals as an illiterate creature, "somehow" had managed to understand the new ballot system, but the Republican farmer was confused by it. But since the late election this argument against Mr. Saxton's famous law has ceased, and the Republican practical politician acknowledges that the secret ballot system did give an opportunity for the independent Democrat to vote the Republican ticket. This being the case, Mr. Saxton is forgiven and he is put forward by the party leaders as visible evidence that the Republican party intends to act in the people's interest.

Mr. Saxton, nominally as President pro tempore of the Senate, names the committees of the Senate, but everyone understands that the committees are named by the party leaders upon both sides, who in turn are subject to the influence of the big corporations and of the influential members of the Legislature itself. Mr. Saxton, however, will be in a large measure responsible for the committees. His backbone will be tried. If they are bad; if corporations exercise an undue amount of influence in their composition, Mr. Saxton will be responsible. There is this to be said, namely: that the corporations felt poor while the late political campaign was in progress, and therefore "contributed" much less "campaign funds" than usual to the treasuries of the two great political parties, and therefore the political leaders feel much freer to make up the committees in the people's interests than they have in year's previous. The Manhattan Elevated Railway Company, it is reported, did not pay a dollar to influence political action the past fall or to earn the favor of the State Committee of either political party. This being the case, there is reason to think that a bill creating a Rapid Transit Commission composed of men of ability and honesty may possibly pass the Legislature.

The chief merit of the selection of Mr. Saxton as the President pro tempore of the Senate, however, will be, that holding this position he also, by precedent, holds that of the Republican leader in the Senate. This assures the public that it will be protected from political intrigues of a reprehensible character. There will be no "deal" with Mr. Saxton's consent by which some favored Republican and Democratic politicians will receive public offices with large salaries and the voters of the State will receive nothing. Jobs also will find in him a courageous assailant.

George R. Malby, who has been elected Speaker of the Assembly, is a man of the same character as Mr. Saxton. Unfortunately, however, he has not been a member of the Legislature as long as Mr. Saxton, and therefore is not so sceptical of the good motives of many prominent politicians. Nevertheless, Mr. Malby upon the whole showed excellent judgment as the Republican leader in the Assembly the past two years, and certainly no one ever knew him to do a dishonorable thing. Moreover he has possibly more courage and certainly more tenacity of purpose than Mr. Saxton. His selection as Speaker will be fortunate for the State in the circumstance that no Tammany Hall politician has a grip upon him. One of the main objections to Hamilton Fish when he was seeking support as a candidate for Speaker in opposition to Mr. Malby was that his late father's large estate was mainly situated in New York City, and that therefore Tammany Hall would have the power of coercing him as Speaker, if he should be elected. Mr. Malby, upon the contrary, lives at Ogdensburgh, in St. Lawrence County, some 250 miles from New York City, and has no business relations whatever in that city which are under the thumb of Richard Croker. Mr. Malby is a lawyer by profession, a graduate of St. Lawrence University, and is thirty-six years of age. He is a man of a straightforward above-board character. There will be no jobbery practiced through him, and, like Mr. Saxton, he is opposed to political "deals." It remains to be said also that both Mr. Saxton and Mr. Malby are notably men of independent character, and that judging by their past career, no Republican "boss" will induce them to act against the public interest in some pretended political one.

The Senate, as a whole, possesses more men competent for legislation than the one of last year, and more men of good moral character than that one. The Democratic Party, it is true, is handicapped by the dummies sent here by Richard Croker to represent him, and the Brooklyn Democrats will have cause for apprehension when Michael J. Coffey begins.

The Democratic Party was most unfortunate in the character of its nominations for Senators. Richard Croker's sole idea in respect to the New York delegation seems to have been to get men who would obey him without question. Following this policy, he named for Senator four Assemblymen of the present year. These four were Timothy D. Sullivan, Frank A. O'Donnel, Joseph C. Wolff and Thomas C. O'Sullivan. None of these men, except Sullivan, exhibited any ability as an Assemblyman and his display of brains was of a kind that should have insured his being kept in New York. Timothy D. Sullivan is the most dangerous man sent here by any New York constituency since William M. Tweed represented almost the same district in the great city. Two men, indeed, who will range up well as Senators were indeed sent here by Mr. Croker. These were Jacob A. Cantor and Martin T. McMahon. The other two New York Senators, Ahearn and Guy, are petty men sent here by Croker, as were the promoted Assemblymen, to do what Croker wants done, without question.

Nor is the Democratic representation in the Senate from Brooklyn any better than that from New York. The two Democratic Senators are Michael J. Coffey and John McCarty, both former Presidents of the Board of Aldermen of Brooklyn, who, while holding that position, acquired fortunes. The Independent Democrat, Daniel Bradley, is a man who, as an Assemblyman, acquired the title, which was rightfully won, of "Honest Dan." He is a man of good character and will be an honor to his party. Amasa J. Parker, the representative of the Albany Senate district, will also be an honor to his party. But the rural Democrats will greatly regret before the session of the Senate ends that they ever elected Michael Collins and Jacob A. Rice as members of the present Senate. Both of these men have been in the Legislature before, and should never have been returned to it. Taken as a whole, the Democratic representation in the Senate is the weakest it has been in many years.

The Republicans improved the character of their representation in the Senate at the late election. John Lewis Childs, a florist, of Long Island, who is reported to be a man of high type, succeeds an honest but dull-witted Democratic Senator named Floyd-Jones. William H. Reynolds, a builder, succeeds Joseph A. Aspinwall, who had been a little too long in Albany. Mr. Reynolds is reported to be a man of excellent character. George A. Owens, a Republican, who was accidently elected over Senator McCarren, Democrat, was a barkeeper. This is not a profession that ordinarily turns out high-class Senators. George W Robertson, another Republican Senator, from the Westchester-Putnam District, was an Assemblyman here in 1882, and then had an honorable record. He is a manufacturer at Peekskill. The new Republican Senators, Clarence Lexow, Frederick D. Kilburn, Charles W. Stapleton and Cuthbert W. Pound, all lawyers, all come to Albany with excellent reputations. Another new Republican Senator, Baxter T. Smelzer, is a physician at Havana. Nothing is known about him here. Charles Lamey and Henry H. Perseus, the two new Republican Senators who will represent Erie County in the Legislature, are business men of fine standing in Western New York, Mr. Lamey being a merchant of Buffalo and Mr. Perseus a banker at East Aurora, one of the suburbs of Buffalo. Frank W. Higgins, another new Republican Senator from Olean, is a man of large wealth, owning valuable iron properties in Northern Wisconsin. He is a well educated man and will be a credit to his party.

It will thus be seen that the Republicans in political adversity have learned some lessons, and one is that it pays to nominate men of high character for office; and as a consequence their State Senate, so far as they are concerned, is an honor to the people of the State.

The Republican representation in the Assembly is of a mixed character; good and bad. The elements in it which the Republican leaders especially distrust are those from Brooklyn and Buffalo. In these cities the Republican Party nominated a good many men for Assemblymen whom it never thought would be elected. But the November tidal wave elected these men as Assemblymen and now the Republican leaders are unable to classify these very Assemblymen. Possibly they may be good Assemblymen, but until they do disclose their real character the Republican leaders will be apprehensive. In Brooklyn nine Republicans were elected; whereas it was thought the party would be lucky if it got one. In Buffalo five were elected, where the Republican Party a year ago only elected one. These new men thus unexpectedly elected will be the "mystery gas wells" of the Assembly until they begin to vote.

In the interior of the State the Republican Party has men of talent and good character in Mr. Ainsworth, of Oswego County, who will be the Republican leader; Mr. Fish, of Putnam County; Mr. Hobbie, of Washington County; Mr. Whittet, of Erie County; Mr. Wilcox, of Cayuga County; Mr. Keck, of Fulton County; Mr. Terry, of Saratoga County; Mr. O'Grady, of Monroe County; Mr. Higbie, of Suffolk County; and Mr. Stewart, of Tompkins. All these men were here last year and showed their merit as legislators.

The Republican Party is also fortunate this year in the Assembly in having two such capital representatives of New York City as apparently James R. Sheffield, of the 11th Assembly District, and Judson Lawson, of the 23d Assembly District, will be. Mr. Sheffield and Mr. Lawson undoubtedly will speak the sentiments of the taxpayers of New York, as they have not been spoken in several years before; as they have not been spoken since Theodore Roosevelt was here.

The Democratic Party is about as unfortunate in its representation in the Assembly as it is in the Senate. William Sulzer, of New York, the former Speaker, is the Democratic leader. He is a dull young man, who was made Speaker simply to gratify Richard Croker; and he has no aptitude to act as the leader of a minority party. The Democrats have an able and an honest man in Dr. Robert P. Bush, former Speaker, who comes here from Chemung County, but the present Democratic leaders do not have the sagacity to put the management of their party in the Assembly in his hands. The New York Democrats apparently will be represented in the Assembly by only one man of ability, namely: Arthur C. Butts, of the 29th Assembly District. He had an honorable record in the last Assembly and should do good work in this Assembly. There are twenty-eight Democratic Assemblymen from New York County, or a majority of the fifty-four in all. It is a great pity that none of them except Mr. Butts seem to be men of any ability. Brooklyn also sends nine Democrats, not one of whom appears to be of any signal ability. Edgar L. Ryder, of Westchester County, is a man of probity and should be a credit to the Democratic party in the Assembly. The remainder of the rural Democrats are men who have yet to win recognition for legislative ability.

Political legislation apparently will be limited to passing a blanket ballot bill; of a bill giving the great political parties an equal number of election inspectors at each polling place, and in providing more stringent penalties for falsifying the election returns.

The reformers in New York are clamoring for an investigation of various city departments. It is doubtful if any will be made, the Republican leaders believing, from the failure of the Fassett investigation, that more harm than good will come to their party if they undertake it. But it now looks as if a bill would be passed abolishing the present Board of Police and putting the Police Department in charge of Superintendent Byrnes. In that case, a Board of Elections would be created to appoint election inspectors and do similar election business.

Will there be a rapid transit bill, abolishing the present inefficient Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners? To-day there is no token of such a bill, but he would be a rash man who would predict that none would be introduced and pushed vigorously.

Real Estate Market.

The sum of the real estate transactions of this week is not very large. Although investors are having their opportunity now, they are apparently unwilling to see it. It is said by some brokers, who profess to have considerable sums to invest, that there are no bargains offered, and this is answered, Yankee fashion, by a cross query: "What do you want, a $5 gold piece for $3.50?" This reflects the actual situation in real estate with respect to the best property; to the owner it is as good as minted money, while the would-be buyer would like to get it at what he is pleased to consider panic prices—about 30 per cent off. The chances are that he will fail to find any such bargain in investment property. But such a situation produces business paralysis—would do so in any business. Uptown property, houses and flats, are affording the brokers activity enough to save them from taking root, but that is the best that can be said of them. Owners are sticking to big asking prices where they are able to do so, confident that there will be a scarcity of houses in the spring, when it will not be difficult to get their prices. Some, however, are compelled by the burdens of interest and taxes to part with their houses for whatever they can get above the incumbrances. On the other hand, vacant lots are still held at what builders consider prohibitive prices. While these conditions continue there can be no activity. A little more courage on the part of buyers, a little concession by owners and a less exacting policy on the part of lenders would vastly improve the situation.

The Auction Room Committee of the Real Estate Exchange has been empowered by the Exchange to take such steps as to it may seem proper and effective to secure a return of the legal sales to the Exchange auction room. The plans of the committee have not yet been formulated. They may take the form of an application to the Legislature to amend the law, in conjunction with a similar move by the Brooklyn Real Estate Exchange, or they may consist of an application to the Supreme Court Judges to reconsider their action in sending the sales to the Broadway Salesroom. Meantime, Manager Peter F. Meyer, of the Salesroom, says the Auctioneers' Association are not alarmed over the prospect, and are confident that the sales will continue to be held at No. 111 Broadway.

A HEALTHY INSTITUTION.

The Real Estate Loan and Trust Company has increased its semi-annual dividend from 2½ to 3 per cent, payable January 2d. The Company's statement shows its earnings for the past year to be about 10 per cent upon its capital. The careful and conservative management of this Company deserves commendation, especially in these troublous times. The claim is made by the management that all of its investments and loans are of the safest and quickly convertible class, and that it has no bad, suspended or even doubtful assets. The premiums upon all its Government and City bonds have been charged off, as well as all items for furniture, fixtures, etc. The name of the Company is to be changed to the "Real Estate Trust Co. of New York," as a shorter, better and less misleading name.

This should have read 'half a dozen flat houses unsold in builders' hands in that section.'"

News of the Building Trades.

MOVING FOR NEW FEDERAL BUILDINGS.

The demand for larger and better office facilities for the various federal government bureaus in this city promises soon to take on some definite form. It might generally be supposed that the business public was not very practically concerned with the character of the housing of government officials, but when the lack of office facilities impedes the transaction of business in the federal courts, at the custom house, the sub-treasury, the bonded warehouse and in the federal courts, it begins to be a matter of direct concern to the business public. The real estate interests are moving in the matter, and it is likely, as we are informed, that the Real Estate Exchange and the Auctioneers' Association will soon give expression to their sentiments upon it.

THE WIDOW'S MITE REVERSED.

The story comes to us of a poor building mechanic who was working on one of the new buildings on the West Side, and a few days ago had the misfortune to receive a blow on the head from a descending elevator, which knocked him down through the shaft. He fell eight stories and sustained injuries which will make him a life-long cripple. After he was sent home from hospital his workmates passed the hat among themselves and chipped in $19.50 to supply his immediate wants. The owner of the building, a wealthy merchant, happened to be present and the case was stated to him, with the offer of an opportunity to join in the contribution. He expressed sincere sympathy for the unfortunate man, and putting his hand in his pocket drew out a silver quarter which he deposited in the hat.

Out Among the Builders.

Neville & Bagge, architects, of 213 125th street, have completed plans for two five-story stores and flats, to be erected on the west side of 8th avenue, 50.5 north of 114th street. Each house will have a frontage of 25.2¾ and a depth of 88 feet. The first floors will be devoted to stores and the floors above arranged for three families and the apartments be up to date in respect of fittings for that class of property. The total cost of the work will be about $40,000. The owner of this property is Thomas K. Lemon, of 626 Columbus avenue. Work on the foundations will commence at once.

Architect B. W. Berger has the plans for two five-story flats with stores, to be erected on the northwest corner of 9th avenue and 50th street by John Tietjen, of 395 West street. The corner store will be fitted up as a first-class saloon.

Architect Lorenz F. J. Weiher, Jr., has plans on the boards for a two-story and basement frame cottage to be erected on 177th street and east side of Tremont avenue, for Edwin E. Stillman. Cost estimated at $5,000.

From plans by Architect John Hauser, George Schreimer will build three five-story flats, 25x73, each, on 90th street, south side, 210 feet east of 3d avenue. They are to have all improvements, including heated heated halls, and will cost $62,000.

President Trenholm, of the American Surety Co., in answer to our inquiry about the new building which his company will erect at Broadway and Pine street, said the company had called for a closed competition for plans from eight architects, whom he declined to name. The company has retained Mr. Richard M. Hunt as consulting architect, he of course not being in the competition. The instructions to the competing architects are that the building must be not less than fifteen nor more than twenty stories high, and that the plans must all be ready to submit on the 15th of this month. The competing architects are all to be paid for their plans, but the company reserves the privilege of rejecting all or changing any one to suit its final judgment. From other sources we learn that the eight competing firms are Messrs. N. Le Brun & Son, Geo. B. Post, McKim, Mead & White, John R. Thomas, Bruce Price, Geo. Martin Huss, Carrere & Hastings, and W. Wheeler Smith. Work will be begun immediately after the 1st of May.

R. G. Rogers has completed the plans for an additional story to the Home for Incurables, 182d street and 3d avenue.

Andrew Spence's church, on Audubon avenue, for which plans have been filed, cost should be $18,000 instead of $8,000, and architect is Andrew and not Andrew G. Spence.

The Coffee Exchange is considering plans for a new building on its corner, at Beaver and Pearl streets, one of which calls for a nine-story modern fire-proof building to cost $20,500. There is little prospect of an early decision.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list.

REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, JANUARY 6, 1894.

The New Administration and Taxes.

MAYOR SCHIEREN entered upon the performance of his executive duties on New Year's Day with ceremonies of the most auspicious character. The substantial citizenship of Brooklyn availed of the opportunity by thousands to wish him, and in him themselves and the city, happiness and prosperity for the new year. It was a demonstration of confidence and support of most unusual character, and shows how complete was the revolution of public sentiment effected at the November election.

It is a pity that the revolution did not compass the overturning of all the municipal departments. So far as the people were able to do this by their votes, they did it in the most emphatic and satisfactory manner; and having given Mayor Schieren all the power they could, there will be a strong disposition to hold him more strictly accountable for all administrative laches than they have hitherto held any man in his position. But Mayor Schieren has found, right upon the threshold of his administration, obstacles to the working out of his policy of complete reformation, which it will take time and the assistance of the Legislature to overcome. Of these he will doubtless speak in his message, which will be read to the Board of Aldermen on Monday.

To one of them, however, because it most directly affects real estate interests, we desire to call special attention at this time. The tax department of the City of Brooklyn has for years manifestly been used as a means of solidifying and extending the corrupt political ring that brought the city to its present straits. If the figures on the assessors' books could speak they would doubtless tell of instances of downright blackmail, of extortion, of political "assessments" and of favoritism sufficient to insure the conviction and imprisonment of most of the Board. While nearly all the large corporations and most of the favorites of the municipal ring escaped their just measure of taxation through these methods, the house-owners and the enemies of the ring were compelled to pay double portions.

It is generally understood that the average rate of assessment of property for purposes of taxation in Brooklyn is somewhere between 60 and 70 per cent of the market value. If this was the universal rate no one would have special cause for complaint. But in this average there are extremes that can be accounted for only by inconceivable ignorance on the part of the assessors, or what is more likely, their corruption and dishonesty. Instances may be gathered from every tax book of property that is assessed at but from 15 to 25 per cent of its value—these mostly large corporation properties, and of others where the assessed value is as high as 90 per cent of its market value.

The evil effects of this sort of corruption can hardly be over estimated. It is like a canker eating its way into the very vitals of the political system. It relieves of their rightful share of the burden of government those who are best able to pay and imposes a double portion upon people who are least able to bear it and who receive the least benefit from the government. It has produced its natural effect upon real estate values in Brooklyn. It struck hardest upon the small property-holders and led many of them to sell their property in disgust and leave the town. It alarmed the money-lenders and they refused to lend money on Brooklyn property. The influx of population was arrested, building was suspended and property ceased to sell.

Mayor Schieren, as we are informed, is fully awake to the situation. He realizes that greater care is necessary in the selection of a head of the tax department—the President of the Board of Assessors—than in the choice of any other member of his cabinet. Common every-day honesty and an average measure of executive capacity are sufficient to qualify a man for almost any other department headship, but for this position the emergency demands something more. The incumbent must be fearless and firm, just and true, and must have a general knowledge of the value of properties and of systems of taxation. Upon him will devolve the task of assessing the property of all corporations for taxation purposes, of fixing personal property taxes and of adjudicating disputes over tax assessments. He will also have supervisory powers over the nine assessors who with him constitute the Board. Great pressure has already been brought to bear upon the Mayor to appoint to this position men who will do no violence to the present order of things. But Mr. Schieren has already rejected twelve such names and is using every endeavor to find a man who will overturn and revolutionize the department. He is hampered by the fact that the salary of the position is only $4,000—(made so doubtless because of the opportunities for blackmail afforded by the position)—a sum insufficient to retain a man of responsibility and fitness for the office—except at a personal sacrifice.

But when he shall have found a man to fit well the requirements of this position, he will have only begun upon the reform demanded in this department. The nine assessors are almost to a man absolutely unfit for their positions and should be turned out forthwith. The majority of them are creatures of the ring that has just been driven out of power. Many of them are of so low an order of intelligence that they are unfit for any position in which the ability to write and cipher are required—one of them, at least, so ignorant that he blunders constantly over simple notation. Most of them are accessories, both before and after the fact, if they are not even principals, to the crimes against property-owners that have been committed in their department. They ought not to be retained in their positions any longer than it would take to secure competent men for their places. But as the law is to-day they are secure. All of them can hang on until September when the terms of only two of them will expire, and two go out in each succeeding year.

It would seem as if this were a case calling for exigent legislative action. Why not call upon the Legislature for a reorganization of this department? Bad cases call for heroic remedies—remedies that can never become general, because their cases are exceptional. The full effect and spirit of the reform ordered by the people at the polls will not be accomplished until the tax department is completely revolutionized and ridded of the last taint of corruption that now attaches to it.

BROOKLYN real estate may well be said to be at bed-rock. Houses and lots ought certainly to go no lower in market value than they are now quoted. Investors acting under the advice and direction of competent brokers need have no hesitation in making purchases of any kind of realty now. Brooklyn has passed the worst of her municipal illness and is on the high road to a rapid recovery of her lost prestige. The abuses that brought her name so low and that made her real estate a drug in the market, are being corrected as rapidly as the orderly course of law and executive opportunity will allow them. The future looks bright. Nothing is expected that will not tend to advance values. Consolidation is no longer resisted by the municipal authorities. It is almost beyond doubt that the Legislature will permit the people to vote on the subject next fall. That is one bright prospect. Another is that the city has been wrested from the hands of its marauders and is now in the hands of men whose personal and pecuniary interest it is to build up her name and credit as rapidly and securely as they can. True, they are only beginning to find how near to the verge of bankruptcy the thieves of the former administrations had driven the city. But the changes of government came in ample time to avert all serious trouble, and with the economies which Mayor Schieren can and will enforce, and the use of resources that have, through corruption and favoritism, hitherto availed nothing, Brooklyn will not only pull through her financial troubles in comfort, but will gradually add to her surplus.

OWING to the liberal and unpartisan view Mayor Schieren has taken of the question, the probabilities now point very favorably to a reform of the building law, or rather the introduction of a building law for the City of Brooklyn, that city at present having none such worthy of the name, before the close of the session of the Legislature which is now beginning business at Albany. The bill drawn last year and submitted to the Legislature too late for final action before adjournment will be submitted to the consideration of the same commission that sat upon it last year, and will of course have the careful attention of the present Building Commissioner, Col. Rutan, who prepared it originally, as well as of his selected successor Mr. Bush, who, though he does not take office until the first proximo, is in hearty sympathy with the movement to give Brooklyn a building law suitable to its extent and certain prospective growth. The ground having been gone over so carefully last year and so much attention having been given to the matter with the view of amending details since the bill failed of passage last spring, it ought not to be difficult to obtain prompt action on the part of the Commission and the City Hall officials, so that a new bill may be introduced into the Legislature without delay. The measure introduced last year was not by any means perfect, but it was a good beginning and, while the more complete the measure the better for the interests of the Brooklyn public, the question of time should not be lost sight of. It would be unwise by insisting on changes in the provisions of the bill to run the danger of repeating the failure of last year. As the scattered building regulations are now so bad and so inadequate to the requirements of the city, it will be better to accept the measure even as drawn last year than to run any risk of further delay in giving Brooklyn a building law somewhat on the plane of other cities of the same standing, size and importance. The revisory commission and the city officials are, we are sure, so alive to the importance of this consideration that it may be confidently predicted that the submission of the bill to the Legislature will be as prompt as the circumstances will permit, and that as it will have the support of both parties and the indorsement of the City Hall its passage is assured.

Brooklyn Real Estate Market.

DORMANT UNDER THE WINTER INFLUENCE—PRICES AT BED-ROCK, WITH PROSPECTS OF A RISE WHEN ACTIVITY IS RESUMED IN THE SPRING—A FIELD FOR REIMPROVEMENT WITH GOOD PROFIT—THE CITY READY FOR CONSOLIDATION.

One of the facts which testify to the intimate natural relation of Brooklyn to New York is the universal disposition to compare the condition and achievements of the one with the other—to estimate Brooklyn's real estate values and market activity by the New York standard. While treating of the two cities as separate communities, as if they were sundered by miles of unbridgable water, the same standards of judgment that are applied to one are applied to the other also; men seek to account for the mutual depression of their markets by the same causes, and look to the same improving agencies to revive them and bring them renewed activity.

There is, however, this difference: The Brooklyn expert believes that values of Brooklyn realty are bobbing around on bed-rock and that New York values are still somewhat in the clouds. He believes, therefore, that there are better speculative opportunities in Brooklyn than there are in New York, because, if the country ever again resumes its growth and the cities their normal prosperity, Brooklyn values must advance all along the line and the operator will hazard no chance of loss; while in New York there must be a further and substantial decline in values before a bed-rock foundation for renewed activity and prosperity will be reached. The depression in real estate struck Brooklyn fully two months earlier than it did New York. Loaning institutions began to decline loans on Brooklyn realty over a year ago, but money did not cease to be obtainable for building operations until along in April and May of this year. Then, however, it ceased almost completely, and since then building has been entirely suspended and trading has been flat—as in New York—mostly shifting around to secure more comfortable financial conditions.

But Brooklyn is fairly cheerful through all her business domain over the pronounced and emphatic manner in which on election day she overcame the worst of her evils and destroyed the cause of much of her recent financial and business distress. A better illustration of the fact that municipal prosperity is dependent on an honest and economical administration of the municipal government was never had by any community than Brooklyn has experienced in the last two years. From the time the aldermanic gang of political thieves began to vote street railroad franchises to themselves and their pals, to waste the city's revenues in useless parks and water towers, to twist every municipal necessity into a means of stealing the city's money and to turn the municipal departments into asylums and barracks for bands of political free-booters, real estate began to decline. Then the influx of population ran down to the lowest it had reached in years, taxes mounted higher than ever before known, and self-respecting people began to put their properties on the market, intending to sell out and leave the city to its marauders.

All this was changed on election day in a manner and with an emphasis so surprising that it has already put an altogether different face upon the city's affairs. Confidence in the city's ability to correct its own evils has been restored; the new administration will be the opposite in all essential particulars to the last, and the leaks in the public treasury will be repaired and a period of economy will ensue. Under these condition it is not surprising if Brooklyn real estate owners and operators and Brooklyn builders look with some confidence to a revival of interest in that city in the spring. This hopeful feeling is accentuated considerably by the expectation that an opportunity will be given for a popular vote on annexation in the fall. It is useless to deny the fact—Brooklyn's solid citizens view with cordiality the prospect of the merging of her municipal existence with that of New York, and will do all that could be reasonably expected of them to promote the union.

For the present the real estate market is as in New York, an investors' market. The general business depression, consequent upon the panic and contingent now upon the tinkering of the tariff, has forced more property on the market than there are buyers for, even at the prevailing low prices. Some brokers say the city has been overbuilt and that the best thing that could happen would be to suspend building operations for another year. Others declare, however, that there has already been a sufficient suspension of building and that a general resumption of business activity will soon consume all the houses and buildings there are now in stock. All are agreed that values are down to bed-rock and that buyers who will take the advice of an experienced and reliable broker cannot go amiss in buying between now and February.

E. D Bushnell, Treasurer and Secretary of the D. & M. Chauncey Co., said: "There is precious little to say about the present state of the market—it is flat as can be; but we never expect anything else at this period of the year. This is our dull season, and there are no indications that it is any duller than usual. But prices are still flat—just where they were left by the panic and the politicians. No, we do not look for any real activity or advance until along in February or March. If by that time Congress shall have settled the tariff question and business shall have resumed its normal activity Brooklyn real estate will doubtless have its share in the benefits. No, just now there would be no advantage in building in Brooklyn. The city is overbuilt now and the best thing that could happen would be for builders to suspend for a whole year. Yes, there is an exception; people who would buy the old frame houses that are so numerous within walking distance of the bridge and reimprove the property with a good quality of flats—perhaps in some localities with cold water flats, would be sure of excellent incomes. That class of property pays best now—oh, from 8 to 15 per cent net—pays best of anything in Brooklyn, and because it is easy and cheap of access to the business districts of New York it is constantly growing in demand. Brooklyn realty would benefit largely by the annexation of the city to New York. There is a wide difference in values between the two cities—wider than the relative advantages seem to justify, and I feel certain that much of it is purely sentimental. There is but one New York, you know, and people have always been willing to pay vastly more in New York than they would for the same accommodations in Brooklyn. Why they do it I do not understand—a matter of individual preference I suppose. But Brooklyn is growing—and will continue to grow as long as New York grows, and when New York is prosperous Brooklyn will also prosper."

Mr. Edward H. Quantin, of the firm of Leonard Moody, said: "Our real estate market is depressed, it is true, and prices are down to bed-rock; but you know we never have a real estate market here in the winter—spring and autumn are our busiest seasons, and we have always been able to do something through the summer. But our trading is mostly in residence property, and after snow flies residence property lies practically dormant until the grass appears again. Our best paying property is the tenement and apartment house property that is within walking distance of Brooklyn Bridge, and in that direction there is even now a fair opportunity for investment and improvement. At present prices there is considerable property in this vicinity that could be bought for but little more than the bare value of the lots—the old frame dwellings counting for little or nothing. If a buyer were to put up good apartment houses in their places he could rely on a good income from the investment. Factory property down about the river front is also good paying property, and so is business property in the immediate vicinity of the new dry-goods centre, though most of that property is out of the market, owned by the occupants. Brooklyn has undoubtedly suffered much from its politicians in the past, but as you know they have been placed in the background for the two coming years and we have a chance now to recuperate our political losses. Too much must not be expected from the new administration at once, however, for the old gang have left it a great burden of debt and extravagant appropriations that it will take a year or more to overcome. Real estate cannot fail to realize considerable benefit from the changed condition, and when spring comes with its general business revival I believe real estate will resume its normal market activity. No, I do not think we are at all overbuilt. Building has already been practically suspended for a year and there will be no more new houses or business buildings on hand than the market will need when business revives in the spring. How would the city vote on the consolidation question? I do not think there is a particle of doubt but what the vote would be very largely in favor of it."

Mr. Coykendall, of the firm of C. N. Moody & Co., took a generally less hopeful view of the situation than his colleagues above quoted. He did not think there would be any further decline in values, but he thought it was very doubtful whether there would be much activity for some time to come. There had, in his opinion, been too much speculative building and the best thing that could happen would be for builders to suspend further building for a year or so. Real estate activity was very largely dependent on the prosperity of general business, and there would, in his opinion, have to be a more emphatic and complete resumption of manufactures and internal commerce than was now in prospect before there could be much resumption of real estate activity. He thought the tariff agitation in Congress was the great and insurmountable drawback to a resumption of business, and it was too much to hope that it would be settled in time to avoid the loss of another full season's activity. Mr. Coykendall thought, with reference to the districts around the bridge entrance and ferry landings, that property in those localities was the best paying in Brooklyn, and that it was entering upon a period of reimprovement which would not end until the older buildings had all been removed and new buildings—tenements chiefly, and factories with some improved apartment houses, were erected in their places. This species of operation he thought would pay well, but later on—not just yet. In common with all other good citizens he hoped much from the Schieren reform administration, but he believed the burden which the old political gang had put upon the city was so onerous that the benefits of the Schieren administration would hardly become apparent for a year or more.

The Building Material Exhibition.

No one who has ever visited the Building Material Exhibition, conducted by THE RECORD AND GUIDE, at Nos. 276 to 282 Washington street, Brooklyn, could have failed to be impressed with the extent, variety and beauty of the goods there exhibited. In the blending of the general display a glance through the great hall reveals a highly attractive and picturesque interior. Obviously, to the architect and builder, as well as to the individual contemplating building, a permanent exhibition of this practical character offers positive and manifold advantages. Parties seeking information concerning constructive interior finishing and equipment goods will be well repaid by a visit to the exhibition. There are many interesting novelties on view, some of them but lately added; and others will soon be in position. In fact the exhibition presents a carefully-selected material market of large proportions, spread out in a large, well-lighted and handsome hall, central of location and easy of access. The exhibition is permanent, open all day and free to everybody.

A Brooklyn Boomer on Consolidation.

HE THINKS BROOKLYN WOULD BRING MORE REAL CAPITAL TO THE NEW METROPOLIS THAN NEW YORK WOULD—SOME PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

The marriage of the cities begins to assume the aspect of a serious probability when THE RECORD AND GUIDE, in behalf of New York, raises the question as to the bride's dowry. Father Knickerbocker is accustomed to make commerce of even his most sacred things, so this forehanded prudence was perhaps to have been expected of him. He has it, doubtless, by inheritance from his Dutch ancestry. He was a well-grown boy when Brooklyn come into being, and has all through the years and until recently lorded it like a bully over his little next-door neighbor. Now that the advantages of an alliance with Brooklyn begin to be apparent to him—is really indispensable if he is to retain his supremacy among the cities of the western world—he wants to know how the transaction will affect his pocket!

Well, Brooklyn would not be natural if she did not respond in some measure to New York's overtures, and her sponsors feel that if the question of dowry is the only one in the way, the marriage will doubtless take place—"in the autumn."

You say: "During the last campaign it was clearly shown in the New York Times that taxes in Brooklyn are much heavier than in New York, and are based upon a much higher valuation of property. Some part of this is undoubtedly due to political dishonesty and inefficiency, but it seems to us no economy, consistent with efficient government, could ever bring taxes in Brooklyn as low as they are in New York. As a consequence, it seems to us 'consolidation' cannot but mean higher taxes for New York and, if it does mean this, we do not think the New Yorker will be very enthusiastically in favor of it."

Your apprehension would most likely be overcome by an agreement that Brooklyn should continue to find herself in millinery and gowns, and should pay her proportion of the expenses of the dual establishment, which, it is generally supposed, would be somewhat less than the combined cost of the two separate establishments. But, setting aside for the present this perfectly practicable solution of the question, it is maintained on the part of Brooklyn that she would bring a larger measure of intrinsic and prospective wealth to the joint establishment than New York would or could. When the proper time comes for it I shall be glad to give you demonstration of this claim. For the present I wish only to answer your specific charge.

Doubtless, from the point of view you and the New York Times have heretofore taken of the subject, you are substantially correct. But the conclusions that have heretofore been deduced from the manifest facts are altogether wrong. The wide disparity in the market values of New York and Brooklyn realty are irreconcilable, inconsistent and irrational. By all the laws that govern cost of production, use, increase, maintenance and availability, the market value of New York realty is altogether too high and of Brooklyn realty altogether too low. Take, for example, two pieces of property of the same general description, within forty-five minutes' travel by the most popular means of conveyance from a common centre, the one in New York and the other in Brooklyn. In order to be perfectly fair to New York, let the New York City Hall be taken as the central point. At forty-five minutes' distance from this central point in New York City you are in the vicinity of the 93d or 104th street station on the West Side elevated railroads, and of the 99th street station on the East Side lines. Here lots range in value about the $12,000 figure. You have water, gas, sewers, police and fire protection and public school facilities supplied by the municipality, and for which you are taxed the actual cost. You have such pavements as you pay for by special assessment.

At the same time distance from the New York City Hall in Brooklyn, you could, by the 5th avenue elevated railroad line reach Bay Ridge; by the Fulton avenue line reach East New York; by the Lexington avenue line reach Ralph avenue, and by the Myrtle avenue line and connections reach Ridgewood or Williamsburg. In fact, within the time limit mentioned the suburbs of Brooklyn could be reached at four different places. Every one of these lines traverses some section of the city that is quite as handsomely improved as any section of New York City along the lines of its elevated railroads. We have water, gas, sewers, fire and police protection, and public school service, supplied by the municipality, at cost. We have such pavements as we pay for. Some of them are quite as good as New York's best pavements.

Brooklyn has this advantage over New York in the matter of transit facilities, her elevated railroads afford seats to all passengers at nearly all times, and at even the busiest hours one can secure a seat by waiting for the next train. There is none of the brutal crowding that makes a daily spectacle and public outrage on your elevated railroads. Then, too, Brooklyn has dispensed forever with the antiquated, poky horse car system of street travel and has now the best system that modern science affords—the trolley system—in all her principal streets. It may not be as expensive as your cable roads, but neither is it so unreliable.

In what respect, then, has New York any advantage over Brooklyn? Why should the market valuations of New York City real estate be from five to ten times higher than those of Brooklyn for the same general class? A lot on the West Side—the residence section of the well-to-do business people of New York, near the 93d street station, costs at present market value about $12,000. It takes you 45 minutes to reach it by the ordinary means of travel. It is assessed for taxation at about $3,000, and you pay about $60 actual annual tax upon it. At equal time distance, by a more comfortable route, from the New York City Hall into any part of Brooklyn, you can buy lots of the same size at from $600 to $1,200, which are assessed at from $180 to $360, and upon which the actual tax is from $5 to $11 per year.

Why should there be this disparity between the market values of the two properties? True, your acres are more densely thronged, and you have more shops and markets and theatres, and things that generally conduce to more extravagant modes of life; but does that make your city any more desirable as a place of residence? Not to my taste, most assuredly. I can get at least five times as much of all that makes intrinsic value in a home, in Brooklyn, for my money than I can in New York, and be within equally easy access of my place of business. We are far ahead of you in natural advantages. New York City, as I well know, has been greatly endowed by nature. The views along the Harlem upper reaches, and from Washington Heights towards the Palisades, and from the Riverside Park and about Hunt's Point are beautiful. No other city in the Union, save Brooklyn, has anything to equal them. But they are less easy of access even to most New Yorkers, and are fragmentary and insignificant in comparison with the sublime panorama of nature and human arts that is spread out before the dweller on the hills of Brooklyn.

From one point within 500 feet of my house I have within the range of natural vision the Atlantic Ocean, Jamaica Bay, Rockaway and Coney Island beaches, the Atlantic and Navesink Highlands, Sandy Hook, Gravesend Bay and the Lower Bay, with a broad expanse of farm lands, orchards and villages in the foreground in view on one side, and on the other side Staten Island with its hills dotted with glistening villages, the Upper Bay with a constantly changing marine panorama, reflecting on its bosom the ever-varying moods of the winds and skies, the distant New Jersey shore with its string of cities and villages and the Orange hills beyond, the many-peopled cities of Brooklyn and New York, with some of their recent buildings aspiring and yet not able to shut out the view of the Palisades beyond them, the shipping of the Brooklyn docks, the towers and skeleton-like spans of the Brooklyn Bridge, and nearer by the green sylvan slopes of Prospect Park and Greenwood. Few New Yorkers are acquainted with the sublime land and marine views that are obtainable from the crest of Sunset Hill, in the West End of Brooklyn, or of the equally grand views to be had from Prospect and Ridgewood Heights—else there had been no such disparity in the relative market values of New York and Brooklyn realty.

It seems to me that New York realty is blown and puffed and boomed preposterously out of all reasonable relation to other values—and that THE RECORD AND GUIDE, more than any other New York newspaper, is responsible for it. On the other hand, Brooklyn's innate modesty has deprived her of a just and equitable appreciation of her real merits. Time will rectify—is already rectifying this. Brooklyn is growing at a faster rate than New York, and having better advantages in that direction will continue to grow when New York shall have reached the limit of her possibility (for lack of rapid transit). Manufactures are rapidly increasing, and must continue to increase, because Brooklyn has a more liberal and available water front, with easier and cheaper transportation than New York, and, what is of more importance still, cheaper land. Brooklyn's prospects are illimitable, whereas New York is already chafing against her natural bounds.

But, after all, it is a mistake to treat of these cities as two separate and independent communities. They are to all practical intents and purposes one community—have been so from the beginning, New York began to overflow and spread out and grow over Long Island in a perfectly natural and usual way when the Long Island lands became a little less difficult of access than the suburbs of the upper part of the island. As the means of communication between them have been provided, the tendency to grow toward Long Island has increased. Nothing can now stop it. People have found that there is profit in providing New York business men and women with means of transportation to their homes in Brooklyn, and that will lead to greater facilities than we have now. The bridge was a great practical boon to both cities—another and larger and better bridge will do even more to hasten the inevitable union of the cities. But transportation will not be what it should be until the resident of Brooklyn can take his seat in a car—above ground or underground, I don't care which—and be transported without change to any part of New York City.

No, Mr. Editor, New York does not stand to lose a single denier by a union with Brooklyn. We pay no more for public improvements, supplies and protection than you do. We have been a long time patient, with a bad gang of political parasites; but, as you know, have recently gotten rid of them. We believe that all the conditions are favorable to an early and extensive advance in the market values of Brooklyn realty—which will place us more nearly on a par with New York in this respect. We believe a union with New York will be more in accordance with the natural evolution and growth of the metropolis, than was the adoption into New York City of the 23d and 24th Wards. Did not the same objection hold against the assimilation of that group of scattered villages with the metropolis, that you now raise against the inclusion of Brooklyn? And has New York suffered any in purse or prestige by that act? And, as to politics, wouldn't you like to change your Gilroy administration for our Schieren administration?

Don't you think the police supervision would be better if it was extended over the whole metropolitan district—and cheaper too? Wouldn't a better general government result from a consolidation of the two establishments? Wouldn't you think, too, that your much-vexed rapid transit question would trouble you less if you could view with equal complacency the development of the city—the greater New York City—toward the ocean as well as toward the mainland? Brooklyn would unquestionably gain by the interest which the real estate and building promoters of New York would then take in the new "annexed district," and if the rivalry of separate interests were extinguished in this union, the "Greater New York" would be by even so much the greater. SUNSET HILL.

SALE OF INFANTS' REAL ESTATE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer me the following question: My father died some time ago, without a will, leaving ten houses and seventeen vacant lots. He also left a wife and seven children, two of whom are under eighteen years of age. The income of the houses is about $2,000 gross and about $800 net. My mother feeling that this sum is insufficient to keep her, and the carrying of seventeen lots for eight years until my brother is twenty-one is unnecessary, would like to be advised what steps of procedure she should adopt to dispose of some of the estate?

Answer.—Upon petition she can apply to the Supreme Court for leave to sell the real estate. As the procedure is very technical it will be necessary to employ a lawyer.—LAW EDITOR.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

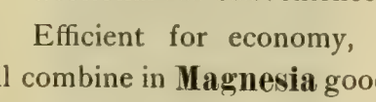
BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

NEW YORK.

BRICKS.—Conditions do not change in any important particular. Supplies are plenty and demand is light, but the line of value stands right up to the former level, and it may be proper to call it a steady market. It would, however, be much healthier were the natural run of trade acting as a support, instead of the combination of manufacturers who have fixed an arbitrary schedule valuation at $5.75@$6. Since our last some North River stock has sold at a fraction below those figures, but in doing so gradually cleared up the outside lots, and left only such supply as could be controlled by orders from headquarters. Some few offerings of Jerseys are making, but sellers naturally harden their views on value for anything that is at all useful. Arrivals from the river have been diminishing somewhat, but no greater quantity was needed, as the average accumulation here, including the tied up and covered lots, has been from eighty-five to one hundred barge loads, say 20,000,000 to 25,000,000, and in the face of the very indifferent demand it makes quite a nice little bunch of brick. So far as can be learned, new work is almost unheard of at the moment, and it looks as though operators would be held off until well toward spring, wherever it can be found possible to do so.



LATH.—Indications of last week have been verified and the market is a fraction easier. Arrivals down to present writing have not become excessive, yet there were quite as many of them as the market required, with some surplus, and the advantage went to the buyer with sales at from $2.10 down to $2 per M, and the close was not over firm. It looks as though sellers were meeting with some disappointment in their calculations upon the anxiety of dealers, and had a slight fear of rather fuller supplies than can be comfortably handled unless the interest of buyers increases.

LIME.—There is nothing new, and what is called a market is only worthy of notice for purpose of maintaining the sequence of record. Eastern product, with the exceptions previously noted, remains under control, comes along slowly and can only be reached at the rates fixed by the combine, and while outside makes can, if so determined, be sold at a shading, there seems no policy in cutting now. It is simply a well-held position, with light demand, balanced by light offerings.

LUMBER—The situation of the old time artisan endeavoring to make bricks withouth straw can be appreciated by any one attempting to frame up a lumber report. There are ossasional scraps of information regarding trading accomplished, but nothing of a cohesive character to bring together a solid general market, and altogether it is a nominal condition of affairs with both buyers and sellers standing off awaiting developments. As we have before suggested there is a feeling that possibly and even probably matters have passed their worst stage and that any change in the future must be for the better, but it would be both foolish and untruthful to claim that such change has as yet shown itself. Cautious methods have become too deeply rooted in the policy of both buyers and sellers to lead to any hasty movements, especially as it is felt that some financial contingencies have not yet become fully settled, and there is no doubt that the proposed tariff measures must remain as an unsettling factor until a final decision regarding the duty is reached. So far as trade has been accomplished in the way of distribution from yard, dealers are probably holding about former advantages. That does not exactly mean a positively steady tone because no such condition exists and every deal is priced according to its merits, but buyers secure no greater favors than they did two or three weeks ago and manifest no disposition to ask them. To meet the current outlet the supply does well enough just now, but there are no discoveries of unexpected accumulations in any of the yards and practically no important additions except a few arrivals coastwise in execution of old orders.

Reports of bulk lot business are now and then heard, and naturally almost entirely upon special orders for yellow pine and spruce, or such standards as box and shipping boards, although regarding the latter exporters are not finding the encouragement they had hoped for. The matter of prices agreed upon is as a rule found to be a very well kept secret, but as both buyers and sellers look wise and assume a tone apparently intended to indicate that they obtained some advantage it would seem fair to infer that prices have probably really undergone no change at all. Probably yellow pine is the weakest and most uncertain grade on the list, and there are intimations of a few cases of extremely low figures. White pine has steady indications, and most advices from primal points report winter stock as very well held. Recently published figures show that the Tonawanda movement last year embraced 30,000,000 feet lumber shipped by rail, and 216,117,000 feet by canal to Eastern destinations, and that quantity was taken from receipts of 460,605,000 feet, or about 66,000,000 feet less than previous year. There are said to be several very good-sized special bills on the market for spruce, but as the winter-working mill men have fair engagements in hand they are a little slow about negotiating. Poplar is said to be available to a considerable extent below the list rate for bulk parcels, but sellers asking pretty full figures for car lots. Hardwoods generally remain quiet at the moment and without special feature beyond reports from primal sources indicating a strong determination on part of both manufacturers and dealers at principal trading centres to make a stand for steady rates.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has been more or less unsettled and lacking the general strength of tone hoped for, through the formation of a combine intended to reduce the production and minimize the offerings. Outside lots have come upon the market with a considerable degree of frequency, and were offered at a shading from what has generally been looked upon as the regular rate. On the average range of valuation we quote at 10.20@10½c. for Lake and 9⅜@9⅞c. for casting brands. Manufactured copper has found fair sale, including some contracts for delivery along during the new year, but the business is not up to an ordinary mark, and buyers show an adhesion to the common cautious commercial policy of the times. We quote as follows: Sheet, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 22c.; do. 14 to 16 oz., 23c.; po. 12 to 14 oz., 24o.; do. 10 to 12 oz., 25c.; do. 8 to 10 oz., 28c.; do. under 8 oz., 30c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz., 2c. for 10@12 oz. and 3c. for 8@10 oz. segments and pattern sheets, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 4c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 5c. do. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottoms, 26@32c. per lb. IRON—American pig has changed in no important particular, a regular sort of demand prevailing, at times running up a little fuller proportions in order to make sure of certain favorite brands, but nothing of a speculative tendency showing itself, and with ample offerings former rates being readily accepted. On common grades there is now and then a shading. We quote at $14.00@14.50 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $13.00@13.50 for No. 2 X do., and $11.50@12.50 for Gray Forge. Old material does not secure much attention, and the moderate amount of business that can be brought to a culmination is successful only when sellers have consented to comparatively low rates. Supplies are believed to be much larger than openly offered. We quote at $12.00@13.50 for old iron rails; $10.00@11.50 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $11.50@12.50 for cast scrap; $12.50@13.00 for old car wheels, and $6.50@10.00 for borings, stove plate, etc. Manufactured iron and steel retained uncertain features. There are evidences that a number of lines of custom would not be unwilling to enter upon negotiations for special makes in way of structural assortments, yet hesitate to do so under financial uncertainty prevailing, and the majority of manufacturers have fewer orders booked than common at the time of the year. Valuations are nominally unchanged, and appear to gain no strength. We quote Beams up to 15-inch, 1.75@2c.; 20-inch, 2.10@2.25c. for round lots; Angles, 1.75@1.90c.; Universal Mill Plates, 1.70@1.90c.; Tees, 2@2.15c.; Channels, 1.80@2c. on dock. Steel plates are 1.65@1.90c. for Tank; 1.90@2.10c. for Shell; 2@2.15c. for Flange, and 2.50@2.80c. for Fire Box, on dock; Refined Bars are 1.60@1.90c. on dock, and Common, 1.45@1.60c. Steel rails seem to be considered in a steady position, and the rate settled upon under the newly formed combination are quite generally adhered to. Demand, however, is limited and uncertain for both repairs and new work, and so far as made public no important contracts have of late been perfected. We quote standard sections $24@25 per ton at mill, with usual advances for delivery at tide water. Pig lead on natural demand does not find much attention and buyers who would handle any considerable quantity of stock, it is suspected, could obtain comparatively easy terms. There is, however, a speculative element doing considerable missionary work in the effort to support the market and which now and then names some pretty full figures for valuation. We quote at 3.20@3.30c. per lb. The manufactures of lead are quoted at 6¼c. for Pipe, 7c. for Sheet, 15c. for Tin-lined Pipe, and 37½c. for Block Tin Pipe. Pig Tin has found less than the ordinary speculative attention and for purposes of actual consumption the quantity of stock handled is exceedingly small, operators generally being influenced into caution by the uncertainties regarding tariff legislation. Valuation basis has been somewhat uncertain with a tendency in favor of buyers. We quote at about 20.60@20.65c. for round lots, and 20¾@21c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plate meets with much less attention for future delivery than usual at this season of the year, notwithstanding the comparatively low basis at which goods could be placed, and the amounts taken for immediate use are also small and unimportant. Supplies available are quite equal to all wants, with holders generally willing to sell. We quote as follows: I. C. Charcoal, Melyn grade, $6.35@6.37½; Charcoal, Melyn grade crosses, $7.87½; I. C. Charcoal, Allaway grade, $5.60@5.62½; Allaway grade crosses, $6.75; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $7.37½@7.40; M. F. grade, 20x28, $14.75@14.80; Worcester, 14x20, $5.70@5.75; Worcester, 20x28, $11.35@11.40; Dean grade, 14x20, $5.35@5.37½; Dean grade, 20x28, $10.50@10.60; D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $5.15@5.20; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $10.10@10.12½; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $——@——; J. B. grade, 14x20, $5.30@5.35; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $5.60@—— basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares $5.65@—— basis. Spelter sells moderately and slowly, notwithstanding pretty easy rates and the market evidently is of an unsatisfactory character. Western operators seem more anxious to realize than those who control the supply in this locality. We quote $3.55@3.55c. for Common Western, according to brand.

NAILS.—General business does not improve. Cut nails meet with simply a demand of necessity, which is exceedingly unsatisfactory to manufacturers, and some of them would probably shade even present low rates to secure fuller orders from desirable custom. Wire nails are also dull for present delivery, but there are occasional reports of contracts making for the future upon the attraction of exceeding cheapness of goods. We quote Cut at $1.00@1.05 per keg for car lots and $1.20@1.25 per keg for parcels from store for iron, and add 3c. per keg for steel; Wire, $1.20@1.30 for car lots, and $1.60@1.65 from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Some business is going on in the way of perfecting contracts for staple goods upon basis of about ruling rates, and some engagements for quantity have been made with price subject to later decision as the only basis upon which buyers would negotiate. Still the general market does not show anything like the volume of trade and the interest among customers common at this season and there is a great deal of uncertainty about the chances. Manufacturers, therefore, still deem it quite judicious to move slowly in the matter of production, and the output of the various specialties being curtailed, demand for base materials naturally run in correspondingly narrow channels. Prices range much the same as for some time past, but quotations are only nominal. Corroders' quotations stand as follows: Lead in oil in kegs and dry lead in kegs in lots of less than 500 lbs., 7¼c. net; in lots of 500 lbs. to 5 tons at one purchase, 6⅞c.; 5 tons to 12 tons, one purchase, 6⅝c.; 12 tons and over, one purchase, 6½c. Lead in oil in 12½ lb. tin pails, add 1c.; in 25 and 50 lb. tin pails, add ½c.; and in 1 to 5 lb. tin cans, assorted (100 lbs. in case) add 2½c. per lb. to keg price. Terms on lots of 500 lbs. and over, note or acceptance at sixty days, or 2½ per cent discount will be allowed for cash paid within fifteen days of invoice date. To make either of the above required quantities any assortment of packages of white lead, red lead and litharge may be counted. The above quotations are free on board cars or boat at corroding point. Linseed Oil has about the usual trade demand with now and then a little extra order filled and average fluctuation in price without influencing the general range of valuation. Supplies appear ample but not excessive. We quote at 42@43c. for Western, 45@47c. for City from domestic seed, and 62@63c. for do. from Calcutta seed Spirits. Turpentine remains at just about the same valuation as last week but excellently well sustained in view of the strong conditions prevailing at primal markets. We quote at 29½@30½c. per gallon, according to quality, quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—The movement has been slow and unimportant. No outlet wanted much stock, there was little attraction for pressing trade, and affairs simply seemed to drift along awaiting a more propitious period for negotiation. Valuations are nominally unchanged. We quote Tar at $1.75@1.80 in pine or Wilmington bbls., $2.25@2.30 in pork bbls., and $3.25@3.30 in oil bbls.; Pitch $1.50@1.70.

VOL. LIII. JANUARY 13, 1894. No. 1,348

ALL that can be said for trade and finance is that they are no worse than they were a week ago. It being reasonable to suppose that after such a long spell of bad times better ones should be near at hand, it is also reasonable to suppose that business generally as well as the stock market is awaiting some incentive to an upward movement, something that will awaken people out of their suspicion or indifference. Regarding the stock market particularly there are many issues that are selling below their value under a fair prospect of better times, but that market continues to be overshadowed by an adverse influence of one kind or another. At the moment a fear for the condition of the national treasury has succeeded to the malign influence of the Wilson Tariff bill, which was the inheritor of the powers of depression of the Silver Purchase law. The administration has given notice to Congress of the true condition of affairs in the Treasury and has fallen back on its dignity, apparently considering that it has now nothing to do but await the action of the legislative body, no matter how business outside may be suffering thereby. A similar course was pursued toward the silver question; it was only after months of appeal and in the face of financial disaster that the President was induced to call Congress together to consider it. Is the Treasury deficiency question to drag on in the same way and until it produces similar results? So far as can be now seen an issue of bonds is the only remedy. If, as is stated, there is strong opposition to the issue of a new, low interest, short time bond most suitable to meet this particular case, the sooner the opposition is met the better, or if it is thought that such opposition is insurmountable, the Secretary of the Treasury should meet the difficulty under the powers he already possesses. The appearance of friction between the banks and the Treasury as a result of inactivity of the latter has a decided tendency to make the outlook less hopeful.

LOOKING abroad it is found that the investor in English railway shares is now curious to learn what effect the bad business of the last half of 1893 will have on the forthcoming dividends. As, however, the railway companies do not publish statements of net earnings oftener than twice a year, and then only when the dividends are declared, this is wholly a matter of conjecture. However, notwithstanding the great coal strike the losses of earnings are not so large as on the American lines. On the great English lines the average loss is 6.9 per cent, the highest loss being only 18.8 per cent, and that on a line directly affected by the coal strike. Some encouraging conclusions are drawn from the fact that the manufacture of pig iron has been comparatively light for two years past and that only a small working stock was left on hand at the close of last year. Agricultural reports in England are not at all satisfactory, but there is hardly a doubt that business is improving there, finding its incentive in the activity at the great naval stations, and is only kept within its present limits by the prospect of an early dissolution of Parliament and the underlying fear that trouble is brewing in India as a result of the condition of the currency there. In France, as in the United States, 1893 was a year of panics, commencing with the Panama disclosures, resulting in the withdrawal of $40,000,000 from the savings banks by small depositors and accompanied by an embarrassed national treasury. Customs reports shows that about $36,500,000 of gold was imported in excess of exports, with an increase of only about $400,000 at the Bank of France, consequently it is concluded that some hoarding is going on, though for what reason it would be very difficult to say, except that the cautious peasantry and bourgeoisie have got it into their heads that war is inevitable. In Germany the losses that have been made in foreign loans have affected confidence in the large banking agents who have been prominent in floating them to the extent of reducing quotations and the shares of other banks have declined in sympathy. Some of the large iron centres of the Empire are reported to be more active than they were a few weeks ago. General business, however, continues to be depressed by the discussion of the proposed commercial treaty with Russia and the probability that the Reichstag will refuse to sanction it by its vote, and for other well-known reasons. The Austrian government is said to contemplate not only the withdrawal of the one florin notes, but also of the five florin notes: This measure would give a large field for the use of the silver the government has accumulated for some years past. Vienna is likely to be kept in good condition by the execution of public works, of which many are proceeding, and to which is to be added an underground electric railroad. Australia has been put into a condition of ease by the better market for its loans in London, which enabled heavy January interests requirements to be met there without the remission of large amounts of gold, which the colonies could ill afford to send.

HOW long is the American investing public going to stand the impudence of the self-elected reorganization committee, of which the two latest are the gentlemen who put out announcements that they will condescend to protect the interests of the Atchison and St. Louis & San Francisco, or the St. Louis & San Francisco and Atchison security-holders, as the case may be. Of course there are two distinct committees, but, as the two most important names appear on both, they are practically one, which in the circumstances of the case they should not be. These gentlemen have no authority whatever for forming a committee, except what they may hereafter obtain by the acquiescence of the security-holders in their acts. They say that they have done it "at the request of large owners of bonds," but as the securities involved amount to hundreds of millions of dollars, they cannot have the consent of a sufficient amount to justify their position. There ought at least to have been a meeting of bondholders, called by public announcement, to give them an opportunity of judging the fitness and competency of the gentlemen proposed. As it is, these committees are nothing more or less than tricks to obtain trust company and other business, to say nothing of fees for services, etc. The attempt to introduce this method of "protecting" the holders of securities of bankrupt corporations is finding prompt resistance in London; but here it has become the custom to submit to the dictum of certain people in these matters, so that it is a general thing to hear bondholders hope that "they"—referring to these interests—will not do this, that or the other, as if the speakers were helpless and had no power whatever of making themselves heard. In the present case the constitution of the committees is not only without warrant, but is unsuitable, from the fact that the interests in the two cases are not the same. Atchison has been brought down by the weight of allied lines, particularly the St. Louis & San Francisco, so that its security-holders might very well ask that the allied lines shall bear the burden of the reorganization, which it cannot do very successfully through a Committee ostensibly representing their interests, but really as much concerned about the St. Louis & San Francisco bonds. However, this or any other particular instance aside, security-holders ought not to permit the continuance of the practice of any body of men, who choose to do so, constituting themselves a Committee of advice on reorganization, but to insist upon the introduction and maintenance of a system through which the interests, motives and intentions of their would-be protectors can become known and by which guarantees can be obtained that their particular interests and not some ulterior and personal design will be served.

THE determination of the Cleveland administration to push the Income Tax measure is a mistake certain to prove politically dear. We are not interested, however, in the political aspect of the matter. Our regret that an effort is to be made to re-establish this old and once discredited method of taxation arises from the fact that if the attempt be successful another statute for the promotion of dishonesty will be in force. It must be clear to everybody that the conditions which make our present personal property tax a farce and a disgrace will operate even more powerfully in the case of an income tax. It is a queer thing that those who are pushing this measure ignore our past experience. The revenue obtained from the old income tax was a decreasing one, in spite of the rapid increase of national population and wealth, and yielded the Government what was practically the minimum amount at the moment when it was abolished. No doubt an income tax is a wise and equitable method for raising Governmental revenue, but the sentiment of a people has to be considered in all wise legislation, and a theoretically admirable law is practically a very bad one if it clashes with public feeling and produces wholesale perjury and corruption. We have pointed out more than once in these columns a method of taxing incomes which, we believe, would be unobjectionable. A tax upon rents would reach everybody's pocket in proportion to its contents. This system is in force in France and works admirably. It is strange that it has not recommended itself to the administration.

The Dearest Article We Buy.

IT could easily be shown that upon the whole the American pays more for what he buys than anybody else under the sun. From national and municipal affairs down to the smallest private requirement that has to be satisfied with the preliminary of a cash payment no nation gets so little for its money as we Americans do. We are poor marketers, shiftless and thoughtless spenders.

There is one particular commodity, however, which possibly we as a nation buy at a higher price than any other article which we purchase wholesale. It is experience. The exorbitant figures that we give for the commonest fragment of this stuff, offered in so many markets and so freely everywhere, are ridiculous. Take, for instance, the cleaning of our streets. How stupendous is the sum this country expends annually in finding out how this common necessary service ought not to be done. Yet how abundant and how cheap is the right experience. There are scores of great cities which offer it to us for nothing. For another handy example there is the Rapid Transit problem in New York. Could the figures be arrived at, it would be instructive to calculate how many millions the Metropolis is paying to find out that it cannot possibly obtain the service its condition demands from a dummy commission, a parcel of politicians and the "influence" of the Manhattan Railroad. By and by, the measure of our experience will be complete, pressed down, running over. Then we shall figure up how much, how very much it and our gilt-edged regrets have cost us. Or consider for a moment how expensively we went to work to get experience eighteen months ago when we were threatened with an invasion of cholera. There was an ample supply of cheap effective knowledge as to how to protect ourselves from the scourge, obtainable in a dozen good markets, but we ignored it all. We trusted instead to Jenkins and to antiquated methods of quarantine which, but for supreme good luck, would have cost us perhaps many thousands of lives, and no one can hypothetically calculate how much money. So we proceed with the greater part of our affairs, and certain it is that but for our enormous natural resources we would have bankrupted ourselves long ago.

Mr. David A. Wells has made an attempt to estimate how much it has cost us to find out the fact demonstrated by medieval experience, that it is ruinous for a nation to debase its currency. He calculates that the recent panic, resulting from unscientific experiments with silver, entailed a national loss of certainly one thousand millions of dollars. We cannot accept, with any very great certainty, figures necessarily so problematic as figures like these must be, that purport to represent a multitude of facts so remote from the statistician's paper as those that made up the panic of last summer. At best, Mr. Wells' estimate is a rough generalization which reasonably means that the country lost very heavily by the confusion into which its commercial affairs was precipitated by crude, notional, and in some degree selfish experimentation with Silver. The events of last summer furnish another example of how dearly this country pays for its experience. We know now that the fire burns, and though of course we cannot regard our currency as permanently fixed, it is certain that in the future changes and experiments will be made with infinitely more caution and circumspection than ever in the past. We shall question more closely than we did monetary theories evolved in Colorado mining camps and amid conditions prevalent in Kansas boom-towns. We may even come to disagree with Senator Stewart, that to commune with Nature in the Wild West is a better way to acquire a stock of sound economic doctrine than to study the history of the world's experience with money.

But, as Mr. Wells preaches, the teaching of our recent economic disturbance will produce little fruit if we confine ourselves merely to one lesson and isolate our experience to the little cirele of events which culminated in last year's panic. Our instruction must be given a wider range. Fully one-half of the political questions which we discuss and vote upon involve economic principles. The other half, one might add, are matters of morals. Now, unfortunately for us, the ballot is not a sufficient instrument for economic research, and the laws which govern finance and commerce are no more to be established or changed by party victory at the polls than the laws which govern the vital functions of the human body. We may decide by an overwhelming majority that the foreigner pays the customs duties, that intrinsic value can be determined by Congress howsoever that learned body pleases; but if the hard fact is not strictly in accord with Democratic or Republican theory we are merely going to the most expensive market in the world for a demonstration of the truth. The curse of this country, in matters of prime concern which need for proper determination, careful judgment, scientific training and a thorough knowledge of the world's experience, is that every ignoramus, fool or crank has a voice. Every individual whose ignorance has been made active by a common school education (terminated when he was in his teens) and by the ferment produced by voluminous reading of cheap newspaper clap-trap considers himself equipped like a Nestor to preside at the nation's councils and pass ready judgments upon questions before which the wise hesitate. In political matters, mere cerebration is regarded as the full equivalent of sound thinking and judging. Especially in a country where democratic government prevails the polls should be reached only through the school and the university, and the more nearly synonymous or equivalent these two words are the better. No nation in the world needs as ours does "instruction in the fundamental and generally accepted principles of political economy," because in no nation as in ours are the people so frequently called upon to pass judgment upon questions which involve the fundamental and generally accepted principles of political economy. We heartily agree with Mr. Wells that political economy, meaning the lessons to be learned from the multitudinous experiments of the past, should be advanced to a higher position than it now holds in our educational system, and that the study of it "should be made imperative (attractive also, as it can be) on all students above a certain age and of fair mental capacity," and should be regarded as an essential of good citizenship. Were this suggestion adopted, this country would not be keeping company as at present with a multitude of cranks, blatherskites and demagogues. The wild theories that fly across the land at the sitting of every Legislature would retreat to their habitat in Western nooks and crannies (where, like other wild game, they would in time become extinct) and to obscure places in the East. The newspapers would print less, but say more. The country would be more at peace with sanity and reason, more in harmony with the teachings of human experience. Though, no doubt, mistakes would be made, they would be less frequent than at present, and the nation would not be constantly in the dearest market for elementary knowledge of the commonest matters.

WE have been compelled in recent years to hear a great deal about labor producing wealth, and there are doubtless a great many persons in the world, taught in the popular school of economics, who really believe that all the capital extant is an exclusive product of labor. But these are times to open the eyes of the blind. There are a great many more pins than holes just now; and if labor is so skillful at the production of capital it should set itself diligently at work boring new holes and furnishing places for these supernumerary pins. Its hands are multiform and well nigh countless. They are found reaching out for the provender of five cent restaurants, clutching for old clothes at eleemosynary distributing stores, and many thousands too many are even extended for charity at all hours of the day and night on the public streets. This seems like a very poor occupation for the collective digits that create wealth, and it leads to the impression that either their activities must be very badly directed or that there is a mistake somewhere which labor would find it to its advantage to discover and correct. There is a very serious mistake. The business man looks upon interest as more largely than anything else the creator of capital, and we may be sure that the business man is right. The amount of available capital in the world is measured by the excess of income over operative and living expenses, and when there is no longer such an excess men find that they are trying to walk on air. Then panic comes. Would it not be well for labor to stop trying to create capital by muscular exertion and look into this matter a little? It has a very large income, very much larger than that of any other social force. Yet it never seems to suggest itself to the laborer that he might contribute to the capital in use much more directly than he can contribute by his unaided hands. The hands are all right; but they must be directed by the brains. Is this talking in riddles? Well, perhaps so. We hardly expect to instruct the world very profoundly in a paragraph; but we present the riddle for the temporary employment of labor. It is working on half time now. It has abundant leisure for guessing, and if it can find out a way through which it may really and truly become a contributor to capital, it may be possible that the soup kitchens can be turned into at least ten cent restaurants, if not into the Delmonicos of the future.

WHEN it comes to a question of practical means for aiding the distress it must appear to every thinking person that the city authorities have it in their hands to contribute very largely to this end by carrying out some of the many improvements for which plans have been made and to some of which we referred last week. As we then pointed out, from a business point of view alone, this would be a good move. Private enterprise is unable at the moment to carry on its ordinary business undertakings in the volume necessary to prevent distress and cannot, of course, undertake great works because the necessary preliminary laws could only be obtained at rates that would be prohibitive. With the city this is not so. It would probably not be able to borrow on quite the terms that it has been accustomed to do, but the small additional percentage, probably fractional only, it would have to pay for its money would be offset over and over again by the lessened cost of labor and materials. If any sensible course had been taken in the matter of rapid transit to put the city in a position to carry out the work itself on the failure of other ways of securing it, this work might now be begun with the greatest advantage to the community in many respects and particularly in providing work for the people who now need it. Help extended in this way would benefit the giver and receiver and have a reason and dignity about it that cannot be claimed for plans which include wood chopping or stone breaking such as have been adopted in other cities and cannot reach any but the class immediately above the professional pauper and below the day laborer. Such expedients belong of right to charities that seek to raise the depraved, but ought to have no place in the arrangements of a great municipality to meet an emergency such as is now confronting every great city in the country.

AMIDST much earnest talk and work on behalf of the needy unemployed there is also heard the cry of the man who in such emergencies as that which now confronts us is always found sitting in the highway calling on those who would help to desist, because nothing that they can do will be wholly free of mischievous results to society. If such a cry had any force it would paralyze all effort toward progress. Unfortunately, nothing we undertake to do is without injury to the few, however advantageous to the many, whether it is the building of a bridge, the making of a railroad, or canal, cutting a tunnel, or any other great work; they all call for a penalty in life and limb. It is true that when a great calamity falls upon a community and measures are taken to at least mitigate the suffering it brings some who are not hurt and not needy, in meanness of spirit and exuberance of greed creep in to get and do get help that was intended for a more definite destination and are made meaner and poorer souled by the ease with which they obtain gratuitous additions to their means. But shall it be said that because the very small minority of the people who make up the undeserving, indigent class, at the end of a few months find their ranks enlarged by an additional tramp or two, no help shall be given to the army of people who are needy not because they are naturally idle or depraved but because they are the victims of a commercial calamity? Looking at the extreme duty of the public from a humanitarian point of view, this is no time for sociological discussions of the academic sort. The thing to do is to organize for help. What is the best solution of the question, how to abolish poverty, can be discussed later on. There is no hurry about it; it has been under discussion for all recorded time, and in the beginning of the Christian era was in a sense abandoned, for then it was said: "The poor ye will always have with you." All civilized society has agreed that death by exposure or starvation is too severe a penalty even for the sin of professional idleness or depravity, by making provision of some sort for the shelter and sustenance of even the most dissolute criminal and depraved. So that with an army of destitute unemployed, whose condition is a result of the times and a positive inability to get employment, there should be now only one consideration, how can relief be obtained and how best administered?

The College Place Improvement.

FINAL REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS—THE AWARDS REDUCED BY $143,525.

The Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment in the College Place Opening matter have at last completed their report upon the recommittal ordered by Judge Lawrence, and filed it with the Commissioner of Public Works as required by law. As indicated in THE RECORD AND GUIDE three weeks ago, they endeavoured to meet Judge Lawrence's objection by merely scaling down both the awards for the property taken and the assessments upon the portions remaining along the line of the improvement. The sum total of the awards is $1,388,057.87, against $1,531,582.84 found by the first report—a reduction of $143,524.97. The total assessment will be $1,412,409.26, of which the city pays, as owner, $17,268.92, and in accordance with the agreement with the property-owners, one-half of the balance, or $697,570,17, leaving an equal amount to be levied on the benefited area. None of the assessments on property off the line of the improvement have been changed by the new report.

HOW ARE YOU ASSESSED THIS YEAR?

Taxpayers in this city are advised that the assessment lists for the current year are now open and ready for inspection in the Department of Taxes and Assessments. The Board says in its notice:

"All persons believing themselves aggrieved must make application to the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments, at this office, during the period said books are open, in order to obtain the relief provided by law.

"Applications for correction of assessed valuations on personal estate must be made by the person assessed to the said Commissioners, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 2 P. M., except on Saturdays, when between 10 A. M. and 12 M., at this office, during the same period."

"Model" in All But the Management.

WHY THE LARGEST UNDERTAKING IN THE WAY OF CORPORATE IMPROVEMENT OF REAL ESTATE IN THIS CITY HAS PROVEN SUCH A DISMAL FAILURE.

If any one were asked to indicate the most novel and prominent feature of the real estate and building operations of this city during the last three years, the only answer he could rightly make would be, the increasing tendency toward co-operative operations. Within the period mentioned a large number of corporations have been formed, under the laws of this State, most of them, for the purpose of buying, improving and selling real estate. The motive, in most instances, has been to enable a number of individuals to join, with limited liability for all, in an enterprise or enterprises larger than any one of them cares to handle singly. The real estate interests of this city have taken kindly to all such efforts, as they do to all movements that tend toward the improvement and development of properties.

People who like to see a lively real estate market have observed this tendency with approval and have encouraged it and spoken of its manifold advantages to others. Theoretically, no objections of more than trivial character have ever been adduced against such operations, and the large majority of them—indeed, so far as is generally known, all of them, save one, have been so successful that every few weeks has seen some new one incorporated. But that one solitary exception has been characterized as the most stupendous failure as a business venture that was ever known to the real estate improvement industry in this city. Since it is always quoted in arguments upon the subject, as an illustration of the hazards and chances of failure that are supposed to attend such ventures, it would seem to be eminently proper to inquire into the case, and to ascertain, if possible, what were the causes of its failure, in order that similar faults might in future be avoided.

The enterprise which figures in real estate discussions in this negative and disappointing way, is the blocks of Model Houses, in 138th and 139th streets, between 7th and 8th avenues, that were built by David H. King, Jr., nominally for himself but really for the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Every real estate broker and most people who have been looking for homes in this city during the last two years are more or less familiar with the enterprise. Generally speaking, the plan was scientific in its conception, was worked out by architects and builders of the highest standing, and in the beginning and until some time after the houses were completed and put with brave ceremonies upon the market, betrayed no signs of weakness. The majority of real estate experts were agreed that no large real estate enterprise was ever put through in this country under more favorable auspices, and they would have hazarded considerable on their belief in its emphatic success—and, yet, it stands in the records as a colossal failure, and as such is a deterrent of similar enterprises.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society were the promoters of the enterprise. They owned the blocks upon which the houses were built, and still own them, with some of the adjoining blocks. They were constantly confronted with the question what to do with the property. They considered several propositions and rejected them, and finally, about three years ago, entered upon the project which now stands completed in all details—except the disposition of the houses. Architects of the highest standing prepared the plans for the subdivision of the property and the construction of the houses. Bruce Price, James Brown Lord, and McKim, Mead & White are represented in the designs of the houses. The construction was entrusted to David H. King, Jr., in whose name the enterprise was conducted. Mr. King gave personal supervision to the mason work, rough carpentry and plumbing, and these parts of the work were executed in the most substantial and satisfactory manner. The interior finish and trim, which was poorly done, was sub-contracted to a Philadelphia firm. Only the main stories were finished in hardwood, the rest being stained imitation. Some of this woodwork looks now as if it had been put in green, and had since shrunk and warped, not a great deal, but enough to show poor workmanship. Some other criticisms, of little importance, have been made, such as that some of the doorways ought to have been larger, and that the iron railings on the stoops were cheaper than should be for buildings of their pretensions.

The houses and the enterprise in general were designed to attract a high class of investors and residents. The houses are referred to in an elaborate prospectus as "homes for professional and business men who appreciate the best and who can pay reasonable prices for it." The same prospectus says: "The architectural design is simple, yet harmonious. There is no monotony or baldness. Each house is set back from the street 12 feet. The long front, from avenue to avenue, is broken up by cross streets and another street runs at right angles the entire length of the block, as in Philadelphia, so as to give access to the rear of each house for grocery wagons and ash carts, and thus permit the 'business' part of housekeeping to be kept out of sight. These cross streets are not mere alleys, but broad enough for two wagons to pass, and are smoothly asphalted and closed by ornamental iron gates. The yards are inclosed with brick walls with handsome copings. The angles where the interior streets meet are rounded and the rear outlook (from the houses) is sightly and pleasing, with fountains and flowers at the intersections of the cross streets." All of this is found to be fully sustained by the present condition and appearance of the property. Large numbers of house hunters have visited and inspected it, and have almost without exception expressed approval of the general plan of the subdivision by the cross streets and of the plans and external appearance of the houses. The interior finish has not pleased any of them, and the location has been generally condemned. But these were drawbacks that might have been offset by other advantages. All things considered the real estate interests are puzzled over the conundrum—Why have they not been sold? There are 130 of the houses, and but ten of them have been sold. Efforts directed towards their renting have resulted almost as poorly, only forty of them having been leased at rentals averaging about $900 per year.

No fault can be found with the manner in which they were placed before the public. They were extensively and elaborately advertised and large numbers of interested persons were led to investigate them. What, then, is the reason for the failure of the enterprise? First of all it must be said that the promoters blundered most deplorably in the matter of location. It is said in explanation of their choice in this respect that the society had owned the property a few years and were not only deriving no income from it, but were under large expense for taxes and assessments every year. That is hardly an answer, however, to the criticism. They might have improved the property in a manner which would have returned them a fair income upon the investment. Any other owner would have been influenced in the selection of the improvements of such a property by the character of the structures in the vicinity, and by the openly and publicly manifest tendency of the residence movement. Had they done so, they would never have placed a group of houses designed for well-to-do people in such a ocation. The environment is as destructive to dwelling houses as the cannon at Balaklava were to the devoted six hundred. Flats to the right of them, flats to the left of them, flats in front of them, and factories and elevated railroad yards and coal bunkers behind them, constituted an environment in which such an enterprise could succeed only as an everlasting example of the thing not to do.

The location is too remote from the business centre to attract people who have to do business down town, and who want to be within reach of the best churches, theatres, hotels and clubs. It might be said in answer that the houses were not designed for society people or for people bound by hours to their daily employment. For whom were they then designed? For the retired leisure class? People who choose their homes without reference to their accessibility from the centres of business usually require surroundings and outlooks with some claim to natural beauty. The view from the King Model Houses is not altogether devoid of these. In one direction the car yards and coal bunkers of the elevated railroad impart a metropolitan aspect to the landscape; in another Convent Hill is in view, with the elevated railroad sharply outlined in the foreground, and with suggestions of the Hudson and the Palisades beyond; in the other directions streets richly paved and curbed with granite blocks and walled in with towering flats leave no room for doubt that the district is part of the great City of New York. The imagination has lots of things to play with; in summer it can wonder how much cooler it must be on the high ground beyond the elevated railroad, on Convent Hill and Washington Heights, or whether the Sunday stroll would be better up past the car yards towards the Macomb's Dam Bridge, or beyond the elevated railroad to Washington Heights, or down through the flat region to Central Park. It can vary this line of thought with inquiring why it is that it always takes so much longer than schedule time to get down and up town on the "L" road, and how long it will be before the long-promised rapid transit railroad will be built?

But this objection might have been overcome if house-buyers could have found anything in the prices to attract them. If the company had been alive to its opportunity and had been content with "Creating a Neighborhood," at a moderate and reasonable profit, there is every reason to believe that the enterprise might have been fully successful from the beginning. In the conditions governing the real estate market at the time, people were justified in expecting that these houses ought to sell at from $4,000 to $8,000 less than similar houses were selling for in the 70's, on the West Side. That would have been just about half the difference in the prevailing market values of the lots and would have allowed nearly twice the usual margin of profit. According to these figures, the houses should have been placed on the market at from $14,000 for the smaller to $26,000 for the larger and more expensively finished of them. These prices would have allowed a reasonable profit and might have been advanced after a sufficient number of houses had been sold to insure the success of the enterprise. But the company had other ideas. They demanded $18,000 for the inside 17-foot houses on the north side of 138th street and the south side of 139th street, and $26,500 for the 20-foot corner houses on the same block. The American Basement houses on the north side of 139th street, 18.2, 19 and 19.2 front and 51.10 deep, were fixed at $23,000 and $24,000. The houses on the south side of 138th street 21.1 and 22 feet wide x 56.8 and 58.8 deep, were placed at $28,000 for the inside and $34,000 for the corners, 23x58.8. These prices seem to have been fixed upon because they were the prevailing prices for houses of similar size, but from two to three miles nearer the business section and in a residence neighborhood. Of course, the King houses could not compete on those terms.

Some time after the failure of the first effort to sell (through the medium of a special resident agent) the houses were placed in the hands of one of the most experienced and successful brokers in the city, with small concessions in the prices; that is, they were nominally placed in his hands, but really he was bereft of the usual power given to an agent under such circumstances, and was forced to refer all offers to an officer of the company who was "financing" the affair. He sold a few of the houses, but found the task of placing all of them beset by difficulties beyond his power to master. His judgment of the financing of the enterprise was set forth in a letter to President Henry B. Hyde, of the Equitable Assurance Society, which reads as follows:

"We predicate this letter by stating that it is not intended to cast any reflection upon any one in the employ of your society, for we think their intentions were as earnest as ours, only we differed in our principles of so grand a Real Estate Transaction, neither is it written with any expectation on our part of any employment or position from your society.

"Before relinquishing the sale of the King Model Houses we wish to express our views more fully than we had time to do at our last interview, which you so kindly granted.

"The failure of the selling of the King Model Houses was owing to the management and prices asked from the beginning, and was not the fault of the construction of the property.

"We commenced the selling of small private houses on the 'West Side,' at from $15,000 to $18,000, seven years ago. The same houses are selling to-day at from $22,000 to $25,000. The majority of the sales were made owing to the fact that the first few who bought made a profit, and they brought their friends, which created a market.

"A year ago when the King houses were put on the market we received the price from your society and were asked to take the sale of the King houses, and wrote a letter to your society, stating that if you intended to adhere to the prices that were then put upon the property it would be a failure, which has been proven. Last summer when we were asked if we wanted to take the management of the selling of the property we replied in writing that if the price was started at $15,000 we believed, at that late day, it could still be made a success; we were over-persuaded by your society to start them at between $16,000 and $17,000, and the great mistake we made was consenting to take the management at that price, for during the whole month of October we had about thirty bona fide offers of $15,000, showing that by our advertising we brought the trade there, and had our judgment been acted upon we would have had thirty interested parties working with us, instead of which we have those that have bought working against us and regretting their purchase.

"It is not difficult to build 150 houses, but it is entirely another matter to create a neighborhood and sell them judiciously, particularly when the location is remote and the surroundings not attractive to house-owners.

"As for the management of the selling of your houses, which our contract called for, we never had it; for after we made the first sale your society gave us positive orders not to make any sale without first consulting. We had the price to sell at and if a party had offered us the price we could not have closed on the spot. * * * * Three purchasers, a prominent real estate broker in Harlem and many others said that we would not make a success of the King houses unless we were left alone. We were not interfered with in the advertising and we had on an average 250 people visiting the houses every Sunday, to say nothing of week days, and one of our firm was always on the premises on that day.

"If you conclude to rent all the property it will materially interfere with the sale, and in our judgment you will be surprised at the few who purchase after they have leased one of the houses and you will not realize more than 2 per cent net on the cost of the property."

All told, nine of the houses have been sold, to persons who under all the circumstances are subjects for real sympathy, and about forty have been rented at about $900 per year each. There is now over three years' interest and taxes and cost of maintenance to add to the original cost of the houses, which can hardly be said to have improved in the meantime, if even they have not degenerated. Now, too, the market for such property is in the worst shape it has been in for years, and the opportunity for a successful sale of the houses, such as there was during 1891 and 1892, will not be seen again for some time, if ever. This it is that makes the failure of the enterprise so complete.

If these blocks of houses had been located west of the elevated railroad and on high ground where the temperature in summer is not so trying and where the prevalence of flats has not marked the district for tenement uses, and if the customs of the real estate market had been followed in their sale there is no one who doubts but that the enterprise would have been attended with success. The things which distinguish the King Model houses from other houses of their size and of equal cost of construction, are distinct improvements upon the common type. The designs are chaste and attractive, the plans very convenient and the workmanship in general all that could reasonably be expected. The interior and cross streets do certainly not diminish the value of the houses, and to our mind they add immensely to both their attractiveness and value. A rear entrance for the supply and service forces is a luxury withheld from the conventional New York town house and vouchsafed only to the fortunate owners of corner properties. And brick division walls are certainly better and more attractive than board fences.

Schemes of corporate improvement of real estate and of departure from stereotyped methods in residence construction ought not to be prejudiced or condemned because of the failure of the King Model Houses. Wherever the deviation from conventional lines does away with vulgar, inorganic ornamentation, and improves upon the bold, unfinished aspects of rear elevations and back yard arrangements, and dispenses with the expensive and unnecessary adjuncts, the deviation is in the direction of improvement and will receive the support of the public. The King Model Houses, located somewhere within the frontiers of the present residence section, and offered for sale upon terms which would afford a profit of from 15 to 20 per cent, would without doubt have proven a great success, not alone from the business standpoint, but from the artistic point of view as well. Even where they are they excel in plan and appearance any other two blocks of dwellings the city contains.

Legislation at Albany.

ALBANY, Jan. 12.—The Legislature's machinery got under motion this week with the appointment of the committees of the Senate and the Assembly. As a general thing these committees are well composed. Senator Saxton, the President pro tempore of the Senate, and Speaker Malby, of the Assembly, of course are accused of having surrendered the work of writing the committee lists to "Bosses," but this statement is untrue. Both Mr. Saxton and Mr. Malby are independent men, and behind the scenes they were for less yielding to the "Bosses" than perhaps the chief "Boss" would like to have them represented to have been. Both men stood out well against the putting of disreputable men in influential positions and as a consequence the committees are better than usual.

Senator Parsons, a former Mayor of Rochester, was made chairman of the Committee on Cities, and is therefore in a position to have considerable influence on city legislation. He is rather of a trimmer on political bills, but his record in the Legislature the past three years has been that of an honest man. The composition of the rest of the committee is good. Senator Reynolds, its second member, is a builder of Brooklyn, who, although only twenty-six years old, has made a fortune in the business. Senator Lamy, the third member, is a prosperous wholesale grocer from Buffalo. Senator Stapleton, the fourth member, is a lawyer of Morrisville, but is put on to represent Syracuse, which is in his district. Senator Robertson, the fifth member, is a manufacturer of Peekskill. Senators Ahearn and O'Donnell are from New York. One is a clerk and the other is an accountant.

With the exception of Hamilton Fish every member of the Assembly Committee on Cities lives in a city; and Mr. Fish practically lives in New York, as his law office and property are there. New York will have one representative upon the committee, James R. Sheffield, of the 11th Assembly District, who impresses one favorably. He is a young lawyer, and looks as if he had good judgment and courage; and it is known that he is free from entangling alliances. The other members are James E. Wells, of Syracuse, a real estate dealer; J. L. Whittet, a merchant, of Buffalo; John H. Burtis, a real estate dealer, of Brooklyn; James M. E. O'Grady, a lawyer, of Rochester; James Taylor, a lawyer, of Brooklyn; William M. Keenan, a lawyer, of Troy; Louis Davidson, a lawyer, of New York, and Cornelius Coughlin, a foreman of laborers, in Buffalo.

The session has begun with quite a flood of New York bills. One of them is a bill sweeping away the present Board of Police and substituting for it a Board consisting of two Democrats and two Republicans. Mayor Gilroy, in an interview a few days ago, said he favored such a "non-partisan" Board of Police as is constituted by the bill. Hence, there is a suspicion that there is an agreement between leading Democratic and Republican politicians for the passage of such a bill. One body of leading Republicans, however, it is known, rather distrust Mayor Gilroy and wish to pin him down to naming two eminent Republican citizens as Police Commissioners, in order to avoid the possibility of his appointing two disreputable Tammany Hall Republicans.

One singular feature of the political intrigue in progress regarding the Police Commissioners is that the bill legislating them out of office was not tendered to the three Republican Assemblymen from New York, Sheffield, Lawson and Robertson, but was taken to Howard Thornton, a Republican Assemblyman of Orange County. Mr. Lawson says that he is opposed to the bill. "I believe in single-headed commissions in New York," he said, "for the purpose of securing responsibility in government. If you have two men of each political party in charge of a city department you cannot determine responsibility; who is at fault if there are errors and who ought to be praised if the administration is a success."

The Senate Committee on Cities and the Assembly Committee on Cities both have charge of the Police Department. Their action upon the bill will be contemplated with a good deal of curiosity.

Two bills have been introduced for the consolidation of New York and Brooklyn. One comes from the Consolidation Commission, and provides for a gigantic Greater New York, composed of New York, Brooklyn, Richmond County, Long Island City and a big slice of Westchester and Queens Counties. The other bill was drawn up in Brooklyn, and was introduced yesterday by Senator Reynolds of that city. It simply provides for a vote in New York and Brooklyn the coming fall on the question of consolidation. The "For" consolidation ballot is to bear these words: "For consolidation of the Cities of New York and Brooklyn into one city, having an equal and uniform rate of taxation." The "No" ballot bears the reverse inscription.

Some big appropriation bills have been introduced relating to New York. Thus Senator Cantor has presented a bill authorizing the expenditure of $2,500,000 upon new sites for school buildings and upon the buildings themselves; and Assemblyman Butts has introduced a bill for the erection of a new bridge over the Harlem River from 125th street and 1st avenue to Willis avenue, north of the river, at a cost of $2,000,000. Then Senator Cantor has a bill appropriating $250,000 for the completion of the bridge over the Harlem Ship Canal. Senator Cantor also introduced a bill yesterday abolishing the present boards of school trustees and authorizing the Board of Education to appoint five trustees for each one of twenty-four school districts, who are to come into office on the 1st of January, 1895.

Assembloman Butts has introduced a bill giving a passenger a continuous ride over the New York Elevated Railroad Company's lines and those of the Suburban Rapid Transit Company's lines for 5 cents. In other words, Mr. Butts wants the passenger if he so pleases to take a car at the Battery and to ride to the terminus of the Suburban road beyond the Harlem for 5 cents.

A bill was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman Marrin which legalizes all deeds to land in the 23d and 24th Wards which were recorded with the County Clerk of New York between January 1, 1874, and January 2, 1875.

Senator Guy, Democrat, and Assemblyman Lawson, Republican, have both introduced an important bill relating to the Riverside Drive and Park, at the request of the West Side Improvement Association. Both Mr. Guy and Mr. Lawson will heartily support the measure. The text of the measure is as follows:

Section 1. The Department of Public Works of the City of New York is hereby authorized and empowered to complete the construction of Riverside Park and Drive upon plans to be determined upon and prepared by the Commissioners of Public Parks or a majority of them and submitted to and approved by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of said city. The said plans shall include a viaduct over 96th street where said Riverside Drive crosses said 96th street, with proper approaches north and south thereof.

Section 2. For the purpose of carrying out the work authorized by the last preceding section, the Controller of the City of New York is hereby required from time to time, when thereto directed by said Board of Estimate and Apportionment, to issue bonds or stock of the City of New York, in the manner now provided by law, to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate $750,000 and bearing interest at a rate to be fixed by the said Controller, not exceeding 4 per centum per annum, the amount thereof to be expended in any one year not to exceed $250,000. Said bonds, if issued, shall be payable from taxation and shall be redeemable in not less than twenty years from their date of issue.

Section 3. The said Commissioners of Public Parks may from time to time adopt plans for any part of the work provided for by this act, and upon the approval thereof by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, as aforesaid, the work, labor and materials required therefor shall be done and furnished by contract, and all the provisions of law and the ordinances regulating the performance of work in said city by contract, made with the lowest bidder, upon public letting shall apply thereto. The said Board of Estimate and Apportionment, when so requested by the Department of Public Parks, may [issue bonds] in such amounts as the said Board of Estimate and Apportionment shall deem necessary for the payment of the work and materials to be done and furnished as aforesaid direct, said Controller to issue the aforesaid bonds or stock, provided, however, that the amount to be so issued shall not exceed in any one year the sum mentioned in the second section of this act.

Section 4. This act shall take effect immediately.

Assemblyman Lawson, also with a view to keeping nuisances at a distance from the Riverside Park and Drive, presented a bill forbidding the erection or operation within 400 feet of any park in New York of a brewery, distillery, slaughter-house, soap factory, candle, varnish, vitriol, glue, ink, turpentine or bone factory, any bone boiling factory, any factory for tannery, or to use any place for a dump for refuse articles.

Senator Guy and Assemblyman Lawson both introduced a bill giving to the Department of Parks of New York the care of the planting and preservation of the trees on West End avenue.

The Church Temperance Society sent Mr. Lawson a bill which he introduced that is intended to have the effect of reducing the number of liquor stores in New York. It provides that the proportion of saloons to population shall be as one to every 500 of population.

Assemblyman O'Grady, of Rochester, introduced a bill providing that all inspectors of election in New York and in fact all the election officers shall be appointed by the Board of Police upon the nomination of the chairmen of the great political parties, and that the election officers shall be equally divided between the Democratic and Republican parties. This act repeals the law of 1892, under which Tammany Hall names three election inspectors and the Republican "machine" names one.

A bill creating a pension fund for the physicians and other employes of the Board of Health was introduced by Assemblyman Lawson. It is to be created by all moneys paid for searches and transcripts of the records of births, deaths and marriages; secondly, all moneys collected as fines for violations of the sanitary code; and thirdly, all money paid by the United States Government for the care of immigrants suffering from contagious diseases.

An amendment of an interesting nature to Section 27 of Chapter 383 of the laws of 1849 is suggested by Mr. Lawson in a bill. The new rule added is printed in italics:

"The rules and restrictions for the use of water, printed on each permit, shall be notice to the water takers and shall authorize the exaction and recovery by process of law of any penalties which the Croton Aqueduct Board may impose in addition to cutting off the use of the water for any violation of the rules, and this section shall be printed on such permits. But applications for such permits for tapping distributing pipe or service pipe to be laid or connection with main sewers and all repairs necessary thereto to be made shall be made by the owner or agent of the premises in writing and not by the plumber; and the Department of Public Works must, upon receiving and filing such application, issue such permits to the owner or agent of the premises."

Assemblyman Roche, of New York, has introduced a bill providing that workingmen or laborers employed by any municipality shall receive "union wages," and that preference shall be given to citizens of the State of New York over "unnaturalized persons," and every contract hereafter made by the State or any municipal corporation for the performance of public works shall comply with these requirements.

Trucks are to be ruled off of 5th avenue, between 25th street and 59th street, between 2 o'clock and 7 o'clock in the afternoon, between October 1st and June 1st following, according to bills introduced by Senator Cantor and Assemblyman Sheffield.

PRESENT ASPECTS OF THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

There is little, if any, occasion for modification, either by subtraction or addition, of our summary of the real estate market of last week. The utmost that can be said by way of change is that the market has held its own. In this connection we are often asked the question: "You don't hear of any good bargains in down-town or Broadway real estate, do you?" THE RECORD AND GUIDE has frequently remarked that there is no form of property so good to own at any time as property of that class. It is hardly ever in the market, least of all when prices of all other forms of property are tending downward, or are just getting to a perpendicular after a knockout blow. New York City real estate of the gilt-edged description—say, hat which is situated well within the office district or any of the trade districts, purchased under the advice of a responsible broker, is better property to own as an investment than any other sort of property. People whose investments have been in that class of property since the 1st of June, 1893, have some occasion to pride themselves upon their judgment. Rents may have declined a little for the time being, but there has been no passing of dividends or doubt about the payment of fixed charges, nor has their capital been impaired. Their property is all there. They are their own receivers, and their dividends are declared monthly. So well are these general facts appreciated that even now, when the volume of investment money has been diminished by the panic in stock and bond properties by hundreds of millions, there are many persons on the lookout for investments in that class of real estate. We hear in many quarters of such cases, and are informed that but for the doubtful issue of general business from present conditions, some purchases would have been made. We think the opportunities for advantageous buying of this class of property are contracting. During the stress of the money panic in September, when money could not be obtained even on government bonds, some of these properties could have been obtained at very low prices, comparatively speaking. Now that money is easy—as easy as ever to obtain on such properties, there is no occasion for selling. The man who would sell now would find it very difficult to reinvest his money so safely or to so good advantage. He finds such property as good to own at any and all times as government bonds or as any other forms of investment property. This fact is fundamental. Such property is the last to yield to panicky influences, and when these are past it is the first to come into active use.

But this property is not the kind that makes a real estate market. It has for years been withdrawing more and more from the market. It is getting more and more into the hands of corporations and institutions, after which it ceases to hold any relation to the general market except as a basis for the calculation of values of contiguous property. But away from the centres of the office building and trade districts, and toward their frontiers, their is much property that is in the market and that has its speculative value. Again it can be said that if an intending investor will act with reference to these properties upon the advice of the broker or brokers whose field of operations includes the property under consideration, he will stand twenty chances to gain against one to lose. The broker who makes a specialty of such properties knows their history and is best able of all men to judge of their tendency. We could name several of them under whose advice such property has been purchased and improved during the last five years, with large profit to their client. In nearly every instance they have been able to secure tenants for the new building before the site was purchased. Property of this character includes all upon the frontiers of the dry-goods district, the office-building district, the jewelry district, the wholesale grocery and provision district, and the fine retail district, including that along the line of Broadway and 5th avenue, south of 59th street. There has been more or less speculative buying throughout these districts in the prosperous years since 1885, and the owners in many instances are holding their properties at prices which are justified only by the roseate hues of the future. But there are other properties, very many of them, which can be obtained at present bed-rock figures and which it will pay to buy and improve. That there is not greater activity in this line is due to the general hesitation to embark in business and that is found in every line of business. But building can be done so cheaply now that it ought to induce many to take early advantage of the conditions. Under competent guidance an investor ought to buy and build so that his finished property would cost him at least 25 per cent less than it would a year ago. And this does not mean that such a property would sell at any less than it could have been sold a year ago, for its value would be determined by its income-producing capacity from year to year, not during a season of panic alone.

Residence property continues to be, as it always has been, the most active property in the market. It is the field of operation of the larger number of operators, and the feature of most speculative effort. It has as its basis of security the inevitable growth and expansion of the city. If there has been any overproduction in improvements of real estate in this city it has been in flats, tenements and private dwellings. But most experienced brokers are of the opinion that the depression now weighing upon this class of property would have been avoided but for the unwise expansion of some speculative builders who attempted to build a dozen houses or flats with capital that was sufficient for the safe carrying of only three. Their equities were spread out so thin that it has taken but a few months' accummulation of interest, taxes and maintenance beyond their calculations to absorb their small investments and force them into liquidation. This liquidation has been going on some time and may continue a little longer, though there are circumstances which should soon put an end to it. Lenders are forced to consider this class of property more favorably now, because of the scarcity of applications for loans on business property. Many that have been threatened with foreclosure proceedings are finding practical comfort in this fact. But the holders of vacant property throughout the residence portions of the city are holding their properties at prices which afford the building operator no inducements to buy. It is said for all such men that they are able to hold their lots until the return of normal business conditions; that there is but little such property left, and that they need only to hold where they are and people will be forced to come to their terms. All this is not to be gainsaid. If true, as seems probable, it but bespeaks the wonderful strength of New York City real estate, in which they and we have more confidence than those who do not know so much about it. But it remains true, nevertheless, of this, as of all other forms of marketable real estate—that so long as owners hold to their asking prices, to the prices that obtained before the financial panic, there will be but a poor market. Brokers, builders, operators, material men and money lenders are all alike involved in the present stagnation. From one point of view this stagnation is a healthy sign. It shows that New York City real estate is standing firm under shocks that have shattered fortunes in every other direction. It has successfully withstood the severest part of the strain. It would seem as if a little display of confidence at this time—a little relaxation on the part of owners, a little more courage on the part of operators, a little liberality on the part of lenders, and a season that promises little, from the present outlook, might be turned into one of general prosperity.

Loaded for Tiger.

THE REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE DECLARES WAR AGAINST TAMMANY HALL—A CALL TO UNITED ACTION.

Tammany's intrusion into the business and property affairs of the people of this city is exciting wrath. The Real Estate Exchange has deemed it a sufficient aggravation for a most significant and unusual departure from the conventional policy of such an institution. The new Board of Directors, all of them actively engaged in various branches of the real estate business, found that the continued existence and prosperity of the Exchange, and the industries it represents, required defensive and retaliatory action against Tammany. Accordingly, with such color of secrecy as is usually deemed essential to the fulmination of State proclamations, it held special and secret meetings last week, at which war against Tammany was unitedly agreed upon and a committee appointed to draft the declaration of war. It is said the draft first submitted was not as heavily shotted as was desired, and the committee was instructed to try again and to this time load for tiger.

The second effort was successful, as testify the preamble and resolutions unanimously adopted and declared at a special meeting of the Board held on Monday and at which all save two of the members were present.

The feeling against Tammany which called forth this determined protest and appeal to the people has been a long time gathering, but it is doubtful if it would have crystallized in sufficient force to produce such precipitation if Tammany had not directly interfered with the business of the Exchange. And even last week, when, as reported in THE RECORD AND GUIDE, the Exchange clothed its Auction Room Committee with full power to take such steps and do such things as seemed to it proper and necessary to restore the legal sales of real estate to the Exchange, it was supposed that that would for the time being constitute the full measure of its present action. But the Board of Directors had evidently concluded that the time for diplomacy—for negotiation and compromise, had passed and that the severity of the case required that corrective, constitutional measures should be adopted.

Inquiry made of President George R. Read elicited the following answer: "Of course these resolutions are but the beginning. They are to be followed up by vigorous action, but just what our course will be I am not now able to say to you. A committee was appointed to take that part of our work under consideration and to report a plan of operations to us as soon as they had arrived at a conclusion; they have not yet reported."

"Then it isn't the intention of the Exchange to content itself with the declaration of its position with relation to Tammany Hall?"

"Bless you, no! That is but the first letter in the alphabet, and there are twenty-five others." The Special Committee to which the plan of organization was intrusted consists of Cornelius W. Luyster, Chairman, and Messrs. D. Robinson, Jr., and E. A. Cruikshank. Chairman Luyster said: "We have not yet reached a formal conclusion on the matter submitted to us, but we hope to in time for the special meeting of the Board which is to be held next Monday. I might say that we will probably report in favor of the organization of a political club, to be composed of members of the Exchange, and which will endeavor to carry out the line of action indicated in the resolutions. Through some such central organization created for the purpose we could give public expression to the Exchange sentiment and operate as a body, leaving the individual members to work in and with and through such organizations as the City Club, the Good Government Clubs, and kindred organizations of which there promises to be a sufficient number before election day comes around."

Mr. Peter F. Meyer, the recognized leader among the auctioneers who seceded from the Exchange and re-established the Broadway Salesroom, declined to talk for publication about the action of the Board of Directors of the Exchange.

Mr. John N. Golding, who remained with the Exchange some time after the Auctioneers' Association was formed, and was last among the auctioneers to join with the Association, said the trouble between the Exchange and the auctioneers all sprang, in his judgment, from the mistaken policy of conducting the Exchange as a money-making, dividend-paying institution. In order to make money to pay dividends the Board of Directors had burdened the auction branch of its business with unjust charges and restrictions. The entente cordiale could be restored, he believed, if the Real Estate Exchange would reorganize on the following basis: "Have all stock retired and in its place issue bonds, the interest payable semi-annually. Create a certain number of seats at a certain price and sell them on the same plan as the seats in the New York Stock Exchange. Under no circumstances allow a person to sell his seat to any one who is not a full-fledged auctioneer or broker, and have the entire management of the Exchange in the hands of the members owning seats in the Exchange." He said the majority of the members of the Auctioneers' Association were Republicans, and deprecated the effort of the Exchange to give their differences a political bearing.

Trans-Harlem Happenings.

At the last meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, Commissioner of Public Works Daly announced that it was necessary to extend the 36-inch water main in the Southern Boulevard to improve the supply and distribution in the 23d and 24th Wards. He asked the Board to pay the necessary $5,000 to be spent on the work by authorizing the transfer of the sum from the appropriation for the removal of the old gate house at 10th avenue and 118th street and construction of new gate house and connections for the year 1893 to the appropriation for laying croton pipes for the year 1894. The Board referred the matter to the Corporation Counsel. At the same meeting it was decided to issue $10,500 worth of bonds to pay for the repaving of 3d avenue, between 168th and 169th streets.

Arthur C. Botts has introduced into the Assembly a bill for the construction of a bridge from the corner of 125th street and 1st avenue across the Harlem River, to and along Willis avenue to 134th street. It is proposed to cost about two million dollars. A bill somewhat similar was introduced last year but did not pass owing to local opposition, but it is now understood that Mayor Gilroy will do his utmost to secure its passage this year. Mr. Botts introduced another bill regulating the fare of the Manhattan and Surburban Elevated Railroads to a uniform fare of five cents for a continuous passage.

The following proposals were opened by the Board of Street Opening and Improvement of the 23d and 24th Wards on Tuesday last: For regulating, grading and setting curbstones and flagging sidewalks in 161st street, from Gerard avenue to the easterly curb line of Jerome avenue, and building a culvert at Cromwell Creek. Ten bids received, and the contract was awarded to Thomas Barry at $26,014.75; for regulating, grading and setting curbstones and flagging sidewalks in East 167th street, from Prospect to Westchester avenue. Thirteen bids received, and the contract was awarded to Marrin Bros. at $34,805.

Questions and Answers.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Would you kindly answer the following questions in your next week's RECORD AND GUIDE: In case the street improvement in New York City builds a retaining wall, which is several feet higher than my lot, who is to blame if any one will fall down this retaining wall and get hurt? Who is to protect this? By doing so you oblige me very much. A SUBSCRIBER.

Answer.—That would depend on a number of things which you don't tell us. What is on the other side of the "retaining wall?" The sidewalk, or what? Why don't people run the risk of falling into your lot now? Ought you not to have it fenced now, or should you not fence it, or fill it in, after the wall is built? We are unable to answer such questions advisedly.—LAW EDITOR.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I rented a house for two years with the privilege of three years more and received 2½ per cent on one year's rental. If the lessee avails himself of the privilege what commission am I entitled to for the three years. Please answer in next week's RECORD AND GUIDE and oblige A SUBSCRIBER.

Answer.—The Real Estate Exchange rule is: "Leasing for a term of of three years and upwards, on gross rental (except by special agreement), 1 per cent. You did it for only two years, and upwards if the tenant takes his privilege. The rule for "a term of one and under three years" is 2½ per cent on first year's rental. This you got. The rules do not provide for your case. We should think you would be fairly entitled to 1 per cent on the gross rental for the additional three years if the tenant takes his privilege.—LAW EDITOR.

REAL ESTATE BROKERS' COMMISSIONS.

A broker introduced a purchaser to the owner, but he hesitated to buy at the latter's price; then the owner told the broker that "he did not know as he cared to sell the property;" that "the old woman didn't want to sell it." Thereupon the broker saw the purchaser and "told him the result of that." From the broker the purchaser "understood that the owner had withdrawn the property." Then the purchaser renewed the negotiation on his own account, and within three days, with hardly an appreciable effort, concluded the purchase for a price less than the offer made through the broker by just one-half the broker's fee. The General Term of the New York Court of Common Pleas decided (this December) in the suit of Ames against McNally, Judge Pryor writing the opinion, that such a state of facts must be submitted to the jury as they can say whether the property was honestly withdrawn and the broker discharged, or whether it was only a pretended withdrawal, and the subsequent sale to the very purchaser produced by the broker, and on substantially the terms proposed through him, were nothing more than an expedient to cheat him out of his commission.

BROKERS' COMMISSIONS.

Abraham vs. Goldberg. (City Court of New York—General Term November, 1893.)

Plaintiff, a real estate broker, being requested by the owner of a house to find a purchaser, sought defendant, took him to the house, and defendant requested plaintiff to apparently disappear from further negotiating in the matter, agreeing that if he bought the house to pay the commission in full. Plaintiff thereupon ceased all effort to earn a commission from the owner, and defendant purchased the property, certifying that there was no broker in the sale. Held, that defendant's promise to pay plaintiff the commission was made upon a valuable consideration.

Appeal by defendant from judgment entered on verdict of jury and from order denying new trial.

Van Wyck, J. The evidence is amply sufficient to have justified the jury in finding that in June, 1892, the plaintiff, a real estate broker, was requested by one Stocum, the owner of a house in process of construction, to seek for him a purchaser of the same when fully built; that the plaintiff immediately called upon defendant, with whom he had previously dealt in real estate transactions, both as his broker in selling and as the broker of the seller of property to him, and brought to his attention the fact that Stocum's house was for sale at the asking price of $43,000, when completely finished, but possibly could be purchased for $42,500; that plaintiff took defendant with him to look at the house, and together they fully examined same; that at this stage of the transaction defendant requested plaintiff to apparently disappear from all further negotiations in the matter, as shown by plaintiff's testimony, where he states that defendant said to him: "You know that you are my broker and you know very well that I am not buying without you, and I am not selling without you; I think I can do better myself with Mr. Stocum, and when I will buy myself I will pay you the commission in full. You keep away; don't talk with Mr. Stocom at all;" that thereupon plaintiff ceased all effort in the matter as regards the sale by Stocum to defendant, and refrained from making any other or further endeavor to earn a commission from Stocum by seeking and securing as his broker some person other than defendant to purchase the house, and that he remained silent as to his instigation of the purchase by defendant, and refrained from claiming any commission of the owner for the sale, which was eventually made by him to defendant, who "certified that there is no broker in the sale" in the contract he made with the owner to buy the house for $42,150. Appellant's contention is that there is no consideration for the promise of defendant to pay plaintiff's commission. This promise is made upon valuable considerations. The plaintiff initiated the negotiations which eventuated in the purchase by defendant of Stocum, the owner, who had in June requested plaintiff to secure a purchaser. This would entitle him to a commission from the owner except for his engagement with defendant to remain silent about it, thus inducing Stocum to rely on defendant's certification that there was no broker's commission and to fix the purchase price accordingly. He might have earned a commission from the owner by securing a purchaser other than the defendant except for his agreement to make no such effort. The judgment and order are affirmed, with costs.

McCarthy, J., concurred.

Judgment and order affirmed, with costs.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Can you find room in your paper to answer the following question, the first asked by me since our subscription to you began? Last August, while summering in the country in this State, a farm was offered me, lock, stock and barrel, for $3,500. I looked at the property and offered the owner $3,000. She referred me to her agent, saying, in the presence of two witnesses, that whatever arrangement was made between him and me would be satisfactory to her. I saw the agent several times, and finally agreed to take the farm at $3,100, paying him, at the same time, $100, for which I hold his receipt, which specifies the amount of the transaction, and agreeing to pay the balance in cash about October 1st. I afterwards went to the farm and saw the owner. She said this time, too, in the presence of witnesses, that the arrangement made by her agent was satisfactory to her. I hired a man, whom she recommended, to take care of the stock and get in the crops, brought my buggy to the farm and left it there, made arrangements with her for her own occupancy of the farm until I should take formal possession, and engaged a lawyer to search the title.

On my next visit to the farm I could not see the owner, and my man told me that she had declared that she would not carry out the agreement. Returning to the city I wrote her to inquire into the matter, and to her agent also, asking him what was the trouble. In reply she said she had changed her mind and now did not wish to sell the property. Her agent's answer was that he was quite disgusted with her actions and had written her that he would have nothing more to do with the transaction. He told me that I could get the farm if I wanted it.

There was never a question about the price, which both principal and agent declared was satisfactory. I have either witnesses or documentary evidence to prove every step of the sale, but I am at a loss how to proceed to obtain the property. I shall be glad of your advice. If you cannot find space for it in your paper please drop me a line in the inclosed stamped envelope. G. W. S.

Answer.—Sue the owner for "specific performance," asking the court to order her to give you a deed and possession at her expense or to send her to jail if she disobeys. But take your receipt and contract and witnesses' statements and documentary evidence to your lawyer. You can't get along without a lawyer.—LAW EDITOR.

THE COLUMBUS AVENUE CABLE RAILROAD.

Work on the Columbus avenue cable road is being pushed with an energy that is the admiration of the residents and business men on that thoroughfare, especially the real estate brokers who are expecting that its advent will benefit the property on its line and in the streets immediately adjacent, and especially to that which is lying unimproved. Judging by what has taken place in other parts of the city, these expectations are well founded. The opening for the cable tube now reaches from 59th to 81st street.

THE LEXINGTON AVENUE OPENING PROCEEDING.

The condemnation proceeding for the opening of Lexington avenue through the 3d avenue elevated railroad car yards, between 98th and 99th streets, is rapidly nearing completion. The testimony has been closed and a plan of awards and assessments adopted, and one of the Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment is at work upon the report. At the Corporation Counsel's office it was said the report would probably be ready for filing in a few weeks.

A GROWING ORGANIZATION.

The Real Estate Brokers' and Owners' Association, of the City of New York, met on Monday evening in the Hamilton Bank Building, but transacted only routine business. Several new members were added to the rolls, which now contain about a hundred names.

HOTEL DE LOGEROT FOR SALE UNDER FORECLOSURE.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell at auction, on Thursday, January 25th, at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure, the property on the southwest corner of 5th avenue and 18th street, known as the Hotel de Logerot and the De Logerot Gardens. The plot fronts 92 feet on 5th avenue and 175 feet on the street. The buildings were thoroughly rebuilt and renovated about two years ago, and an ornamental addition made to them in the rear, in the shape of a banquet hall of glass and iron construction, costing over fifty thousand dollars. Of the required purchase money, $350,000 may remain on bond and mortgage at 4 per cent.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell on Tuesday, January 23d, at the Real Estate Exchange Auction Room, Nos. 59 to 65 Liberty street, the three-story brick and white marble dwelling, 31x60, lot 153, No. 9 Washington square, and Sailors' Snug Harbor lease of the land expiring in May next, with privilege of renewal for 21 years at $1,090 per annum, taxes, etc.

AN EXPERT IN HIS LINE.

When a person has real estate business to transact, either buying, selling, renting or borrowing money on real estate, it is money in his pocket to take the advice of a competent and established broker. Such an one is Mr. J. M. Williams, whose office is at No. 306 West 125th street, under the Hotel Hamilton, where he has been long established. His specialty is Harlem property and the management of estates.

THE EQUITABLE LENDING MONEY.

Attention is directed to the advertisement in another column of The Equitable Life Assurance Society, of money to loan on bond and mortgage at 5 per cent. During the recent monetary squeeze this great and deservedly successful company refrained from those grasping practices which were pursued by some other companies, and which did so much to make life miserable for the borrower and the conditions of general business harder than there was need for. Four good reasons are given why one should borrow from this company. See the advertisement for them. Comptroller T. D. Jordan is the man to apply to, at the Society's building, No. 120 Broadway.

RIVERSIDE PARK EXTENDED TO THE BULKHEAD LINE.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement yesterday approved the Riverside Park water-front plans. The New York Central Railroad entered an objection to the plans but did not press it.

TO PROTECT THE BOULEVARD.

Boulevard property-owners are organizing to oppose the spoliation of that thoroughfare for elevated railroad purposes. Their opposition is directed this time against the ridiculous Bushe scheme. They intimate an intention to apply to the Legislature to have the Boulevard included with 5th and Madison avenues and 2d avenue, below 23d street, as exempt from invasion by elevated railroads. A large and influential body of property-owners is already pledged to this scheme.

A WELL-LOCATED REAL ESTATE OFFICE.

Edmund F. Williams, of No. 155 West 23d street, is an energetic and courteous young broker, who has had a thorough training in the real estate business in all its branches, having been for over ten years with one of the oldest firms in the city. Mr. Williams has a centrally-located and well-equipped office, gives his personal attention to all business intrusted to his care, and is well and favorably known.

A SUCCESSFUL AGENT AND BROKER.

Over thirty years connection with the real estate agency business has made J. W. Kelly, of No. 673 9th avenue, one of the most careful and practical agents in the 18th Ward, which is the centre of his heaviest work. Located at his present address nine years, he enjoys the confidence and has the management of the properties of some of the largest holders of realty thereabouts, and an increasing clientele testify to his sagacity and success. Mr. Kelly places insurance, negotiates loans and makes a specialty of renting and collecting. Telephone call 1619 R.

It contains a large amount of useful information for the trade and the details of its own organization and is, moreover, handsomely bound in brown cloth, so that it will stand the wear and tear of a year's use and still be good.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list.

REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, JANUARY 13, 1894.

THE business outlook in Brooklyn grows perceptibly brighter. Brokers have been doing considerable, comparatively speaking, in loans during the week, and are prophesying that money will be obtainable in normal quantity and at lower rates of interest within a very few weeks. Messrs. Leonard Moody and President Chauncey, of the D. & M. Chauncey Co., who are directors in certain of the Brooklyn savings banks, mentioned the fact that the receipts at these institutions were larger during the last week in December and all during this month, except the first four days, than were the payments. This is significant as showing that the tide has turned in the financial affairs of the wage-earners and small trades people, and is again flowing, though slightly, in their favor. It signifies that the savings banks, which have always been the main reliance for loans in Brooklyn, will soon again resume lending on bond and mortgage. In the meantime, it is said, the Mutual Life Insurance Company is lending freely on safe margins at 5 per cent.

The New Beginning.

MAYOR SCHIEREN'S message, read to the Board of Aldermen on Monday, quite naturally deals almost entirely with the city's finances. The Mayor sensibly admitted in the opening paragraph his limitation of view and confined his pen to the linking together of abstracts of the various annual reports of the heads of departments. These naturally deal chiefly with the financial condition of the city, from which it appears that after largely increasing the tax levy the old gang in their last year of maladministration left the city's bonded debt $1,822,837.81 larger than it was a year before, and the net debt larger by $824,387.16. They issued $2,300,852 new bonds and paid off only $478,014 and left the net city debt at $47,337,500. This, upon an assessed valuation of $506,054,675, shows that the margin between the present debt and the constitutional limitation is only about $3,000,000.

To the improvement of this condition of things the new administration has addressed its close attention. Mayor Schieren drops here and there an intimation of what may be expected of him, as: "With due respect at all times to efficiency of administration, this makes economy imperative, and for the time being prevents the adoption of undertakings of large magnitude." Referring to the barnaclelike attachment of the multitude of so-called charitable institutions to the city treasury, he says: "The interception of money from license fees on its way to the city treasury continues, and is pernicious in principle and harmful in practice. Legislation will be asked to provide for the payment of all such moneys directly to the city treasury, and to give to local authorities discretionary power to make appropriations to such societies and institutions as they may deem entitled to receive them." The favoritism of the gang was shown in no more glaring way than in their apportionment of these funds. Mayor Schieren has detected and disclosed one of the rottenest spots on the municipal body.

He gives the Bridge Trustees a deserved rebuke, also, for their incompetency and mismanagement; for spending a million and a-half on useless "improvements" of a so-called "plaza," with nothing but a waste of tumble-down buildings to show for it, that looks as if it had been swept by fire. The ring contractors, some of them only dummies for aldermen and other members of the McLaughlin ring, will find small consolation in these words: "The contracts for cleaning the streets, removing the ashes and garbage now in force are understood to extend beyond the term of my office, but special effort will be made to secure a full compliance with their terms for the benefit of the city." These have been two of the most notorious and flagrant jobs ever worked by a gang of political harpies. Under them millions have been paid to the nominal contractors and divided among the gang for work that was never performed. Holding these fellows to "a full compliance with their terms" will be gall and wormwood to them.

A smaller species of barnacles—the bureaucrats, get an intimation from the following that some decent measure of service will be required of them hereafter for the sustenance they draw from the city: "Much inconvenience has been experienced by the public, owing to the short hours during which the public offices have been kept open for business, especially during the months from May to October. Efficiency will be increased and economy will be served by lengthening the hours to a reasonable extent."

On the larger questions of consolidation with the towns in Kings County and with New York City, the Mayor preserves a discreet neutrality, promising that when he shall have more deeply investigated them he will set forth his views upon them. We understand they are to form the subject of extended consideration by his cabinet.

Thus it will be seen that Mayor Schieren starts his administration with a full and ample declaration of just such a "business" policy as his friends expected and his enemies feared when he was nominated for his present position.

Bond Trading for December.

FROM the way in which bonds were poured upon the market in the last two weeks of 1893, it might naturally be supposed that the month of December would make a great record of transactions. As a matter of fact the month's business in government, State, railroad and other bonds amounted to a par value of $27,703,150, while the monthly average for the year was about $29,500,000. Of the total for December about 25 per cent was made up of Atchison General 4s and second A's, so that instead of being a very good month for the bond trader it will be seen that an unusually large proportion of the transactions was in the speculative issues, and that if it had not been for enforced liquidation as a result of bear attacks on particular properties, adverse rumors and actual receiverships, December would have been a very dull month indeed in the bond market. The circumstances under which most of the trading was done made lower quotations a matter of course. Considering all the circumstances of the times, however, that fact is not surprising. With the continued decline in Atchisons, maintained almost until the end of the month, it would have been surprising had other issues not acted sympathetically. Besides the Atchisons, other speculative bonds like the Readings and Chicago and Northern Pacifics made large losses, as did also some others that have until now held a good position in the investment class, such as the Brooklyn Elevated and Union Elevated 1sts, which are suffering from the loss of earnings to the Brooklyn elevated roads, as a result of the introduction of the trolley system there. The Brooklyn Elevated 1sts lost eight points on sales of $96,000 of bonds, the price dropping from 108 to par. But in the better classes, or what, in view of the history of the bond market in the past year, it will be safer to say, what are now called the better class of bonds the loss was only slight. Burlington 7s, with pretty large transactions, declined 1¾; New York, Chicago and St. Louis, or better known as Nickel Plate 4s, with $153,000 sold, dropped only 1 per cent; Wabash 1sts stood the test of the times very well, quotations falling 1 per cent on transactions amounting to $389,000, while best of all the West Shore coupon 4s lost only ⅝ on sale of $276,000 of bonds. These latter instances show how ready people with money are to make investments where there is safety for principal and a fair return. A good idea of the course of the bond business in December can be had from the following table of the sales above $100,000 in the month, with the range of prices for the same period:

While the figures given above sustain the report that the narrowness of the general bond market is due more to inadequate supply than to want of demand, that report must be taken as pertaining strictly to the investment class of bonds. The declines seen in the prices of the other issues show how little demand there is for them. There has been a considerable rally all round from the low prices of December, as is always the case when low prices are made by enforced sales, but it is yet to be seen whether there is confidence enough in the buying public to carry it farther. The rally is not as general or as great as it would have been under similar circumstances in times of less suspicion than these. There are two questions influencing the investing public both at home and abroad whose settlement will have a very important bearing on bond values. One is the condition of the National treasury and the other the outcome of the movement that is now being made to compel junior bondholders not only to protect themselves but to make good the standing of the stockholders of which the experimental move is the recent proposition to the holders of Erie seconds. As regards the first matter, that has perhaps more influence abroad although it cannot fail to cause disquietude and hesitation at home. The European markets are so dominated by the trade in government bonds that everything else is more or less judged from the same standpoint, and it may be taken as certain that foreigners will not make anything more than speculative ventures in our market as long as nothing is done to prevent the decline of the Treasury balance and the continued sinking of the gold reserve. No one that is any way well informed believes that this matter will not be righted, but it looks as if a serious crisis must arise before Congress can be made to see its importance and the necessity of acting. There is a very natural objection to carrying securities of any kind through crises. The intimation to the holders of Erie Seconds that they must write down the interest on their bonds 1 per cent. consent to increase the amount of their mortgage lien and contribute 22 per cent in cash towards the rehabilitation of the company, while nothing whatever is asked of two classes of stock, is a proposition that could only come from the managers of a railroad, and indeed only from the people who are paramount in this particular enterprise. The accompanying threat that the courts of this country will not hold the company bound by the mortgage contract, while wholly gratuitous, is certainly not likely to make mortgage securities, and particularly the junior ones, attractive abroad, or indeed at home.

ALFRED T. WHITE, the new Commissioner of City Works, shows himself in full accord with Mayor Schieren's policy of "Honesty, Efficiency and Economy." In his appointments to bureau headships he has selected citizens of character, who have faithfully performed the duties of their respective offices under former administrations or have demonstrated their fitness for them in other spheres. Robert Van Buren, as Chief Engineer, is retained because of his honorable service of seventeen years in the department. Robert M Whiting, as Secretary, and Peter Milne, as Water Purveyor, have records of efficient and honorable service before they were removed to make room for ringsters. John Thatcher, who has been appointed Superintendent of Streets, is a builder of large experience, with whom Mr. White, himself a builder, has long been on terms of business and social intimacy. He takes the office, at some personal sacrifice, to aid, as a friend of the administration, in securing an honest and efficient service in that important bureau. Commissioner White finds it possible, also, to dispense with five of the twenty-one chief positions in his department, and will doubtless be able to scale down the subordinate forces in similar proportion. He has also determined to increase the hours of service in the office from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. This is an auspicious beginning, and will go a long way to gladden the hearts of weary taxpayers and to restore general confidence in Brooklyn's governmental affairs.

Notes Gathered Here and There.

The Flatbush and Twenty-fourth Ward Citizens' Associations have drawn up an appeal to the State Legislature to have the Contagious Disease Hospital at Flatbush removed. The document has been placed in the Flatbush Post-office for signatures. A similar paper is going the rounds of the 24th Ward.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

NEW YORK.

BRICKS.—Even allowing in full for seasonable influences it is a pretty dull and unsatisfactory sort of market for all kinds of brick. Custom is secured now and then, but it is of an erratic sort of character and of light calibre that makes little impression upon the supply, the few arrivals from day to day nearly or quite balancing the outlet offered for goods from first hands. The fixed schedule rates remain at $5.75 @ 6.00 for the bulk of Hudson River stock now here and it is understood that about two-thirds of the accumulation afloat at this point is covered and tied up upon a determination of owners to hold for the limit they have decided upon. It is possible and indeed very probable that the movement from first hands does not fairly represent the actual consumption taking place, because a great many dealers are distributing from stocks bought at a lower limit and getting the advantage of reflection from manufacturers' schedule. There is also some New Jersey production available, which can be bought at $5.25 for excellent and popular brands. Altogether trade must still be considered as lacking favorable conditions and the outlook uncertain. No one seems to know anything positive about pales, except that receivers express themselves as not at all anxious to have any to dispose of under present conditions of trade.

LATH.—The general tone of the market has been weak. We do not know that anything sold below $2, which was the inside figure at date of last report, and a little business has again been done at $2.10, but demand proved quite uncertain and the general policy of receivers was to secure a customer whenever one could be found in want of stock. Some arrivals have taken place, but were not unexpected except, probably, as to time, and additional parcels are known to be coming along, yet nothing excessive, it is said, and there is expressed belief in ability to dispose of the goods without further important sacrifice on the value line.

LIME.—Arrivals from the eastward have been limited, but local demand quite as small, so that one feature balanced the other and no change in tone of market occurred. From other sources there is practically no supply at the moment or inducement to bring it forward and offerings could only be made at a cost full enough to cover the cost of winter transportation.

LUMBER.—[illegible] humiliation to work slow and cautious[illegible] characterizes the action of all classes of operators in the lumber trade. Aside from the abnormal conditions under which general business now labors, it is not a season when actual consumption of lumber amounts to much, but figuring over supplies to be delivered later in the season is much more circumscribed than usual and buyers fail to furnish basis for full confidence.

Nevertheless, slightly more hopeful expressions have been heard among the trade in view of the improved tone showing itself in many staple articles of merchandise, which would seem to indicate a gradual overcoming of an excess of timidity, and there is no reason why the lumber market should not experience something of a similar character as seasonable quieting influences commence to pass away. Many people, too, are taking note of the average cheapness of all classes of staple structural material, and it is very reasonable to expect that sooner or later a revival of building operations will ensue.

It would be a waste of time and space to attempt any detailed report of the various descriptions of stock. Some of them have practically no market at all for the time being, and even where deals have been made, they were of moderate special character that could hardly be accepted as a guide to indicate what might be expected on general open trading. All valuations are in fact of a purely nominal character, as prices depend solely upon chance circumstances governing negotiations. A case in point occurred within a few days, where a parcel of stock known to be nearly due was quite industriously offered among dealers ordinarily looked upon as ready enough to handle anything showing good value, but failed to get even a respectable bid, yet when the arrival was reported, the receiver sought custom in supposed much less propitious location and was gratified by perfecting a sale at a really good fair price. If a dealer wants stock he does not object to paying a reasonable rate, but the trouble is just now that so few really need addition to supplies and seem unappreciative of bargains offered them. There has been a little trading on export orders in part for shipment from this port and in part to load at the South, with rates ruling about the same as for some time past. There is not much new from primal markets this week.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

Our exchanges generally report a dull, unsatisfactory condition of trade and contain little news. The Northwestern Lumberman says:

It would be stretching the truth, for the sake of uttering cheerful words, to say that lumbermen, as a class, are satisfied with the situation. They have taken account of stocks and balanced accounts for the year. Doubtless, the outcome in the majority of instances shows little profit at present values of stock. But there may be contingencies between January 1 and May 1 which may change the present appearance of things. Undoubtedly, in taking inventories of stock, holders have placed as high a value on it as the conditions will warrant. There is a possibility that much of it will have to be sold at slightly reduced figures. On the other hand, let us hope that values may strengthen when the spring trade shall open. Such a wished-for result is not among the impossibilities.

The increased inquiry for poplar lumber, noted last week, continues to be a feature of the market, but so far few orders of any consequence have resulted. But although trade is still dull the feeling of confidence in the future is steadily growing among mill men. There are quite a number of them who believe that higher prices will rule during the coming season than the prevailing values last year, because of the known scarcity of dry stock and the prospective shortage in the log crop of 1894.

There is no desire to sell lumber in advance at present prices, and a majority of the mill men are making no effort to push sales for immediate shipment. Factories in the east are making preparations to start up again, and as soon as this is done there is bound to be an increased demand for poplar, as none of the factories have any stock on hand to speak of.

CANADA.

Opinion across the line seems to favor the idea that Michigan lumbermen will not oppose the removal of duty, and according to the Canadian Journal of Commerce, they feel that some concessions must be made to Canadian interests or their mills will have to close down. Hence, the Wilson bill has no terror for them; for since the export duty on logs was taken off by the Canadian Government, their mills have practically lived on Canadian pine. During the past year upward of 300,000,000 feet of logs have been brought across Lake Huron and converted into lumber by the mills of the Saginaw River, and the shore towns. Canadian logs have furnished labor for the employees of fully fifteen large saw mills. Unless there is an export duty placed on logs this winter the amount brought over next summer will undoubtedly exceed that of the past year, for nearly all the lumbermen have arranged for cutting as much, or more, during the present winter.

The business of rafting logs across the lake employs hundreds of men, who sort the logs and man the tugs which do the towing. One firm in Bay City, the Saginaw Bay Towing Association, has ten powerful tugs for this work. About half the output comes from Spanish River, and the remainder from French River and Little Current.

NAILS.—Demand is slow and spiritless for all kinds of stock. Cut nails have been at an almost complete standstill, and even though offered as low as 90c. at mill failed to attract increased favor. Of wire nails manufacturers are gradually reducing the output in order to neutralize as far as possible unfavorable prevailing conditions. To some extent prices are normal. We quote Cut at $1.00@1.05 per keg for car lots and $1.20@1.25 per keg for parcels from store for iron, and add 3c. per keg for steel; Wire, $1.20@1.30 for car lots, and $1.60@1.65 from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Aside from a few engagements making for regular supplies, or to obtain ordinary and proper shares of certain standard productions, buyers remain indifferent toward the market. They do not appear to find anything to complain of in matter of price, and could soon get a full assortment were manufacturers given any encouragement to turn it out, but the fear of overinvesting has not yet been allayed, and natural demand is moderate and generally unsatisfactory for all kinds of stock. Houses having salesmen on the road find an indifferent harvest of orders, but receive from their representatives confirmation of the previous impression that supplies in the hands of small dealers are quite limited. Values continue unsettled with an average inclination in buyer's favor. Corroders' quotations stand as follows: Lead in oil in kegs and dry lead in kegs in lots of less than 500 lbs., 7¼c. net; in lots of 500 lbs. to 5 tons at one purchase, 6¾c.; 5 tons to 12 tons, one purchase, 6⅝c.; 12 tons and over, one purchase, 6½c. Lead in oil in 12½ lb. tin pails, add 1c.; in 25 and 50 lb. tin pails, add ½c.; and in 1 to 5 lb. tin cans, assorted (100 lbs. in case) add 2½c. per lb. to keg price. Terms on lots of 500 lbs. and over, note or acceptance at sixty days, or 2½ per cent discount will be allowed for cash paid within fifteen days of invoice date. To make either of the above required quantities any assortment of packages of white lead, red lead and litharge may be counted. The above quotations are free on board cars or boat at corroding point. Linseed Oil of ordinary quality shows some irregularity, but the first-class standard makes are offered with moderation and steadily held. We quote at 42@43c. for Western, 45@47c for City from domestic seed, and 62@63c. for do. from Calcutta seed. Spirits Turpentine does not meet with much local attention, but the Southern position is very strong, and reflected here in advanced valuation. We quote at 30½@31½c. per gallon, according to quality, quantity, delivery, etc.

PLASTER PARIS.—Trade generally is exceedingly quiet at the moment. Some contracts for calcined are being completed, and now and then a small demand comes from rsgular home custom, or an export order has to be filled, but the movement is far below an average, even for this season of the year. Prices remain nominally unchanged. The manufacturing interest is much disturbed over the provisions of the new tariff bill, which it is claimed so lowers the duty on calcined plaster, that production can no longer be carried on profitably should the measure become law.

TAR AND PITCH.—Business shows no improvement worthy of note, and, indeed, the deal generally is of a moderate, cautious nature, involving little more than the ordinary run of trade orders. Offerings equal all calls and are available at about former rates. We quote Tar at $1.75@1.80 in pine or Wilmington bbls., $2.25@2.30 in pork bbls., and $3.25@3.30 in oil bbls.; Pitch $1.50@1.70.

VOL. LIII. JANUARY 20, 1894. No. 1,349

SECRETARY CARLISLE has found courage to do the thing he ought to have done a year ago, namely, to issue bonds to protect the Treasury surplus; but it will not profit any one to complain of the delay if the results now are as satisfactory as they should be. There is no doubt that the offering will be largely over-subscribed, indeed it is said to be so already, and it is not likely that the banks will put obstacles in the way of their customers getting gold to pay for their bonds, as seems to be the idea in some quarters. It is as much to the interest of the banks as to any one that the condition of the Treasury should be made good, and from this view alone they may be expected to assist the procurement of the gold necessary to purchase the bonds. During all the past year the banks have never done anything but protect themselves, and doubtless they will in the same spirit of self-care see that this loan is not a failure. It is absolutely necessary that the supply of gold in the Treasury should be increased; every interest in the country, of which banking is only one, demands it. The banks which existed all last summer owing to the indulgence of the public are surely not going either actively or passively to allow that public to be injured. Judged from the results in the stock market the action of the Treasury is having beneficial results already. While the market is in no wise an active one and prices do not advance rapidly it has an appearance of strength unusual to a professional market. The professional operator is a buyer or a seller indifferenty as occasion offers, and, as in a trading market the outsider is mainly a seller, the preponderance of influence is towards lower figures. Recently, however, prices have been strong, even when there has been no advance. With the national treasury put into a healthy condition and, as an improvement in the condition of general business seems now to be coming, even though very slowly, the hesitation of capital that stands in the way of an advance in the prices of investments and speculative securities should disappear. The bond transactions are already growing larger, with prices advancing, and this only needs some such encouragement as indicated above to develop into a regular buying movement that, once begun, will soon spread through the list.

THE amount of new capital issued in Great Britain last year was equal to only about five-eighths of what it was in 1892, half of what it was in 1891, a third of that of 1890 and a fourth of that of 1889. This shows not only the depression in financial affairs that existed there last year, but also how suspicious the investing public has become since the Baring failure of new enterprises put forward to capture capital. The falling off from year to year shows conclusively that promoters receive less and less encouragement. The London Bankers' clearances, too, show for the year 1893 that the proportion of loss in business was very much larger on the Stock Exchange than in general trade, but the returns from particular trades show even that to have been very great. France has a party which is carrying on a campaign for increased protection to agriculture which has some of the revolutionary features to be expected, but what will be of most importance on this side is the demand it contains for a prohibitive import duty on wheat. Our populists are outdone by the proposers of a bill now in the Chamber of Deputies, which provides, in relation to mines, that when a strike has lasted two months and no arbitration has succeeded in settling the dispute, the State shall take possession of the mines, with or without compensation, and either work them itself or concede them to a new company or to an association of workmen. Naturally, this has affected the price of mining shares. The bill as described in the foreign prints practically proposes that the State shall indorse any claims the miners may set up against their employers. The shares of French iron and steel works are advancing in price. On the whole, what with Socialistic views in Parliament and losses on the Bourse as a result of trouble at home and bankruptcy abroad, affairs are no better in France than they are here. The great powers have arranged a customs modus virendi with Spain which avoids the trouble anticipated as a result of the favoring treaties made with Holland, Norway and Sweden, Denmark and Switzerland. Naturally the Sicilian outbreak with sympathetic growlings in different points on the mainland, make the Italian financial situation, already bad enough, worse than ever. The continued decline in Italian rentes is also a disturbing feature in Berlin, for the reasons already given. There is a happier feeling in some of the iron and steel centres of the German empire, apparently based more on expectations than actual business. Of any European money centre the conditions in Vienna seem upon the whole to be the most cheerful, probably because it has less of its neighbor's securities than the others. Still, being a borrower more than a lender, it has been called upon to take back a great many of its own issues in the past year. It is estimated that Austria had to pay up 150,000,000 florins in 1893 for its own paper returned to it from abroad, and chiefly from Germany. In Austria, too, the iron trade is reported to be improving.

AN examination of the returns of our foreign trade serve to show what a large part of our present difficulties are due to the lessened price we have received for our products. For the fiscal year ending June 30th last our exports show a deficiency of $183,000,000 as compared with the previous year. This is due more to the low prices at which they were shipped than to the lessened amount shipped. Our exports of wheat were within 34,000,000 bushels of the exports of 1892, which were the largest on record. The price realized, however, shows a lamentable deficiency. During 1893 191,000,000 bushels were exported, realizing upon an average less than 80 cents per bushel (79 9-10 cents) as compared with an average of $1 026-1,000 per bushel in 1892, and for flour, shippers realized on an average 41 cents per barrel less in 1893 than in 1892. Turning now to petroleum we find that our shipments of this surplus product are the largest on record. During 1893 we shipped 803,000,000 gallons, as compared with about 715,000,000 gallons the year before, but the price realized shows a heavy shrinkage of 1 cent a gallon upon the whole amount shipped, the average price being 5 24-100 cents per gallon as compared with 6 20-100 cents per gallon the year before. In other words, our shipments of petroleum to the outside world have been 88,000,000 gallons greater in amount, but about $3,000,000 less in proceeds realized. Our shipments of cotton to foreign countries in 1893 were about four-and-a-half million bales (2,211,377,555 pounds) in 1893, as compared with 2,935,-219,811 pounds in 1892. The average price realized in 1893 was 8 57-100 cents per pound as compared with 8 8-10 cents per pound in 1892. Of the decrease of the money realized upon our exports, $183,000,000, about $175,000,000 may be set down to a shrinkage in the purchasing power of our three leading staples, wheat, cotton and petroleum, and of that shrinkage decline in price is as great, if not a greater factor than decrease in quantity. Our total product of silver from 1889 to 1892 has varied from 50,000,000 to 58,000,000 ounces. During this whole period the government has bought and taken out of the market 54,000,000 ounces, while the price has fallen from $1 07¾-100 per ounce to 62 cents per ounce. In wheat we have taken 34,000,000 bushels out of the market, and yet have seen the price realized drop 23 cents per bushel; in another staple we have taken over one million bales out of the market, and yet have seen the price fall 23-100 of a cent per pound, and in the effort to make up this colossal loss we have not only had to give 88,000,000 gallons more of another but have had to knock one cent per gallon off the price to do it.

THE great and genial Chauncey M. Depew seems not to realize that the world has become smaller by reason of its readier communications. There was a time when a traveler on returning home could tell his friends that in far Cathay, or some equally remote place, men's heads were under the left armpit, and it took several centuries to expose the fiction. But to-day a returned traveler who indulges in "whoppers" finds the contradiction staring him in the face when he opens his newspaper next morning at breakfast and then, worse still, he has to go the circuit of the office and the club, not to speak of the interview, and offer lame and humiliating explanations. This, of course, is the result of an extreme case of travelers' mendacity and is not to be applied to the G. and G. C. Still he is in rather an awkward position. When he left these shores a few months ago he announced that the objective point of his journey was Rome, and told in detail how he was going to get there and what he would do when once in the Celestial City. The story he told on his return was quite up to the value of the early announcement. Among other things, he created the impression that Leo XIII. gave him a special interview and made him the bearer of a special message to the American people; also that King Humbert missed the privilege of gazing on his pleasing lineaments and the fascination of his silvery tongue because Mr. Depew's time was too precious to be bestowed on his Royal Highness, who, in consequence, has ever since been disconsolate. But one of the "our own correspondents" has upset this impression. According to a recent dispatch from Rome, every occupant of its seven hills is laughing, not at Mr. Depew's wit but at his folly. If this latest story is to be believed, Mr. Depew had the impudence to flood Rome with the story of his home-coming, and that Rome, knowing that Mr. Depew received from the Pope only the courtesy afforded to any one with a clean face and a decent suit of clothes and that Mr. Depew did not leave Rome until he found that an audience with King Humbert was an impossibility, laughs. Probably His Holiness Leo XIII. himself laughs when he thinks of how he conveyed a message from the Roman Catholic Church to the American people through an unsuspecting Presbyterian. This is enough to make the Vatican cat laugh, but we fear it is not enough to make Mr. Depew talk less and suppress the bureau for the dissemination of his—what shall they be called, not views certainly, let us say interviews. Everyone will see the joke and the lesson but Mr. Depew, who merely says: Some enemy hath done this, and passes on with haste.

The Real Estate Market Last Year.

WE print below our usual statistics of real estate transactions in this city during 1893, and it will be seen that in some respects they are much pleasanter reading than was to be expected, judging from the general complaints of dullness which were not silent at any moment during the past sad twelve months.

Eighteen hundred and ninety-three opened amid conditions which, though not decidedly unpropitious, were not particularly promising. The depression which followed the great activity of 1886-1890 still lingered. Transactions were decreasing. The factors that produced and fostered that activity were apparently exhausted, and to a great extent, in consequence of our poor rapid transit facilities, the city was losing a very large part of its annual increase by the overflow of population which passed through a dozen outlets into Brooklyn, Long Island, New Jersey and Staten Island, had which been retained within the metropolis would undoubtedly have contributed much to better the situation and stimulate activity. The large operations of 1886-1890 were due to the development of the West Side and the expansion of Harlem. At the close of 1891 a very large part of the available area of the first named of these districts had been either built upon or had advanced in value to figures which greatly limited the demand and market for it. North of 110th street lay a district into which the building operations that had been carried on so successfully further south might have extended; but unfortunately that district was and still is in a sense "remote" from the city by reason of inaccessibility. To render it as available as say the district between 72d and 81st streets, contiguous to the elevated road, better transit facilities were needed, and it was the same want that prevented Harlem's holding and continuing during 1893 its rapid growth of former years. For a resumption of the activity that terminated at the close of 1890 an expansion of the city by additions and improvements in its system of internal transportation were imperative, and when 1893 opened there was no prospect of any immediate substantial action to secure these. Moreover, the speculators' field had been narrowed by the operations of the preceding years, and it is the speculator who, by the trading which his enterprise occasions, contributes most to the activity of a brisk market. When he is absent from the field affairs are either dull or humdrum. Obviously conditions were all against him at the beginning of 1893—buyers were indifferent, prices sagging and new territory not within sight—and the shrewdest of this class were seeking opportunities in the older districts down town.

Commenced under these circumstances, and of course with the financial conditions that produced the panic later as an undercurrent, which must even at that early day have had some effect upon the mercantile world, the amount of the transactions carried through during the first six months of the year was larger than was to be expected; 8,071 deeds, involving $150,300,925, were recorded—an increase in round figures of $15,000,000 compared with the first half of 1892, and even $8,000,000 more than in 1891. The number of nominal conveyances, also, were more numerous, being 2,845 against 2,471 in the first six months of 1892 and 2,293 in the like portion of 1891. Had the percentage of increase in the total transactions from January to July been maintained in the latter half of the year, 1893 would have ranked very close, so far as figures go, to the fat years of 1890, 1889. But "Silver," or the facts for which the cry of "Silver" stood, affected the market early in midsummer, and was registered in the filings in August; becoming more and more visible in the following months, reaching relatively the lowest point in December. During the whole year 13,244 conveyances were recorded, and the amount involved was $216,825,732. The figures for 1892 were 13,944 deeds and $228,608,599.

It will be seen, then, that in spite of the heavy decline in operations during the last part of the year a very considerable volume of business was transacted; indeed, apparently, practically as much business as in 1892, for in the total for that year is included a deed for $6,678,000 given to the Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling Co. which was not exactly in the line of ordinary real estate transactions. The real facts, however, do not warrant us in taking the figures for 1893 at their face value. Much in them is in a sense deceptive. Paradoxical as it may seem, one of the effects of hard or dull times is to stimulate transactions. In this way: Weak holders, finding their property heavy to carry and difficult to dispose of for cash at a price that returns profit or secures exemption from loss, seek relief by the process of "trading," and these exchanges, of course, figure in the total of transactions. Indeed it is usual for them to cut a very high figure in the statistics, for it has become well-nigh a common practice in these exchanges to put grossly exaggerated values in the deeds by which they are effected. In the latter part of 1893 trading was unusually heavy; particularly in the oriental district, where a certain class of foreigners are given to this form of dealing even under ordinary conditions, and of course much more so in hard times when transactions involving actual cash are more than usually difficult to effect. If we could eliminate from our statistics the amount representing this sort of dealing there would be a somewhat greater difference than is apparent between the totals for 1893 and 1892, to the disadvantage of the former year. It should be said here that the increase to be noticed in the number of nominal deeds filed in 1893 is also due in some measure to the greater "trading" done, but in these cases among people who prefer to conceal rather than exaggerate.

As to the share which the different parts of the city had in the year's business, the lower sections fared best. Operators are giving more and more attention to old property capable of being improved. The growth of the city (due, the fact should be emphasized, to insufficient rapid transit) is, if one may say so, striking inward, concentrating instead of expanding, and so long as existing conditions prevail it will do so, guiding operations, of course, in the same direction. Our readers are familiar with the many big transactions in lower Broadway and in lower downtown property that were made in 1893; and our weekly records have shown the increasing attention which speculators, traders and investors are giving to all classes of property south of 59th street. On the upper East Side business was very dull during the year, with the exception, for a brief period of 5th avenue property north of and contiguous to 59th street. Several good sales of lots in that locality for the highest class of residences were made, but the financial troubles effectively checked any possible continuation of these transactions. The West Side fared fairly well considering circumstances. There was no activity in that quarter, and in many cases undoubtedly concessions had to be made in prices; but, on the whole, property there stood the strain of dull times well and few operators came to grief. In Harlem dullness ruled and on the North Side, as the old trans-Harlem district is now called, extreme quietness prevailed.

It is indirectly, however, through mortgages rather than through the market conditions that real estate felt the financial pressure of 1893. The piper was paid at the back door.

During the twelve months 13,731 mortgages for $184,818,638 (including one for $12,500,000, given by the Broadway & Seventh Avenue Railroad Company) to the Metropolitan Street Railroad Company were recorded instead of 14,450, involving $193,878,572 (including two large corporation mortgages for $6,500,000) in 1892, and 14,409, involving $172,052,625 in 1891. There was consequently no very significant change in the situation last year, so far as the volume of transactions went. In the rates of interest, however, important differences are observable. On the average money was obtained in the last half of the year only at considerably higher prices than ruled either in the year before or prior to the last day of June, 1893. Consequently many millions of dollars' worth of real estate are now held upon terms more than ordinarily onerous. Such property must be therefore less profitable to the holders, and so far as they are concerned less valuable.

In the first half of the year, roughly speaking, 52 per cent of the $105,428,554 borrowed was obtained at 5 per cent, 24 per cent at less than 5 per cent and 24 per cent at over 5 per cent. In the last half of the year, of the $56,890,084 borrowed (we omit the large corporation blanket-mortgage transactions), 50 per cent was obtained at 5 per cent; only 7½ per cent at less than 5 per cent; and on 42½ per cent over 5 per cent was demanded.

Regarding the tables for the whole year, 51 per cent of the money loaned was loaned at 5 per cent against 52 per cent in 1892; 17 per cent at less than 5 per cent against 19 per cent in 1892, and 32 per cent at more than 5 per cent against 29 per cent in 1892. It will be seen that the average went against the borrower in 1893, particularly in the last six months, the months that cost, but the figures do not support the cry that was frequently raised in the Fall that money was then obtained on real estate only at extortionate terms. The real fact is—and it explains any anomaly in the results — money was scarcely at all obtainable on real estate during the hard months of the Fall. If money had been lent our high-rate figures would be much larger than they are. That not more was lent at over 5 per cent is due to the fact that so little could be borrowed at any terms. On the other hand, that so considerable a proportion of the mortgages stand at 5 per cent—as much as in 1891 or 1892—is not because money was actually loaned at that rate, but because in the sale of property sellers, in order to get rid of their holdings, had to offer purchasers the inducement of relatively low rates. Obviously, few would have bought real estate upon the ruinous terms ruling in the money market in September. Purchase-money mortgages at 6 per cent would have effectively closed real estate business. Five per cent was all the market would stand. It is needless to point out that in face of the fact that the income from real estate was not higher in 1893 than in 1892, the increase in the average cost of money shown above means an increase of the burdens upon real estate, and so far it is in this way quite as much as in any other way that real estate has felt the late financial stringency.

In spite of the vast amount of complaint that has been made in the building trade, the figures for 1893 show but a comparatively small decline in operations compared with 1892. Indeed, only in five years in the history of New York City has so much new work been undertaken as was the case in 1893. Plans were filed for 2,172 buildings, the estimated cost of which was $55,162,953. This gives an average cost per building of $25,397, the highest average ever recorded. The nearest approach to it was in 1890; then the average cost per building was $21,282. Indeed, these figures disclose the fact why in spite of the large amount of money spent during the twelve months in the new work there was so much complaint—fewer enterprises were commenced than in any year during the last thirteen, but the work that was commenced was of a very much more expensive character. Many large office buildings, hotels, stores, etc, were undertaken, including the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the estimated cost of which is $5,000,000, and the Hospital of St. Luke, on which $1,000,000 is to be expended. Quite apart, however, from these two exceptional enterprises the new building started was generally of a more expensive character than ordinarily. South of 14th street alone plans were filed for more than $10,000,000 worth of work. This included the new building for the Manhattan Life Insurance Company; the Corn Exchange Bank, to cost about $500,000; the Bowery Savings Bank, to cost $400,000, and twenty other important improvements, ranging in cost from $100,000 to $450,000. Indeed, only once in the history of the City has so much new work been undertaken in that district.

On the other hand, between 14th and 59th streets, there was a considerable decline in operations, save in the matter of private dwellings. On the East Side there was also a large falling off, particularly in flats and tenements, and in commercial buildings, etc., though slightly more money was spent upon private dwellings than in 1892. On the West Side there was a general all-around falling off in operations. Fewer flats and tenements were built, private dwellings fell from 447 in number and $8,845,000 in amount to 261 and $5,231,000.

Between 110th and 125th streets (between 5th and 8th avenues), plans were filed involving a larger cost in the matter of tenements and commercial and miscellaneous buildings than in 1892, but in private dwellings there was a decline, though a small one. North of 125th street, fewer flats and tenements were planned for, but in the matter of private dwellings, store buildings, churches, etc., work in this district was about equal to that done in 1892. In the 23d and 24th Wards, there was a general falling off in all kinds of work.

There are two qualifications to the building figures of 1893 which our tables do not show. An unusual amount of alterations were made throughout the city, particularly in the older districts south of 59th street. Of this sort of work more was done than in many years—some good judges estimating that perhaps as much as between seven and eight millions of dollars was expended in this way. The other qualification is this: a greater number of operations planned for have been abandoned or suspended this year than in many years past.

Building Material Market, New York.

After due consideration, it has been thought judicious to omit our usual detailed review of markets for the various lines of merchandise in the way of structural material. During the year a faithful performance of the duty involved in chronicling from week to week the course of trade has compelled a series of reports, disagreeable to the writers because of the necessarily monotonously close confinement to a dull, disheartening record of affairs, finally reaching almost complete prostration, and so disheartening to all connected with the various branches of trade that it can be considered small stretch of imagination to assume that they would prefer no further reference in detail to conditions already too familar. An epitome of nearly every article on the list covering our line of market reports would show the year opening with very good promise, and a great many contracts as usual booked for the season ahead, and the fulfillment of these engagements kept the distributive movements of supplies into channels of consumption at a fair volume down to a comparatively late period, and for that matter there are even yet some structures to which final deliveries of trim, etc., have to be made, within rare cases, the exceptions to the rule, found in traders claiming to have really experienced a satisfactory season. As periods were reached, however, when it was common to place a new line of orders, the exceedingly limited nature of the results became manifest, commencing with the actual consumer and extending in regular sequence to the retailer, the jobber, the wholesaler, the manufacturer and the importer, the objective point of all apparently being to confine negotiations as closely to imperative necessity as common produce might suggest and abstain from anything in the way of unnecessary obligations. At this late date it would be a reflection upon the intelligence of our readers to bother them with more than passing reference for purposes of record, to the financial conditions of the year that have wrought such havoc in all lines of industry, as the principle influence under which business in structural material suffered so severely, and it can afford but poor satisfaction to add that similar conditions have prevailed throughout the entire country, especially in the large cities.

It would have been phenomenal to find the trade passing the crucial experience of the year entirely free from disaster, and the failures and suspensions occurring were in some cases not only heavy but remarkable and surprising as to their location, a feature that proved an additional distributing factor. Yet when the multiform lines of business represented, and the severity of the tests are considered, the structural material trade as a whole has developed fewer serious difficulties than might have been expected, and shown an inherent power to resist adversity that places it in favorable comparison with all other subdivisions of the body commercial.

At the moment the general prospects are somewhat ambiguous, and cautious, conservative methods are adhered to, but relegating to the past the tribulations of 1893 operators enter upon the new year with a considerable measure of hopefulness. They feel that in all probability weak spots have been pretty nearly if not entirely eliminated; that any change in building operations must be in the way of expansion; that the unusually low range of values on material besides a strong possibility of modification in cost of labor will prove an attraction for the improvement of realty and look forward to the approach of spring as a period when a healthy revival of business may safely be calculated upon. Just as soon as natural consumption does commence to revive the effect can hardly fail to reflect itself promptly throughout the entire line of the general markets, because the drastic curtailment of investments first, and production afterward, has apparently left supplies and assortments in unusually small accumulation, and quick addition will naturally become necessary to meet the call from returning custom. The tariff bill, as reported, advocated quite decided changes on duties on cement, glass, the products of clay, lumber, plaster, metals, etc., but at the end of the year opinions were greatly divided regarding final passage of the measure as originally drawn, and that served as a factor to delay contracts for new season.

With this week's reports we give the statistics for the past year, and comparisons, together with such few words of comment and explanation as may seem necessary.

BRICKS.—It may prove something of a surprise to learn that a comparison of prices obtained for Common Hard Bricks during 1893 with those ruling the preceding year shows a considerably higher level touched, and on the other extreme only a fraction below 1892. The decline during the year just closed, however, came earlier than usual and never made a natural recovery, so that the return to the manufacturer has been very materially circumscribed by the much lower average return. During the first three months of the year business was in exceptional cases consummated at $7.50, but probably $7.25 was about general top and from that the set-off was to $4.75 actually accepted, although $5 was as a rule considered the inside market quotation. During the last month of the year, through the influence of a manufacturers' association, the stocks were brought under control and schedule rates fixed at $5.75@6.00 per M for the best goods. One feature of the situation worthy of special record is the further elevation in the average of quality of the North River make. Old time, careless and hap-hazard ways have given place to an earnest effort among manufacturers intended to raise the standard of their production and they have succeeded admirably, at the same time demonstrating that former inferiority of brick in many cases was not due to the character of the clay deposits, but to the manner in which they had been worked. It has so changed matters that during the coming season we shall ignore localities as a basis for quotations and use a general quality grading in fixing figures.

CEMENT.—In view of the massive character of the majority of structures that have been pushed right along during all the troubles of the year a great deal of cement has been used locally. Nevertheless, the market has suffered in common with all others, and both domestic manufacturers and importers find much to complain of. It will be noticed that the importation nearly equals 1892, and at one time the accummulation here was heavy, but became much reduced just before the close of navigation by making heavy shipments to the West to be held there for orders.

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS, ETC.—It has been a steadily shrinking trade for all kinds of stock, not only here but throughout the country, and the larger manufacturers seem to have suffered most because of the struggle they made to keep together their working forces. The price lists adopted in the spring were used for quotations, but the cutting and slashing on cost has been liberal and generous, and an entire revision of the line of value will probably be made before commencing regular work for the new year.

FIRE BRICKS.—For both domestic and foreign the year opened very promisingly, and during the first six months business exceeded corresponding period of 1892. Since midsummer, trade has steadily dwindled, and at the close of the season conditions are too unsettled to warrant any predictions of what may be expected during the new year.

GLASS.—Our reports during the season have given full particulars of the formation of powerful combinations, one among the manufacturers of winter glass, another among the producers of plate and another among importers, and subsequently a report of the entire disintegration of all the associations as a result of the poor and disorganized condition of trade. Those results show clearly what was expected and the disappointment that followed, and the year closes with the market still disorganized and unsatisfactory.

The following shows the imports of Glass at New York during the past ten years:

HAIR.—Plasterers' Hair became dull almost to point of absolute neglect and could, for a time, be bought very cheap, but the low prices brought production to a standstill, and when dealers wanted to stock up in the early winter, the scarcity of supplies served to impart renewed strength and values promptly stiffened.

HARDWARE.—Of builders' hardware the deliveries during first six or seven months of the year were fair in execution of previously booked contracts, but since autumn demand has fallen away greatly, and at the close conditions are unusually dull. Prices have become weak and unsettled and price-lists for the time very practically abandoned, but general revision hoped for at an early date.

LATH.—The figures of coastwise receipts show much the same as last year, but there has been a material falling off in the amount brought from the interior. Prices ranged from $2.80 early in the year down to $1.90 for spruce slab lath in the fall, although $2 was average made rate. Some hemlock stuff sold at $1.70. Considerable round wood stock came here during the spring, but it is thought this winter's cut will be small.

LIME.—During the early portion of the year competition was acute and prices irregular, with Eastern selling down as low as 70c. for common and 80c. for finishing and a probability that secret deals was made at less money. The exceedingly low rate, however, led to a combination of the Knox County, Maine, manufacturers, through which production and shipments were controlled, and finally for the purpose of more effectually sustaining the market at 95c. and $1.10, to which figures were advanced, a single agent was appointed for this market through whose hands all Rockland lime was passed, with the exception of the make of one manufacturer who prefers to work independently.

METALS.—The most important change in price during the year was the break in steel rails from $29 down to $22, finally recovering and closing at $24@25 upon renewal of the manufacturers' combination. Everything else in the way of base material and finished production has undergone many fluctuations, but buyers generally had the advantage from commencement to end of season.

PLASTER PARIS.—In consequence of fixed contracts, there has been no change in cost of lump during the year, and quotations for calcined were also kept about steady, although desirable custom secured many advantages through special allowances. SLATE.—Roofing slate has been quiet here, but at the quarries a very good business was done and the year closed with most of the product of desirable staple goods sold out. Prices have been easy, but commenced so low as to prevent much further decline and now differ very little from last year.

STONE.—Except in a lessened amount of business, especially toward the close of the year, the market has differed in no essential feature from the preceding season. Conditions of trade and close competition kept rates low on all kinds of stock, and margins have been narrow. Limestone has remained a prime favorite.

North Side Happenings.

At the meeting of the Board of Street Opening and Improvement, in the Mayor's office, Commissioner Haffen presented the maps representing or showing the lay out of all the territory in the 23d and 24th Wards, except what is called the central section, which lies between Webster avenue on the east, Jerome avenue on the west, 161st street on the south and Van Courtland Park on the north. The Board informally approved the general lay out of the street system and recommended the completion of maps for filing. Five sections of the twenty-eight are already filed, and it is expected that four or five maps will be ready in a month, and by the end of the year all of the maps will probably be filed, with the exception of the central portion, which comprises four sections. The filing of these maps forms an important part in the general improvement of the North Side, as it settles definitely and permanently the street system which in time past has been so subject to variation, and builders and property-owners will be enabled to improve property with the understanding that no further changes will be made.

* * * *

The matter of the proposed change of grade in that section occupied by the railroad tracks between 149th and 161st streets, came before the Board at the same meeting, and was laid over for the purpose of allowing the Commissioner to cousult with the Corporation Counsel as to the legal objections made by counsel of the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R. Co.

The contractors for the iron work of the new railroad bridge over the Harlem River have placed their large traveling crane in position, and have started on the iron work.

At the Department of Street Improvements it was said that William Kelly, the contractor, will commence the work of repaving 3d avenue, between 138th and 169th streets, as soon as the weather permits. It will cost $200,000.

Work in the State Legislature.

ALBANY, Jan. 18.—The stream of New York City bills was not quite so deep nor so wide this week; but there was a plenty of rumors that some bills of great importance would soon be introduced. The chief of these measures undoubtedly will be a bill abolishing the present Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners of New York and substituting for it a bran-new board. Whether New York will be anywhere nearer rapid transit then than it is now the Twentieth Century Gazette will reveal.

Political measures have largely occupied the thought of members of the Legislature the past week so far as New York is concerned; and there is a growing conviction that the Republican leaders have resolved to pass a bill abolishing the present Board of Police of New York and authorizing Mayor Gilroy to appoint four new Commissioners, and that this bill will be passed with the acquiescence of the Democratic Assemblymen and Senators. The leaders of Tammany Hall are reported to be in a mood to accept two Republican Police Commissioners, with the idea of making the Republican Party shoulder half the responsibility for the government of the Police Department. As for the Republican leaders they are very desirous of protecting their party at the polls in New York from police opposition, and they think they will accomplish it by having two Police Commissioners of their own. The attitude of the Tammany Hall Senators and Assemblymen toward the bill will be illuminative of their real position upon it. The public will watch them uncover with great curiosity.

Senator Cantor and Assemblyman Fish the present week introduced a bill at the request of Henry R. Beekman, Seth Low, and others present at a conference to decide what ought to be done for the poor, appropriating $1,000,000 for the improvement of parks and driveways in New York. The bill was referred to the Committee on Cities in both Houses.

Senator Guy has introduced a bill authorizing the Commissioner of Public Works of New York to improve 155th street, "and for that purpose to construct over and along said street from the easterly line of St. Nicholas place to McComb's Dam Bridge, an elevated iron roadway, viaduct or bridge." The estimated cost of this bridge is not given in the bill. Senator Guy also introduced a bill for the completion of Cathedral Parkway and the entrances thereby to Central, Morningside and Riverside parks. In still another bill Senator Guy provides for the completion of the Macomb's Dam Bridge. Senator Guy also introduced Assemblyman Butts' bill, providing for a bridge across the Harlem River, at 1st avenue and 125th street.

Senator Cantor introduced a bill incorporating the New York Zoological and Botanical Gardens with Charles A. Dana, Oswald Ottendorfer, Andrew H. Green, John H. Starin, W. F. Havemeyer, John Bogert and others, as its incorporators. The design apparently is to have the city give up its present Zoological collection in Central Park and transfer it to this company, who are empowered to raise $500,000. Moreover, the city is to provide a site for the corporation somewhere north of 59th street, but not in Central Park, which is exempted from the "Zoo."

The Assembly also had presented to it a large number of bills, and its Committee on Cities began to give hearings upon bills.

Assemblyman Sheffield introduced a bill at the request of Evarts, Choate and Beaman amending Section 1366 of the Code of Civil Procedure as follows, the amendments being indicated by the italics:

1366. An execution must intelligibly describe the judgment, stating the names of the parties in whose favor and against whom, the time when, and the county in which the judgment was rendered; and if it was rendered in the Supreme Court, the county in which the judgment roll is filed. It must require the Sheriff to return it to the proper clerk within sixty days after the receipt thereof, except that an execution against property must require the Sheriff to return it to the proper clerk within a time to be stated in the execution not less than ten days and not more than sixty days after the receipt thereof. Except as otherwise prescribed in the next section it must be returnable to the clerk, with whom the judgment roll is filed. The party who has issued an execution may extend the time for the return thereof by written notice to the Sheriff.

A bill which pushes back the days of registration from Election Day in the City of New York was introduced by Assemblyman Lawson. It gives more time to inspect the registration rolls and to get off of it the names of repeaters. The final day of registration is put seventeen days instead of, as present, ten days before Election Day. The days of registration are to be upon Tuesday five weeks, Wednesday four weeks, and Friday and Saturday of the third week before Election Day. This is a law which should be imposed upon the other cities of the State.

A commonsense bill was introduced by Assemblyman Wray. It provides that public records, papers, documents or matters now required by law to be filed in public offices in a city or in state departments be written down with type-written machines.

Assemblyman Lawson introduced a bill abolishing the present Board of Police of New York upon January 1, 1895, and providing for the election of four Police Commissioners at the coming November election, two to be Republicans and two to be Democrats.

Assemblyman Ainsworth, "by request," introduced the "home rule" taxation bill, which was presented to the Assembly last year by Mr. Farquhar, of New York. This bill authorizes the Common Council of a city to exempt personal property from taxation.

A bill providing that pawnbrokers' licenses in cities shall be $250 was introduced by Assemblyman Sheffield.

The controversy over the question of the proposed riverside sidewalk for the Harlem River Speedway was settled so far as Assemblyman Sheffield is concerned by his introducing a bill providing for a sidewalk upon each side of the roadway of not less that 10 nor more than 30 feet in width. The Department of Parks also under this bill is to construct bridges over or subways under the driveway so that the same may be crossed otherwise than at grade. The act also says: "But except as to said sidewalks, bridges and subways no portions of the said driveway shall be used for any other purpose than for riding by equestrians and driving of carriages, and all trucks, carts and vehicles of all kinds for the transportation of merchandise or freight of any description shall be excluded therefrom. No street or other railway shall be laid down on the said drive or any portion thereof. In addition to the restrictions herein contained the Department of Public Parks may make such other rules and regulations as it may deem advisable for the use of the said driveway and as to the speed of riders and drivers thereon and as to the exclusion therefrom of any kind of vehicles the use of which may injure said driveway." One section of the act authorizes the acquisition of land from the United States Government for the use of the speedway, even though its width be thus increased beyond 150 feet.

Assemblyman Marrin introduced a bill providing that hereafter "all assessments for local improvements in the 23d and 24th Wards of the City of New York may, after the passage of this act, be paid for by installments annually equal to 20 per centum of the whole cost each year; provided, however, that interest at the rate of 5 per centum per annum may be charged upon the amount of each installment paid under the provisions of this act."

Assemblyman Marrin also introduced in the Assembly Senator Cantor's bill authorizing the City of New York to expend $2,500,000 for the purchase of sites for new school houses and for school buildings. Another bill of Senator Cantor's, which Mr. Marrin presented, provides for the appointment of Commissioners to take school sites. In still another bill of Senator Cantor's, which Mr. Marrin introduced, the Board of Education is authorized to divide New York into twenty-four school precincts and to appoint five trustees for each precinct.

Obituary.

RICHARD A. BROWN.

Real estate men learnt with regret the death of Colonel Richard A. Brown, on Saturday last, of pneumonia, which occurred at the late residence of the deceased, 153 West 126th street. Colonel Brown was was out and about until a few days of his death. It was only toward the latter part of last month that he withdrew from the firm of Birdsall & Co., and formed the firm of Richard A. Brown & Co. He was in his 52d year.

Personal.

Mr. John J. Tucker was at Gibraltar in the early part of this week and is now in the Mediterranean. He is not expected to come back to this city before March 1st and may extend his absence until the 10th.

John J. Radley, the well-known manufacturer of iron work for buildings, was married last Tuesday at St. Patrick's Cathedral, 5th avenue, to Miss Smith, of West 96th street. The newly married couple have gone South to spend the honeymoon.

Special Notices.

John Davis, well known as an appraiser of real estate, having been established since 1870, is fully posted as to values throughout the city. His office is at Nos. 165 and 167 Broadway. Mr. Davis has money to loan at 4½ per cent on city realty.

Broker R. Westbrook Myers, of No. 195 Columbus avenue, met with an accident on Wednesday evening getting off an "L" train, badly injuring his knee-cap, thus confining him to the house. During his absence from the office the business will be looked after by his associate, Mr. Frank Hardy, who is well known in realty circles.

Real Estate Market.

Measured by the record of consummated sales, the real estate market shows little if any improvement over previous weeks. But so far as the conditions are concerned which have a recognized influence and bearing upon the market, they are nearly all favorable to an improvement in all the branches. It might be said almost without qualification, that all apprehension regarding the future has disappeared, and people are universally satisfied that the changes in the near future can only be for the better. In New York City, real estate and building affairs are ripe for a favorable turn. It would seem from all indications as if the change could not be much longer delayed, and that when it does come it will be emphatic. The vast accumulation of idle money in the banks, trust companies and safe deposit vaults; the fact that the savings banks are receiving more than they are paying out; the fact that the Building, Savings and Loan Associations are increasing their membership and resources in a remarkable manner, and the significant fact that the flood of business failures predicted by pessimistic prophets for the early part of January has not arrived, together with the gradual improvement in mercantile and manufacturing lines, are the impulses from which action is likely to ensue ere long. Loans have grown gradually easier for several weeks, and now lenders are complaining that first-class applications are next to impossible to obtain. Investors, also, complain that there are no bargains obtainable in business property, which is why they do not buy. The answer from the owners' side is that there is no good and sufficient reason for selling below their asking prices; that if they were to sell, it would be difficult to find as good, safe and productive investment for their money as they have in their present properties. This rigidness of the market is the chief attraction of New York City real estate. It yielded so little under panic influences, that it will doubtless find more patronage when the shorn lambs of Wall Street shall have renewed their fleeces than ever before.

ANOTHER SNAP SALE IN THE AUCTION MARKET.

West side property-owners and brokers are much exercised over the price obtained at foreclosure sale for No. 263 West 73d street, $22,900 or about $17,100 less than the mortgage liens with accrued interest. The fact of the defaulter Francis H. Weeks' connection with this property cut no figure at the sale of course, but has some interest as well as a warning to all property-owners to take care that they receive the satisfaction pieces after instructing agents to pay off mortgages. This house was built by William Merritt, who gave a mortgage for $12,000 to the Equitable Life Assurance Society. The house subsequently became the property of Mr. Clarence Andrews, whose attorney Weeks was. The latter induced Mr. Andrews to give a mortgage of $20,000 on the house to the R. N. Rickard estate and one to himself for $4,500. Weeks was to see that the first mortgage was paid off, but instead of doing so put the money into his own pocket, taking care, however, to pay the interest as it became due. Some months ago the Andrews family left the house, giving out that they were going to spend the winter at Lenox, Mass. The exposure of Weeks brought out the extent of the mortgage liens on the house, and the Equitable, failing to receive the interest on the mortgage it held, had to foreclose. What attracts most attention now, however, is that the property should have brought so little money, and especially that the E. N. Rickard estate did not protect its interest on a house which is estimated by competent authorities to be worth from $37,000 to $38,000. When all the circumstances of this sale are known, however, it will most probably be found that the purchaser got a great bargain through the carelessness of somebody and that the sale cannot be taken as affecting the value of adjacent property.

A PRACTICAL MOVEMENT.

The Real Estate Owners' and Brokers' Association has taken permanent offices in the Hamilton Bank Building, 215 and 217 West 125th street. The Board of Managers held a special meeting on Wednesday evening and authorized the secretary, Mr. J. E. Briggs, to employ a permanent clerk at the offices. One of the most beneficial features of this organization will be a list of tenants compiled from information supplied by members of the association for the general benefit. Facts in relation to any particular tenant will be confidentially furnished to any member making application therefor on prepared blanks. This proposition is being taken up with interest, and when completed there is no doubt the arrangement will prove of very great value to house-owners in treating with tenants.

IMPORTANT SALE OF BUSINESS PROPERTY.

George R. Read will officiate as auctioneer at the sale, on Wednesday, January 31, at the Real Estate Exchange Auction Room, Nos. 59-65 Liberty street, of the very valuable property formerly occupied by the Journal of Commerce. It is No. 76 on Beaver and No. 123 on Pearl street, 22x99, with a five-story brick building thereon. Further particulars may be obtained on application to Mr. Read, at his office, No. 9 Pine street.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell at auction at the Real Estate Exchange Auction Room, Nos. 59-65 Liberty street, on Tuesday next, January 23, by order of the executors of the estate of Saml. F. Engs, deceased, the valuable business properties, Nos. 131 Front street, 20x52.1x20.1x55.4, on the southeast corner of Pine street, and four-story brick building, and No. 94 Pine street, running through to Depeyster street, 22.8x53.10, with a four-story brick building thereon.

Messrs. Smyth & Ryan will sell at auction at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, on Tuesday next, January 23, by order of the executors of the estate of Wm. J. O'Connor, deceased, the substantial brick, stone and iron factory building, five-story and cellar, and lot 25x101.11x25x101.6, No. 151 Crosby street, between Houston and Bleecker streets.

THE REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE AND RAPID TRANSIT.

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Exchange has been called for Monday afternoon, when the Board will take up the rapid transit question. The proposition of Robt. T. Wilson & Co., which is that the State constitution be amended so as to authorize the city to assist in the construction by making the constructing company a loan of not to exceed $30,000,000 for fifty years, at 3 per cent, will receive consideration.

The work on the Columbus avenue cable roadbed receives increased attention as it progresses. The opening now extends up to 88th or 89th street and the southern end will soon be ready for the subway, the putting in of which has been retarded by the rock that lies in the way and has to be most carefully drilled out.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

Geo. R. Read has purchased for the Constable estate from Robert and Ogden Goelet the five-story brick store, No. 7 East 18th street, 25x90, for about $120,000. This adjoins the plot on the northeast corner of 5th avenue and 18th street, now being improved by the Constables.

M. E. Hewitt & Co. have sold for Mrs. Louisa Haines, the three-story, high stoop, brownstone dwelling, No. 348 West 46th street (Astor leasehold), size 15.6x50x100, for $8,000; also, for Mrs. Anna Gicalogis, now residing in Italy, twenty-five building lots, each 20x100, situated at Congers, N. Y., for $4,000.

The plot measures 63 front x128 x63x146, and is nearly covered by a four-story brick store and office building. The price is said to have been something under $250,000. E. H. Ludlow & Co. were the brokers.

Mr. John D. Crimmins is reported as saying that the revival of the rumor that the 6th avenue car stables had been sold to a syndicate, grew out of the fact that the property had been leased to the Metropolitan Traction Company for one year.

H. R. Drew & Co. have sold for Mrs. Anna M. Bigelow to Isaac Walker, No. 9 West 30th street, a four-story brownstone dwelling, 25x53x98.9, at $60,600.

R. W. G. Welling, assignee of F. H. Weeks, has sold the four-story stone front dwelling, No. 11 East 24th street, 25x98.9, to J. P. Norris for $60,100. We hear A. H. Muller & Son and Samuel Frothingham were the brokers.

The reported sale of the Holland Trust Company's office building, No. 33 Nassau street, is denied by an officer of the company.

Some surprise has been expressed that the Clearing House Association should undertake to improve its recent purchase in Cedar street, without purchasing the restaurant property adjoining between it and the American Exchange National Bank property. We are told that an effort was made to buy the property for the association at $150,000, but the owners, who are resident in Washington, refused to sell at less than $250,000. An illustration, this, of the operations in real estate of the law of supply and demand.

Mr. Wallace took as part payment, at $100,000, five lots on the northeast corner of Riverside Drive and 94th street, three in the Drive and two in the street. The skeleton and floor beams will be of steel, the Broadway front of Indiana limestone and the Mercer street front of the same stone and brick.

The Clearing House Association has determined to build on its recently-purchased plot, Nos 77, 79 and 81 Cedar street, and for the purpose has authorized the incorporation of the New York Clearing House Building Company, as noted elsewhere, with a capital of $375,000. MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list.

REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, JANUARY 20, 1894.

The Dawn of Returning Prosperity.

THERE are many indications that business matters are on the eve of a pronounced and emphatic change for the better. The indications apply to nearly all lines of business, but especially to real estate and building. Under normal conditions but little trading (buying and selling) and less building would be expected in Brooklyn and her well-articulated suburbs at this season of the year. While frost lasts these allied industries lie dormant, and in these respects the present season offers no exception to the rule. So far as consummated business is concerned all evidence of activity is confined to preparatory work. The panic of the last eight months has cleared the way, however, for new operations.

That a business panic is not without healthful results has been amply demonstrated in Brooklyn. Both branches of the industry which counts most in the development of this, as of other cities, were expanded beyond their natural bounds. Attracted by the evidence of prosperity among trained and experienced brokers and builders, many who had no, or at most a very superficial, knowledge of the business, abandoned plow and harrow, shears and goose, awl and shoe hammer, and pulpit and bar, to engage in trading in lots and in speculative building. While the rapid influx of population continued and every resource was strained to provide homes for the coming thousands, even these ephemeral speculators enjoyed a measure of prosperity. When the financial pinch came—and it came earlier by two full months to Brooklyn than it did to New York, many of these incipient speculators found their equities spread out so thin, over so large an area of operations, that a very slight shaving sufficed to wipe them out entirely, and the properties reverted to their real owners—the mortgagees and lienors.

This species of liquidation has been in progress ever since April last. It has resulted in the complete weeding out of both industries. It has been a hard struggle, in which even the fittest to survive have carried off some scars. But the business is now at bed-rock and in the hands of expert practitioners. It is the universal belief that the change which will become manifest with the advent of building weather will be radical and immensely for the better. It may not be amiss to indicate some of the facts which point to this conclusion. Building operations which reached their acme in 1889, with 5,084 buildings costing $26,579,405, and this when the population was less than 800,000, declined to 4,216, costing $21,975,784 in 1891. In 1892 there was an increase of 430 in the number and $1,000,000 in the value of the buildings erected. Last year, however, when the population had reached nearly or quite a million, the number of buildings for which plans were filed was only 3,687, a decrease of 959 from the previous year and of 1,397 from 1889 in number, and their value was only $18,335,590, a decline of $4,593,219 from 1892, and of $8,243,815 from 1889. But of these houses—3,687 in number, for which plans were filed in 1893, it is extremely doubtful if more than 2,600 or 2,700 were actually built. Several hundred were shut out by the change in the fire limits, and a much larger number were abandoned when the panic came and closed the sources of financial supply.

These facts find the real estate market less supplied with new houses than at any time in the last seven years. True, it might be said that the increase in population has not continued at the remarkable rate which characterized it from 1885 to 1890; but the falling-off has not been material and was only temporary; there are evidences that the influx is fully as great now as ever. Rents have not declined at all and there are very few unoccupied houses. The much lower cost of living in Brooklyn proved a wonderful attraction to people who were forced to economize during the monetary pinch. The new conditions, requiring conservative living for a few years, while business men are recovering the fortunes they let fall in Wall street, will doubtless turn many more of them toward Brooklyn for their homes, and once they have tasted of the superior delights of a home in Brooklyn they will be hard to dislodge. These and the 40,000 normal annual increase in the population will require extensive and rapid building operations to provide for them. The rapid increase in transit facilities during the last year, in the extension of all the elevated roads and many of the trolley roads, has brought new areas into easy communication with New York via the bridge and ferries, and this, coupled with the great decline in the cost of building, enables the Brooklyn builder to furnish better homes, with more land and in the most healthful and salubrious localities, for less money than the same would be obtainable for in any other city in the world.

Indications are many that the builders and real estate operators of experience are preparing to make the most of these prospects. The feeling which possessed them during all of last summer and fall, in common with nearly all other business men, that the country was going to the dogs and all business to universal ruin, has entirely disappeared. Directly after the election in November, when Brooklyn overthrew the political ring that had been driving her to destruction, and those who had been swimming in troublous financial waters found that their feet were once more on solid ground, the building operators began to study the outlook for renewed operations. Until quite recently, within the present month, that outloook was full of doubt and uncertainity. Prophets of evil, foretold bankruptcies after the 1st of January that have not, in three weeks, made even a ghost of appearance. The universal distress among the workingmen turns out to be largely composed of newspaper fakes and a largely increased population of tramps, which organized charity has attracted to the cities. The measure of honest distress is doubtless larger than usual in this season, but it is by no means as large as the newspaper space-grabber would have us suppose. Two facts of supreme significance, which give the lie most emphatically and with circumstance to these tales of starvation, have recently come to our knowledge. One is that money is again being paid into the savings banks in much larger volume than it is being paid out, and this notwithstanding the fact that midwinter usually finds the balance about even. Another, and this we deem the more important and suggestive, is that the last three weeks has seen large additions to the membership of the Building and Loan Associations and large additions to their funds. One of these, the Daily News Association of New York, the largest now in the State, has received over one hundred new members and over $30,000 in share payments in the period indicated. These facts show conclusively that the pictures of distress among the artisans and mechanics have been viciously overdrawn, for they it is who constitute the investing class in savings banks and building loan associations.

Another significant and encouraging fact, which stands stubbornly to confute the pessimistic prophet, is that money is accumulating in the banks beyond all precedent and is beginning to look with much anxiety for avenues of investment. During the long period of doubt following the panic the savings and other banks were content with such income as the trust companies would give them for idle funds. Three per cent was not then difficult to obtain and even Brooklyn municipal bonds were declined. Now things are different. The trust companies have dropped to 1½ and even 1 per cent and some of them are refusing to pay any interest whatever. The financial scare has passed over, deposits are in excess of withdrawals, and the savings banks are eager for investments which will bring them 5 and even 4½ per cent net income. All the Brooklyn savings banks pay 4 per cent interest on deposits—when they earn it. All of them will find it difficult to pay such interest next year unless they invest a large proportion of their monies in bonds and mortgages. The savings banks are not alone in this situation. Trust funds, that are limited by the terms of the trust to investments on bond and mortgage, have accumulated in equal proportion in the hands of trustees, and are similarly available for real estate operations. Loan brokers have begun to complain that really desirable loans are no longer obtainable, and are yielding to the inevitable operation of the law of supply and demand. Loans are being accepted gladly that six weeks age were contemptuously rejected.

These facts—and they are indisputable—constitute the brokers' and builders' opportunities, and, as before said, the signs are many that in Brooklyn they will soon begin to appear in unmistakable evidences of activity. Some builders who intend to be fully prepared for the coming revival are grading and excavating, not knowing yet just what sort of structures they will build. Only this fact appears certain, that the operator will be required to show some capital of his own before he will be able to secure financial assistance for his intended building operations. It will hardly be possible, unless there shall be an unwarranted and reckless risk of money, for an operator to both buy the land and build his houses out of the amount of his building loan. But to this improved order of things, to the prospects of an active and prosperous resumption of business, it behooves every interested person to now address himself. Let there be no more croaking, put every shoulder to the wheel and set the car of progress once more in motion on the highway of general prosperity.

The Year's Operations in Kings County.

IN the tables below, THE RECORD AND GUIDE presents to its readers the statistical statement of the course of business in real estate trading and in building in Brooklyn and its suburbs in Kings County, for the last two years. They are the monuments from which the astute operator will take his bearings for future operations. In a general way, it was known that both industries fell under a depression in the spring of last year and that it has continued ever since. These tables afford the permanent evidence of the course of that depression. Eighteen hundred and ninety-two, it appears, was a somewhat better year than its predecessor, in the sense that there was a larger number of conveyances of lands and a larger number of houses built, and that the amount of the transactions of both kinds was a little larger in 1892 than in 1891. But with the advent of 1893 business began to decline. January, indeed, showed a substantial gain over the same month in the previous year, but a decline from the figures of the preceding month—December, 1892. The total transactions for the first half of 1893 were 500 less in number and $8,500,000 less in amount than for the same part of the previous year. From that on to the close of the year the decline was still more rapid, the number of transactions during the last half of the year being 1,221 less in number and over $16,000,000 less in amount than for the same period in 1892. But deducting the purely formal transaction indicated by the asterisk in the tables, the difference in the amount would be only $9,400,000, and the actual decline for the year, instead of $24,600,000, as appears from the tables, would be about $18,000,000—which is bad enough, without exaggeration.

In projected buildings the figures indicate that there was a remarkable gain for the first four months of 1893 over the same period of 1892, which was exactly offset by the decline in April and May. But in the interpretation of these figures it must be borne in mind that during March and April a large number of plans were filed in anticipation of changes in the fire limits, most of which were never carried out. There is no available information as to the exact number of these abandoned plans, but they would doubtless account for much more than the apparent increase in March and April, so that, instead of about holding its own with the previous year, there was doubtless a falling off of at least $2,000,000 in the volume of building in the first half of 1893. The figures for the last half of the year tell their own story. There were 1,121 less buildings projected and the amount was $7,600,000 less than in 1892. The decline in building for the year was 1,602 in the number of buildings, and $8,123,719 in amount from the figures for 1892. This is a decline of a third in the number and of over a third in the amount. The ratio of buildings to real estate sales was as 1 to 3 1-7 in 1892, and as 1 to 3 6-7 in 1893, showing conclusively that there remained a less number of new houses unsold at the close of last year than there was a year before. This at least is an encouraging deduction from the statistics of the record.

ON the first of July last the fourteen savings banks of Brooklyn reported 283,778 depositors and resources of $122,715,893. There were at the same time thirty-two co-operative building and loan associations in operation, with a membership of 12,074 and with over $4,500,000 invested in real estate loans. There were also twenty-four banks and trust companies, having an aggregate capital of $7,800,000, and resources of $60,527,000. The population, according to the State census of 1892, was 957,958, an increase of 104,000 in two years. The assessed value of its real estate was $485,626,206, and the aggregate assessed value of its personal and real estate was $506,054,676, which is pretty nearly half of its actual market value. The total tax levy was $14,436,818, of which $1,190,424 was for the State quota. The net city debt was, on Dec. 31, 1893, $17,337,500, as against which the values (at actual cost) of real estate owned by the city was $46,309,230. Under normal conditions there are over 8,000 families added to the population of Brooklyn every year, and over 4,000 habitations for them, costing in the average over $22,000,000. Facts like these tell their own story. Official corruption may check but it can never prevent the prosperity of such a community. One more line of significant figures: There are 365 churches in Brooklyn, whose properties are valued at $23,738,800, and, exclusive of the sixty-three Roman Catholic societies, of which the statistics are not at hand, they raised $2,379,733 for church and missionary purposes during 1893. Brooklyn has also eighty-seven public schools, with a registered attendance of 102,468 pupils and 2,296 instructors; the school system costing about $4,000,000 per year.

Swiss Architecture.

A LECTURE BY MR. WM. DANMAR AT COOPER INSTITUTE.

William Danmar, architect, of Brooklyn, formerly Professor of Architecture in Cooper Institute, delivered an illustrated lecture on Saturday evening last in the large hall of the Cooper Institute, on "The wood architecture of Switzerland." Mr. Danmar said that the study of that architecture is the more important for us because wood is also the great building material of this country, but that the style of our modern buildings belongs to the Renaissance, or new birth of Roman architecture, which was a stone architecture. Consequently we have no real wood style of architecture, but an imitation of stone for our wooden buildings. The Swiss style is just as much a model for wooden buildings as the Greek and the Gothic, each in its way is a classical or model style for stone buildings, therefore more effort should be made to introduce that style into this country. He then showed fifty colored stereopticon views of the Swiss buildings, representing the stile and rail buildings of the flatlands, the post and plank buildings of the middlelands and the block buildings of the highlands. Mr. Danmar has delivered this lecture before the Brooklyn Institute, and has been invited to deliver it before the Institute of Technology, in Boston.

The Brooklyn Building Material Exhibit.

Strangers who may be in the city, and who are interested in building, whether in considering the question of wholly new construction, or that of remodeling old, are cordially invited to call at the Building Material Exhibit, conducted by THE RECORD AND GUIDE, at Nos. 276 to 282 Washington street, Brooklyn, not far from the bridge, and examine the varied and extensive display of building goods there on view. Visitors will be well repaid for passing an hour or half hour at the Exhibition Hall. Apart from the heavier constructive material designed for exterior work, they will find many novelties in the way of interior finish, equipment and decoration with which very probably they are unacquainted, and of which they will be glad to know about. Exhibits are so classified and arranged that all may be easily found, examined and compared. The advantages, not to speak of the conveniences, of being able to inspect so large a display of material used in building gathered in a single large, handsome and well-lighted exhibit hall, central of location and easy of access, goes without saying. The exhibition is permanent, free and open all day.

Brooklyn Real Estate Notes.

FULLY EQUIPPED FOR BUSINESS.

The Long Island Title Company have finished their offices in the Germania Building, Nos. 375, 377 and 379 Fulton street, and offer their clients the advantages of their plant in searching property in Kings, Queens and Suffolk Counties.

Mr. David Thornton, President, is the senior member of the law firm of Thornton, Earle & Kiendls, of New York and Brooklyn. His reputation in the legal profession is of the highest, and his active interest as the President of the Company inspires confidence at once in the business management of this Company. The Vice-President is Mr. William P. Rae, of the William P. Rae Company, Real Estate. His reputation of many years in Brooklyn, and his wide experience in all sections of Brooklyn Realty and suburban property, makes him a valuable acquisition to the Long Island Title Company.

Mr. Daniel M. Tredwell, Manager of the Searching Department, has been searching Long Island property for forty years past and his name alone to every lawyer is sufficient to create confidence in the ability of this company to guarantee every search issued from their office.

The Secretary, Robert Rae, in severing his connection with The William P. Rae Company, brings to the Title Company a large experience in New York and Brooklyn real estate business. He is quite "up to the times," prudent, cautious and energetic.

The Searchers are men well qualified and of many years' experience.

This Company comes into the business field of this city strong and reliable, and the community is bettered by the advent of such corporations.

On January 1st, Daniel M. Tredwell, Oliver E. and Warren J. Tredwell severed their connection with the Lawyers' Title Company, and on that date entered into the Long Island Title Company as searchers.

Sheriff Buttling, of Kings County, has begun to order the legal sales of real estate in Brooklyn to be made at the Real Estate Exchange Salesroom in Montague street. The first one is billed to take place there on Monday,

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

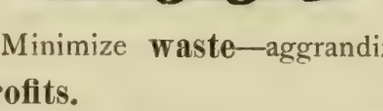
BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

NEW YORK.



BRICKS.—It has been an unimportant market, with essentially the same general feeling ruling as at the date of last report. Two or three loads are selling along from day to day, and so far as Hudson River stock is concerned the business goes at schedule rates, manufacturers standing up well in maintenance of that limit. It is said that some dealers commence to feel the need of supplies and they naturally receive much attention, and especially from any operators who can offer something a fraction less than combination rates. It was estimated that the afloats unsold at this point on Thursday last were altogether some eighty loads. Shipments are likely to continue moderately so long as navigation remains open.

LATH.—It seems to be the usual story this week. Demand runs moderate and careful and now and then it is pretty hard work to find any buyers at all, and the supply, while not liberal, is just about as full as the market requires. Some deals at $2.05, but $2 about all that can be depended upon in quantity.

LIME.—Small receipts and a light demand about cover the market, except to note that the regular or combination quotations are unchanged. There is just a little bit of a hint, however, that unless buyers insist upon having the production of makers in the syndicate an odd lot of stock might now and then be found a fraction off.

LUMBER.—The general demand continues of slow, unimportant character and, in both a wholesale and retail way, we have little better than a nominal market. The yard people turn out a little stock from time to time, some of it on regular orders and a portion against new calls, as they may happen to arise, but thus far nothing encouraging has developed in the general run of trade. It is much the same in handling bulk parcels, the deal being confined in the main to a few car lots, as custom may happen to be caught, the disposal of such random as comes along coastwise and the placing of a special order to a moderate extent for Eastern and Southern cut. Agents of white pine manufacturers have been doing a little canvassing around about this district without much success in securing orders for any large amounts and they generally report custom as very much less interested than usual at this season of the year. They, however, found evidence of the justice of the claim that accumulated supplies here are below the average, and just as soon as a broadening pulsation of consumption is felt the effect must permeate the entire market. We hear considerable complaint about the slowness of collections, and while it is not a pleasant matter to refer to, should be made a portion of the current record. Dealers in the upper section of the city and on the other side of the East River are said to be finding the greatest difficulty in obtaining settlements and they must in turn ask some indulgence, and all hands feel the influence. For export the demand is moderate at the moment, but so far as it goes maintains the former line of value.

Anywhere from fifteen to twenty years past we have at various intervals suggested and advocated the formation of a regular Lumber Exchange to embody in its make up all the various branches of the trade, something after the method of the Produce Exchange. We notice that the principal local lumber paper has a paragraph referring to a move of such character now under way at Boston, and speaking thereof in words of commendation. Why not here as well? The wholesalers and retailers have manifested a disposition to enact rules for mutual benefit as two distinct organizations, and it would seem as though some plan might be formulated through which they could centralize and

THE stock market fluctuates according to the way in which Washington news affects the professional mind, also occasionally influenced by the returns of earnings from the different roads. But the way in which prices in the main keep their ground or recover it when lost shows that outsiders are not anxious sellers. The outward appearances are not the best that could be wished for by any means; there is very little doing in the commission houses and money continues to pile up in the banks, showing how small is the demand. The failures continue heavy in point of numbers at least, and in the aggregate if not in the average greater in the matter of liabilities than they were at this time last year. The continued fall in the price of wheat is a very unsatisfactory feature, though not by any means so much so as the doings in Congress, where any cranky theorist has an opportunity for mischief and a readiness to avail himself of it not to be found in any other place on the face of the earth. All this keeps alive the uneasy sentiment and the suspicions which have characterized the public for so many months now. Notwithstanding all this, the outlook continues to improve, even though the progress may be slow. Business that is held back by the Tariff bill will commence as soon as that measure is disposed of one way or another, and not only will trade be benefited by it, but the Treasury will find its condition improved as soon as importers know precisely the terms under which they can bring in goods. At the present moment goods which have been brought in are being kept in bond, or taken out only as absolutely required. These will, of course, pay duty as soon as the importers can get the best terms on which they can be released from bond. While complaints come from many mills that they are kept running on stock with small demand for the goods, others have started up under pressure from jobbers and retailers who needed supplies, and threatened to go elsewhere if they could not be satisfied. Taking the situation as a whole, and especially in view of the economy that has been enforced on the nation for more than half a year, the signs preponderate to the encouraging side.

THE plan for converting the French $4\frac{1}{2}$s into $3\frac{1}{2}$s does not at the outset find much favor among bondholders, as the offerings of bonds for conversion have been very light. The failure of this plan would be inconvenient to the administration, because it was relied upon to effect a saving of about $13,000,000 in the annual expenditures for interest whereby a new loan could be issued, the Treasury being in need of new money. Indeed, M. Leroy Beaulieu declares that at the rate at which money is spent a loan of from $160,000,000 to $200,000,000 will be required every three or three and a-half years. Three years ago a loan of $175,000,000 was raised and the Treasury is again bare. Moreover, reports of revenue from taxes show a large falling off. In Germany it is expected that a further reduction in the Bank rate will be made before very long. This gives some satisfaction, but it does not do away with the fact that the general depression is very great. Besides the reports that come from Berlin, of the large number of unemployed in that city, a further proof of bad times is found in the estimates of returns for the Prussian income tax for the year 1894-95; notwithstanding that the number of taxpayers has increased by 43,951, the estimated total yield of the tax shows a decline of 1,652,717 marks. Towards this decline corporations contribute a large share. The total of the incomes subject to taxation shows a decline of about 9 per cent. Reports from some of the coal and iron centres of the Fatherland are encouraging. The Austrian and Hungarian Finance Ministers have decided on the measures to be taken to realize the currency and standard reforms in the Empire. More than one-half of the money necessary being already coined, 200 millions of florins' worth of notes are to be withdrawn and destroyed in 1894 and 1895. This total is made up of 67 millions of one-florin notes, 70 millions' worth of five-florin notes, and 63 millions' worth of fifty-florin notes. For these 200 million florins the bank is to receive 100 millions of florins' worth of gold coins each year as a return for the silver florins and notes. This will rid the bank of its silver and allow it to build up a gold reserve. Silver is to be substituted for the small notes, and it will be interesting to watch from this side where there is a general, but largely sentimental preference for small paper to the exclusion of silver, how the Austro-Hungarian public takes to the new silver coins in the place of the greasy scraps of paper they are accustomed to. The cautious way in which this reform is being carried out is creating confidence of its success in the minds of the business public. The British public has in the Board of Trade returns just published an opportunity of seeing what were the conditions of trade last year. Imports decreased 4.4 per cent and exports 4.1 per cent, the money involved being about $95,000,000 in the first case and $42,500,000 in the second. This is not nearly so bad as it appears, because a very large part of the decline in imports is due to cheapness of the articles imported. In the item of wheat imports alone there was a saving to the nation of about $30,500,000 by reason of reduced price, and in other grains a saving from the same cause of $32,000,000. The live cattle landed in 1893 were valued at $15,000,000 less than in 1892. These advantages of cheaper food were gained largely at the cost of the United States, and it is some satisfaction, though not much, to note that the decline in British exports was due in some measure to Germany and other countries coming to us directly for cotton and other supplies instead of purchasing through London as had previously been the custom. Judged from the remarks of Lord Landsdowne, the retiring Viceroy of England, it is not likely that the Government will go back in its currency policy by reopening the mints to silver, although he does not appear to have given any indication of what the next step toward a better state of things will be. Italy continues and is likely to continue to occupy an unenviable prominence in all the financial centres of Europe. It is generally conceded that it is impossible for her to go either forward or back. The treasury is without resources, yet fresh taxation means increased discontent, and failure to meet obligations means inability to raise money for current needs in the foreign markets. A modification of the terms of the triple alliance seems imperative in order to enable Italy to reduce her military burdens. Germany and Austria have to consider whether they would prefer an ally that can with a moderate army, but a peaceable population, keep France engaged in one quarter, or one with a nominal military force of half-a-million men, but really with troops insufficient to restrain its dissatisfied people. The Island of Sicily alone requires the presence of over 40,000 troops, and it is said that all the mainland south of Rome is held down by the pointed bayonet. In fact, the burdens upon the populace are so great that the glitter of steel is less formidable than the rustle of the tax notice.

OPTIMISM regarding political affairs is an airy, fairy unsubstantial sentiment. The public give themselves up to it once in a while, always to experience a sharp disappointment. When people discussed the unexpected moral revolution manifested at the polls last November, they all agreed that something better than hitherto would come out of Albany during the new year's session. There were so many reasons for this pleasant hope. Had not the good people of New York to their own great surprise expressed themselves dissatisfied with "boss" rule, and the unclean workings of "practical politics?" In time, the new "Ins" might become as bad as were the old "Outs," but for the first session at least, the moral significance of the election, which put the Republicans in power would make for righteousness. Those, however, who had carefully studied the workings of Party Government were not inclined to be very enthusiastic over the prospect. Politicians, they said, are very much of the same nature no matter what badge they wear, and only eyes afflicted with political myopia have ever been able to discover any vital distinction between the personnel of the two great parties. Their ideals are the same; their methods are the same; they are moved by precisely the same motives. Events at Albany since the opening of the session have proved the correctness of this position. So far as one can see, the State might just as well have the old dirty gang of last year in possession of power. Four weeks have passed, and nothing has been done. The hoary "strikes," which have made the convening of the Legislature a public disgrace for many years, bob up as serenely as ever. The Republican leaders are busy seeking party advantages, and the interests of the people are receiving only secondary consideration. Boss rule is as potent as ever. Different individuals are pulling the strings from those that performed that function last year. The pulling, however, is so similar in its effects that it is as though the left hand and not the right hand of the same individual is doing it this year. It is a sad and dirty condition in which the Empire State finds itself.

AS a result of the rules governing the architectural competition for the Municipal Building, the Commission finds itself in a peculiar predicament. All the plans selected by the advisory committee, from which the Commission was required to make its choice, were pronounced imperfect by the committee, and now Mayor Gilroy finds that they vastly exceed the limit—$6,000,000 to $7,000,000—of expense to which he is willing to go. In the conditions of the competition no provision was made for such a result, and now the Commission is unable to open the envelopes to obtain the names of the authors, without violating the terms of the competition, and does not know how otherwise to return their plans to them. Mayor Gilroy expresses great disappointment over the outcome of the competition, and gravely doubts whether any more satisfactory result will ever be obtained from a competition. He said yesterday that if the complication only resulted in an act providing the city with a Supervising Architect, he would be satisfied. Pressed for his views upon this suggestion, he said he believed it would be a measure of great economy to the city to have such an officer, who should have a liberal salary and be charged with the designing and architectural supervision of all the city's buildings, including schoolhouses, police and fire stations, court houses, office buildings, etc. If then a competition for the municipal building would be desirable, the Supervising Architect could, after careful study of the requirements and after consultations with the heads of all the departments interested, prepare specifications of the floor-plans and with these as a fixed condition let the competition be only for the frame and exterior plans. The Mayor remarked that if he had the authority he would appoint Richard M. Hunt or some such man to the office (presuming that he would accept it) and he, the Mayor, would be thankful for so good an issue out of the present predicament. The Mayor's suggestion is an excellent one and we are sure will be heartily supported by all citizens. In the meantime it is reported that influences are at work to again amend the act so as to prohibit the construction of the Municipal Building in the City Hall Park.

PRACTICALLY for the first time since the present Commission began its sittings, the city is really in reach of Rapid Transit. The appearance of the Wilson Syndicate with a business-like proposition guaranteed by cash, assures us that the Rapid Transit problem is no longer in the air or the brains of a multitude of cranks. The long discussion has reached at last a working stage. Elevated systems and the many other hideous unsatisfactory expedients which have tortured the peace of the good wishers of this city are henceforth beyond the pale of discussion. New York has within grasp the system which at the very outset the Commissioners declared the best of all that are practicable. It will be disgraceful if we now lose ground again and drift into the senseless muddle from which we have for so long been aimlessly seeking an outlet. The fact that responsible people are ready and anxious to undertake the construction of the underground system, accepting all the conditions the Commissioners imposed, is presumptive proof that the scheme is a practicable one from both the financial and the engineering point of view. All that the syndicate demand to enable them to proceed is that the city shall lend its credit for a part of the capital needed. It must strike everybody at once that if only partly aided by the city the Wilson Syndicate can build and profitably operate an underground system, the city itself could do the same much more profitably, for it would enjoy upon the entire cost of construction the advantages of which the syndicate demand only a part. Indeed, what the Wilson Syndicate are asking for, to enable them to proceed, is a small share in the benefits which accrue from municipal ownership, and the question now to be decided is whether it is for the best interests of New York that these benefits should be bestowed upon private enterprise or retained in full for the community in perpetuity. The arguments in favor of complete municipal ownership seem to us to be convincing. The profits which the Wilson Syndicate are desirous of reaping should belong to the city, particularly as they can be obtained only by bestowing on private enterprise the strength of the credit of the community. The Wilson scheme, however, makes a good second to city ownership and should not be discussed in any spirit of hostility. Doubtless it still appears to many people who are influenced by political reasons or are strong in their distrust of politicians, that it would be better for the city not to build or operate the new rapid transit system. The Wilson scheme offers us a compromise upon which these individuals and those who clearly perceive the manifold advantages of municipal ownership might, if necessity requires, meet, and wherein we gain some of the benefits of city ownership and some of the advantages of private ownership. For that reason we regard it as something to be grateful for; but we are convinced that the biggest blunder this city can perpetrate is to dispose to any private corporation upon any terms a franchise which none can operate for the benefit of the metropolis so advantageously as it can—a franchise, too, in which the prosperity and comfort of the city is indissolubly bound up.

Trusts and Consolidations.

SOME of our so-called statesmen have distinguished themselves by their opposition to trusts in recent years, and they have thereby contributed to the industrial disaster that has finally overtaken us more than the share usually contributed in corresponding cases by the political manipulator. They would have distinguished themselves, also, by their opposition to all forms of combination among industrial managers had they felt that the occasion was auspicious. But they had hardly the effrontery to assert a power that were too palpably unconstitutional to be considered.

As a matter of fact, however, there is as much constitutional power in legislatures to prohibit the combination of several companies or of several individuals into one company as there is to prohibit the association of several companies for the improvement of their business relations. The right of association for any purpose not criminal is inherent; and it will take something more than the ipse dixit of the demagogue to convince sensible men that an attempt to reform and regulate commercial processes is to be classed among burglarious exploits. Business men have just as much right to go on with the organization of trusts to-day as they had before any investigating committees were appointed or prohibitory laws passed. It is only a question of expediency. It concerns us chiefly to know which is the better form of association for regulating competition. Is it the trust or the consolidated company?

In the first place it should be observed that this movement for regulating prices is largely an educational movement. Certain ideas and practices which are injurious have obtained in commerce; and it is desirable from every point of view in public policy that such ideas should be eliminated from the commercial code or restrained. Under prevailing practices the market is at the mercy of its weakest and most incompetent operators, and the first step towards reform will be taken when a higher order of commercial intelligence has been made universal or general.

The consolidated company, unfortunately, teaches nothing except to try and get in out of the wet when it rains. It cannot help to regulate the forces of competition, for, after it is once formed, and has succeeded in placing its products at reasonable and remunerative prices, it would be only an invitation and challenge to new competition which it could neither regulate nor control. In this case it would be forced either to buy in its competitors at exorbitant rates or to meet their competition in the usual way, a way that can only serve to prolong the life of the wild cat so exceedingly destructive under prevailing practices. It will be seen, therefore, that a consolidated company, though it may be a valuable expedient against ignorance and in some cases greatly reduce the magnitude of the disturbing forces, is in no respect the expositor of a higher code of mercantile ethics, and in industries requiring but little capital for their successful prosecution it could be hardly even a breakwater.

The trust, on the contrary, though probably far from having reached a high degree of perfection during the short period while it was left undisturbed in its growth, simply aimed at the regulation and not the destruction of competition, and it was therefore an exposition of true principles from its very inception. Men do not reflect upon the impossibility of carrying forward the industries of the country without regularly recurring disasters unless a sufficient margin of profit is maintained, to cover interest and rent as well as the operating expenses of industrial establishments, and until they have made this discovery, and learned to act upon it, we shall go continually groping in the dark from one pitfall to another. We must have a higher order of mercantile intelligence. But most men either fail to learn at all or learn very slowly when they are left to the ratiocinations of their own wits. There is nothing like institutional methods for the dissemination of useful knowledge.

Still higher considerations than these, however, are to be observed in the study of this subject. There is a great deal of truth in the old adage which says that competition is the life of trade. But it needs an addendum. It should be said, further, that it should not be permitted to become the death of trade; and thus enlarged it would represent about the perfection of economic science. To say nothing of the personal benefits that accrue to individuals from the exercise of these faculties in the prosecution of private adventures, society owes the chief part of its civilization to the search for new things which competition promotes. Necessity is said to be the mother of invention; but if this be true it will be equally true when we say that competition is its father, and that there would be very few births were it not for the head of the family. It is the union of necessity and competition that has filled the earth with new expedients for promoting comfort and convenience, and that developed our arts and sciences up to their prevailing standards.

Here is where the consolidated company is especially weak. It aims at the destruction of competition, and just to the degree that it could succeed in its object it would paralyze the hand of improvement, and force us along the lines of old traditions and usages. What motive would a company that controlled absolutely all the products of its industrial specialty to be seen in the market find in the application of new processes of production? Such processes could add nothing to its wealth; and such a company could be expected to look askance at the inventor as a disturber of industrial traditions. He would be looked upon by the managers as a man to be encouraged only because the latent forces of competition still made him dangerous. We would like to conceive the world as a planet full of bipeds struggling with all their might and main to reach perfection for the sake of perfection; but both observation abroad and self-examination at home forbid the indulgence of any such rose-colored visions.

We cannot have too many minds actively engaged at the work of industrial administration. We need and must have, if we wish to see the affairs of society conducted with fewer disasters, a greatly enlarged system or systems of association, it is true, but they should not be systems that sap the foundations of individual responsibility or avert the necessity for individual exertion. The trust is greatly to be preferred to the consolidated company. The organization of trusts should go forward. Before statesmen have the right to interfere they must be able to prove that such combinations are plundering the public. They must not act upon the conjecture that the public is going to be plundered.

Work in the State Legislature.

ALBANY, Jan. 26.—The Legislature is gradually working toward the consideration of several of the important New York measures. With the aim of attracting the "Labor Vote," both the Democrats and the Republicans, the past week, have advanced Assemblyman Fish's bill authorizing the City of New York to expend $1,000,000 in the improvement of the parks of the city—the money to be expended chiefly in giving employment to the unemployed poor. This bill was amended in the Senate Committee on Cities yesterday, so as to include the big new city parks of the Annexed District in this scheme of giving work to the unemployed. The bill has already been passed by the Assembly, but its amendment by the Senate compels that body to return it to the Assembly again.

Senator O'Connor, Republican, with this same idea of bowing down to the Labor vote, has introduced a bill providing for the creation of a free employment bureau in the cities of New York, Brooklyn, Albany, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo.

It has been expected all the week that a bill would appear here backed by Thomas C. Platt, Chauncey M. Depew, Elihu Root, and other Republican leaders in the City of New York legislation, to put out of office the present Board of Police of that city and substituting for it a Board of Police of four members, two of them Republicans and two Democrats, with a provision enlarging the powers of Superintendent Byrnes and giving him the power to transfer the police captains and sergeants. However, the bill has not come here, and meanwhile Seth Low and the Chamber of Commerce have come out in favor of a single-headed Police Department. This departure of Mr. Low and the Chamber of Commerce will lead some Republican Senators and Assemblymen apparently to favor this idea. There is a prospect, therefore, of quite a conflict over the kind of Board of Police, single-headed or quadruplex-headed, that should be established.

Senator Cantor and Assemblyman Marrin introduced a bill transferring to the State the care of St. Mary's School Ship, now supported by the City of New York, and creating a State Nautical School, with an appropriation of $50,000 for its support. This is an attempt to shift the burden of the support of this school from the shoulders of the taxpayers of New York City to those of the taxpayers of the State.

Assemblyman Butts has presented a bill making the declaration that "all assessments for local improvements in the 23d and 24th Wards of the City of New York may, after the passage of this act, be paid for in installments annually, equal to 25 per centum of the whole cost or amount each year, provided, however, that interest at the rate of 4 per centum on the amount of the first installment, 5 per centum on the amount of the second installment, 6 per centum on the amount of the third installment and 7 per centum on the amount of the fourth installment may be added and charged upon the amount of such installment paid under the provisions of this act: said several and respective rates of interest to commence from the date of the entry of the assessment." The several rates of interest are also to be applicable to the payment of any greater proportion than 25 per centum of the assessment, "provided, however, that the amount of such payment shall be either 50 per centum or 75 per centum on the whole amount of such assessments." The act further says that "in case of default in the payment of any or either installments provided for in this act than the provisions of this act, so far as relates to the rates of interest applicable to that defaulted installment, shall become inapplicable to that defaulted installment as to the person or persons making such default." The act also repeals Chapter 578 of the Laws of 1887, which reads as follows:

"Section 1. All assessments for local improvements in the 23d and 24th Wards of the City of New York may, after the passage of this act, be paid for by installments annually, equal to 25 per centum of the whole cost each year, provided, however, that interest at the rate of 7 per centum may be charged upon the amount of each installment paid under the provisions of this act.

"Section 2. In case of default in the payment of any installment provided for by this act the provisions of this act shall become inoperative as to the person or persons making such default.

"Section 3. This act shall take effect immediately."

Assemblyman Butts states that the above assessment bill was made a campaign issue in the late political campaign by the Democrats of the Annexed District, and that now it is supported by Mayor Gilroy and the city authorities. One of the reasons why it is pressed is that property-owners in the Annexed District are distressed by the hard times and wish to get more time to pay their assessments for local improvements. Mayor Gilroy accedes to their wish.

The big New York appropriation bills still arrive here. Mr. Sheffield, after much urging, has presented to the Assembly a bill authorizing the Board of Trustees of the College of the City of New York to select a site for a new building or buildings for that college. They are authorized to buy a plot of ground for this purpose of the value of $600,000. Moreover they are authorized to expend in the erection of college buildings the sum of $575,000. The expenditure thus of nearly $1,200,000 is authorized for the college; and the bill therefore outlines a great purchase of real estate and the construction of a big municipal building.

A bill was introduced by Assemblyman Reilly providing for the purchase of land for a new park in the 12th Ward, in the space bounded by 145th street, Bradhurst avenue, 155th street and Edgecombe avenue. This same bill was introduced in the Senate last week by Senator Guy.

Assemblyman Reilly also introduced the bill authorizing the expenditure of $450,000 in the construction of the approaches to the Harlem Ship Canal Bridge.

A bill submitting to a vote the question of the consolidation of New York and Brooklyn was submitted to the Assembly by Mr. Taylor.

Assemblyman Sheffield introduced a bill reducing the salaries of the clerks and assistant clerks of the civil courts from $3,000 to $1,200 each.

A bill reducing the price of gas in New York to $1 a thousand was introduced by Senator Sullivan.

The bill of Assemblyman Sheffield, providing that the Harlem River Speedway shall have two sidewalks, was rushed through the Assembly on Tuesday. A strong letter from Park Commissioner Dana in favor of the bill was read.

Senator O'Donnell introduced a bill authorizing the issue of $200,000 2½ per cent. bonds for a new court house upon 23d street, somewhere between 1st avenue and Lexington avenue.

The Senate Committee on Cities reported favorably Senator Guy's 12th Ward park bill.

Senator Ahearn has introduced a bill providing that $150,000 shall be annually expended in the purchase of sites for buildings for the Fire Department.

Senator Sullivan presented a bill prohibiting the New York and Long Island Bridge Company to lay tracks anywhere in New York City without the consent of the Commissioner of Public Works.

The "Greater New York."

SOME ESTIMATES OF AREA AND POPULATION BASED ON DIFFERENT COMBINATIONS—COMPARISONS WITH OTHER CITIES.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In connection with the proposed "Greater New York" project it does not seem to have been noticed by the newspapers the surprisingly small extent of territory which it is proposed to add to the city from Westchester County.

The following table might prove to be instructive:

	Sq. miles
Present area New York City	38.85
Proposed addition from part of Eastchester, part of Pelham and part of Westchester	20.24
All of Richmond County, Staten Island	57.19
Kings County, including Brooklyn	77.51
Queens County, including Flushing, Jamaica and Newtown	123.98
Total	317.77

This makes a total area of 317.77 square miles, of which it is proposed to annex 258.68 square miles outside of the present New York City and Westchester County.

Can any one give a good reason for this arrangement?

Why annex three villages in Westchester County and not include the rapidly growing towns of Yonkers, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle, two of which are cities?

Why acquire all of Staten Island and so much of Long Island rather than obtain sufficient space from Westchester County?

It must be admitted that the natural and proper growth for this city is in a northerly direction, and while a "Greater New York" is a desirable thing to accomplish, the recent plan proposed seems to go beyond all reasonable limits.

Could you not enlighten your readers by publishing the number of inhabitants, according to the last census, in all the cities, towns and villages which it is proposed to consolidate?

Also in Yonkers, New Rochelle and Mount Vernon?

The City of Chicago contains to-day 180 square miles, which is considerably larger than the area of any other town in this country.

Philadelphia comes next with 129 square miles.

London contains 117.75 square miles.

Will you kindly mention how many inhabitants New York would contain providing her area was the same as Chicago, 180 square miles, but including within the limits of said area only the most populous, compact and accessible portion of New York and vicinity.

It is to be hoped that this matter will receive early consideration from the Real Estate Exchange.

If agreeable please ventilate this.

Very truly, F. R. HOUGHTON.

According to the last enumerations of the population in the respective cities, towns and villages embraced within the 317.77 square miles which it is proposed to incorporate in the Greater New York their aggregate population would be 2,965,792. A tabulated statement of the towns, areas and their population is as follows:

	Area, square miles.	Population.
New York City	38.85	1,801,739
Brooklyn	28.99	957,958
Flatbush	5.69	12,625
Flatlands	12.79	4,234
Gravesend	10.96	8,418
New Utrecht	7.96	9,129
Richmond County	57.19	53,452
Westchester Village	15 50	10,029
Part Eastchester Village	1.91	est. 4,612
Part Pelham Village	2.83	est. 3,541
Flushing	29.65	19,803
Part Hempstead	17.86	est. 17,756
Jamaica	33.50	14,441
Long Island City	7.14	30,506
Newtown	21.32	17,549
Jamaica Bay	25.63	....
	317.77	2,965,792

The present population of this area, estimated by adding to the figures quoted the yearly additions since their last enumeration and allowing only the rate of increase shown during the decade from 1880 to 1890, would be 203,660 more, or 3,169,452. This would make the city the largest in area and the second largest in population among the cities of the world.

Mr. Houghton's request, that we "mention how many inhabitants New York would contain, providing her area was the same as Chicago, 180 square miles, but including within the limits of said area only the most populous, compact and accessible portion of New York and vicinity," would allow the inclusion of Jersey City, Hoboken and Newark, and their suburbs, with their combined population of 489,426 in 1890—now grown to 545,000—and with New York and Brooklyn, would constitute a city of over 3,445,000 inhabitants. But we presume our correspondent intends the indicated area to be altogether within the limits of the possible "Greater New York"—i. e., within the State of New York. The most "populous, compact and accessible" portion would exclude Staten Island and the outlying towns on Long Island, and would include Yonkers, Mt. Vernon and New Rochelle. A table made up in this manner would be as follows:

	Area, square miles.	Population.
New York City	38.85	1,801,739
Brooklyn	28.99	957,958
Long Island City	7.14	30,506
Flushing	29.65	19,803
Newtown	21.32	17,549
Westchester	15.50	10,029
Yonkers	est. 14.50	34,411
Mount Vernon	est. 15.50	19,383
New Rochelle	est. 8.	9,057
Total	179.45	2,900,435
Estimated increase since last census		75,120
Estimated present population		2,975,555

If from the area proposed by the Commission (the 317.77 square miles) Richmond County were excluded, and Yonkers, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle added, which would suit Mr. Houghton's contention, the "Greater New York" would contain 293.84 square miles and a population, according to their last census, of 2,967,038, and a probable present population of 3,042,158.

The advocates of the bill now before the Legislature to place Mount Vernon, among other places, within the limits of this city are very enthusiastic over the prospect of annexation. They claim that although Mount Vernon during the past ten years has been very prosperous and seen many improvements the union of the two cities would in every way benefit their city.

Lancaster vs. The Amsterdam Improvement Co.

TITLE RECEIVED THROUGH A FOREIGN REAL ESTATE CORPORATION DOING BUSINESS IN NEW YORK NOT FORFEITABLE TO THE TATE—IT IS DIFFERENT, HOWEVER, WITH THE CHARTER OF THE CORPORATION.

The Court of Appeals has decided the appeal in T. J. Lancaster vs. The Amsterdam Improvement Co. (reviewed in THE RECORD AND GUIDE of Jan 6th). The decision of the lower courts is reversed. It will be remembered that the lower courts held that a corporation organized under the laws of another State could not acquire an indefeasible title to realty in this State, and that a purchaser from such a corporation acquired only a title good perhaps as against the vendors and their heirs at law, but forfeitable to the State, and that a judgment against one of the shareholders in such corporation was not a lien against the property held and conveyed by it. This holding is reversed. The short statement of the decision telegraphed from Albany indicates that the Court of Appeals holds that such corporation having taken and conveyed title, the title is secure in the hands of its vendee, subject to the judgment lien against the interest of the shareholder-judgment-debtor, but that the charter of the corporation is forfeitable at the will of the State.

Real Estate Market.

The volume of business transacted during the week, its diversified character and the reports of further extensive building operations in the near future impart a feeling of substance to the market and afford a material basis for the hopes of better times in the not distant future. Still, much of the business consists manifestly of the mere swapping of equities, and although it looks big to the uninitiated the experienced traders are not misled by it. If general business conditions were only settled real estate would doubtless become an active commodity in the market. It is still holding its own better than any other forms of property, but the market is "firm and dull" and promises to continue so until the general public shall have discounted the result of Congressional action on the tariff bill.

THE LOGEROT SALE.

In the purchase of the Hotel Logerot, for $437,000, the New York Realty Company (Flake & Dowling) and Henry Morgenthau have got a bargain. We have good authority for saying that one offer of $475,000 and another of $500,000 had been made for the property some time ago and refused by the owners. The ground alone unimproved is estimated to be worth in ordinary times from $500,000 to $550,000. The Logerot is situated on the southwest corner of 5th avenue and 18th street, with 92 feet front on the former and 175 feet on the latter, and consists of three four-story and basement brownstone front dwellings, including the old Burnham mansion, merged in converting the house into a hotel. In the rear is a handsome iron and glass banquet hall. The price paid for the property by Richard de Logerot, Marquis de Croisic, to the Burnham Estate, in 1891, was $460,000. A great deal of money was expended by him in alterations and additions, so that it stood to cost him altogether about $650,000. When this property was put up at foreclosure sale by Richard V. Harnett & Co., on Thursday, it naturally attracted a gathering of well-known real estate men, but the bidding was not what was expected. The first bid was $400,000, and the next $10,000 better, then followed five jumps of $5,000 each, followed by two of $1.000 each, until $437,000 was reached, at which price it was knocked down to the gentlemen mentioned above.

MR. JOHN JACOB ASTOR'S STABLE.

The intention of Mr. John Jacob Astor to build a stable on the lot, 25x100, on 65th street, south side, adjoining the Synagogue B'nai Jesurum, on the southwest corner of Madison avenue, reported in THE RECORD AND GUIDE nearly a year ago, has been more directly manifested this week by the filing of plans for the same. The neighbors are protesting but find themselves powerless in view of the fact that the lot was not restricted.

MONEY TO LOAN AT 4½ PER CENT.

Mr. E. L. Clarkson, of No. 60 Broadway, whose specialty is placing mortgage loans, has a large amount to loan on first-class city property at 4½ per cent. Such announcements within the past few weeks have led to a revival of business in the realty market which is making itself manifest.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell on Tuesday next, January 30th, at the Real Estate Exchange Auction Room, Nos. 59 to 65 Liberty street, the two five-story and basement brick flats and lots, 25x85x100.5 each, Nos. 339 and 341 West 49th street; and on Wednesday, January 31st, at the same place, the three-story frame dwelling, lot 25x102.2, No. 412 East 79th street.

Special Notices.

A UNIVERSAL BONDSMAN—THE LAWYERS' SURETY COMPANY.

One of the most disagreeable features of litigation, for both the lawyer and his litigant, is the frequent necessity of finding security on bond. In the earlier days the necessity was of seldom occurrence, and a litigant of even tolerable character or standing could find friends who were willing to oblige him. But experience has made the world wiser than then. Men found that in being thus complaisant they imperiled their fortunes and their business credit. Within recent years it has been a feature of most partnership contracts and a frequent condition of appointments to official and fiduciary positions that the partners or appointees should not under any circumstances become surety on bonds of any kind whatever. A litigant seeking now to obtain such security among his friends would be apt to find that what was formerly considered an accommodation of friendship had become an important business proposition. He would be required to find security for his sureties.

These facts have given rise to such beneficent institutions as the Lawyers' Surety Company, a corporation of ample capital and resources, specially organized to meet the requirements indicated in the foregoing statement. It acts as surety upon three classes of bonds: First, of executors, administrators, trustees, guardians, committees of lunatics, receivers, assignees, special guardians and guardians ad litem. Second, in suits and actions at law; as surety on appeal, security for costs, on attachments, injunctions, replevin, orders of arrest, indemnity to sheriffs, and in admiralty. Third, of contractors, when required by the heads of departments, either of the United States, State or municipal governments. The courts accept the suretyship of the Lawyers' Surety Company without additional surety. The company's method of operation and manner of securing itself is set forth in a pamphlet, which it will cheerfully supply to interested parties on application.

A statement of its financial operations, made to the stockholders, shows that it was organized on March 30, 1892, with a capital of $500,000 fully paid in. At the close of the year 1892, after nine months' business, it had earned $29,202.42; and during the ensuing year, ended Dec. 31, 1893, its earnings were $94,992.18. After deducting all expenses it showed over $40,000 net profit, or over 8 per cent on its capital. Mr. Joel B. Erhardt, than whom no man stands better in the confidence of the community, is the president of the company, and its offices are at Nos. 32, 34 and 36 Liberty street.

A CATALOGUE OF NEWARK REAL ESTATE.

Brown & Schlesinger, whose offices are at Nos. 746 and 748 Broad street, Newark, have just published a list of 500 properties, improved and unimproved, which are entered on their books for sale. The list is alphabetically arranged by streets and is prefaced by a short statement of interesting facts about the city and is followed by a succinct explanation of "the 80 per cent coinsurance clause." Brown & Schlesinger will be glad to send the catalogue free to any one interested.

Attention is called to the card of Kastenhuber and Draper Company, real estate brokers. This firm makes a specialty of the sale and trading of suburban properties. They also deal extensively in New York and Brooklyn real estate. Their extensive knowledge of property in the suburban districts recommends them to those desiring the purchase, sale, subdivision, laying out or surveying of same. This company has some very choice properties in the suburban districts of their own which they can offer to good advantage to those desiring to purchase or trade. They have offices at 58 Warren street, New York; 90 Rogers avenue, Brooklyn; 161 Montgomery street, Bloomfield, N, J., and 30 Spring street, Montclair, N. J.

THE LAW RELATING TO REAL ESTATE BROKERS.

The business of real estate brokers within the last few years has grown to extensive proportions. Many decisions relating to this calling have been rendered in the different States, and Mr. Stewart Rapalje has brought these decisions together in a neat, handy little volume of 300 pages, published by L. K. Strouse & Co., 63 Nassau street, New York. Price, bound in cloth, $2; in full sheep, $2.50. This is not only a good book for a lawyer, but it will instruct real estate brokers themselves as to the various rulings in their favor and against them, and the peculiar defenses sometimes set up to defeat their claims for commissions.

No doubt New York real estate agents and brokers would be glad to get sometime a good, handy-book of New York law and New York decisions on their calling, but in the meantime they will find this book very full and very clear as to the law and decisions throughout the country, which are always good arguments and generally good authority with New York courts. Mr. Rapalje is an author and digester of great skill.

OUR BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

It is gratifying to note that the Department of Buildings and its efficient chief, Mr. Brady, are receiving the complimentary attention of the newspapers of this and other cities. On a recent occasion Mr. Brady showed, by some remarks upon the construction of iron and steel buildings, that he is the right man in the right place. The department, as well as the law under which it was framed, is serving throughout the country as a model for the legal constitution of a similar department in other cities. Mr. Brady's suggestion, that a deputy inspector should be assigned to each tall iron-skeleton building during construction, to see that the contractors do not "skin" the iron work, is worthy of serious consideration. It would be a measure of safety and economy for which, it would seem, the owner would be glad to bear the expense.

Trade Notes.

"MANHATTAN MOSAIC MARBLE."

The National Mosaic and Marble Co., manufacturers of "Manhattan Mosaic Marble," advertised on another page, have a list of references of which they may well feel proud. Such concerns as the New York Produce Exchange, Edison Illuminating Co., and St. John's College, Brooklyn, are a few of many of great importance mentioned. The material is used for tiling, wainscoting, columns, mantels, staircases, counters, bathtubs, slabs, building blocks, cornices, copings in any design and color for decorative and building purposes, also for mausoleums, monuments, church altars, etc., and produces handson effects. The company's office is at No. 13 West 42d street, where a line of goods may be seen, and the factory at Stamford, Conn. On February 1st the company will have a handsome exhibit at the Free Building Material Exhibit, No. 276 to 282 Washington street, Brooklyn.

MACHINE-MADE MORTAR.

The more experienced builders of this city and vicinity do not need to be told of the advantages of using machine-made mortar over making it by hand on the ground. They have learned from experience that it is cheaper, of better quality, is reliable, and does not interfere with the progress of other structural work. The United States Mortar Supply Company, whose offices are at No. 289 4th avenue, and whose works are at Port Washington, L. I., is prepared to furnish mortar of the very best quality, made of screened Cow Bay sand, lime and hair, in any quantity, in bulk, and at any place. Some of the principle structures to which it is now being furnished are: The Manhattan Life Building, the Corn Exchange Bank Building, the Roosevelt Building, the Schemerhorn Building in West 23d street, the new Bleecker Street Savings Bank, the new Bowery Savings Bank, the Seton Hospital, at Kingsbridge, the Post Graduate Hospital, the Meriden Brittania Co's building, at 24th street and 25th avenue, and at Commodore Gerry's residence, at 5th avenue and 61st street. The company's advertisement appears on another page.

Among other prominent buildings for which the company through Mr. Adams supplied all the woodwork, trim, etc., are the Carrollton, on the corner of Madison avenue and 76th street, and the unchristened apartment house on 57th street, near 6th avenue. Mr. Adams' office is in the Lincoln Building, No. 3 Union square.

SOME BIG ELECTRICAL CONTRACTS.

In most buildings of modern construction and use electrical light and power are indispensable requisites. When they are wanted it is well to know the right man to call upon to furnish them. Mr. J. P. Hall, whose office is in the Central Building, No. 143 Liberty street, room 235, is an electrical contractor of large experience. The best testimony to his qualifications for the installation of all kinds of electrical plants is the list of big contracts completed by him, and to which he refers. It includes the following: Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., Central Trust Co., Union Trust Co., Pulitzer Building (New World Building), C. R. R. of N. J. Building, Morgan S. S. Line (two piers), Chas. Horn's Silk Mills, New York; St. John's College, Fordham, N. Y.; Holland House, Stokes Building, United Charities Building, Hotel Imperial, The Windsor, Bank of New York, Liverpool and London and Globe Ins. Co., Clyde Line Steamers, Cossitt Building, New York; and Smith, Gray & Co. and McLaughlin Bros., Brooklyn.

Out Among the Builders.

Architect Julius Boeckel has the plans in preparation for a five-story iron front dry-goods store, to be built on the plot, 96x100, on the southwest corner of 6th avenue and 18th street, for Geo. H. Beyer, a large stockholder in the German-American Real Estate Title Guarantee Co. The building will have two electric elevators and electric lights and all the other conveniences of a first-class mercantile building, and will cost about $125,000. Mr. Gustave E. Beyer has leased the entire building, from the plans, to three different firms in the dry-goods and collateral trades. Mr. Boeckel also has plans for interior alterations to the building on the southwest corner of 6th avenue and 17th street, 46x100, also belonging to Mr. Beyer, the purpose being to connect it with the adjoining store, to the proprietor of which it has been leased for a term of years.

The plans for the new refectory of the General Theological Seminary, to be erected on the northwest corner of the seminary grounds at Chelsea square, on the 10th avenue side, have been adopted, and work will be begun at once. The building will be of the collegiate Gothic style, like the other buildings of the seminary, and will contain a dining-room, gymnasium and commons room. It will cost $100,000.

The Clearing House Building Committee have not yet determined upon a method of securing plans for the building to be built for the association on its Cedar street purchase. Mr. J. Edward Simmons, one of the committee, said yesterday that they had received plans voluntarily submitted by four or five architects, and would soon have a meeting at which they would be considered. But he believed the committee would invite a small number of leading architects to prepare plans, all of them to be paid for, and from which the committee might make a selection. Their intention was to build a structure only four stories high, to be devoted exclusively to the uses of the Clearing House Association, except a banking office on the first floor. They hoped, with these considerations to be able to construct a building which would be an architectural credit to the association and the city.

A. F. Leicht has plans for altering and remodeling the Grand Ocean View Hotel, owned by Miss E. Meyer, on the corner of Jefferson and South streets. They are to have three-story extensions, 20.4x56.8, and to be altered into flats, with hot and cold water, ranges, baths, etc.; cost, $12,000 owner, John W. Crawford. Mr. Rentz will also prepare plans for the alteration of the five-story and basement building, No. 149 East Broadway. A one-story extension, 25x32.6, will be added and the first floor fitted for store purposes, with other interior alterations; cost, $2,500; owners, Isaac Goldstein & Son.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list.
